Mr. Ross Davis is serving on jury in Toronto for a few weeks.

Councillor M. E. Watt suffered a double bereavement within a day or two of each other. His mother-in-law Mrs. W. H. Boynton passed away on Saturday night, while on Sunday his cousin Byron Watts of Mount Albert died quite unexpectedly in his 38th year.

The Tribune appreciates the efforts made by our subscribers to renew their subscriptions to this paper. The difficult conditions have interfered with the usual promptness of many, but there are still many to whom the question of renewing is just a matter of routine. We appeal to all to check up on the label of your copy, and if you cannot pay $2 let us have a remittance of $1 for six months.

A copy of a Toronto newspaper "The Banner" and dated 1840 was found stored away in a Whitechurch Township home the other day. An interesting record in the almost century old sheet was the market quotations. Butter, eggs and poultry were quoted around today's prices for these products of the farm. No wonder farmers are demanding better prices for with produce selling at 1840 quotations taxes on 100 acres of land at that time was less than $10.

Russel Lee of Hamilton has been visiting his mother, Mrs. John Lee, Stouffville.

Maxine Anderson spent a week down on the farm at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stiver.

While some folk seem to forget they have cash in the bank, most of us would like to forget we haven't.

E. A. Grubin, Optometrist, will be at his office in Stouffville on Monday and Tuesday, March 6th and 7th. Dates at Stouffville office are also announced in the regular advertisement on the front page of the Tribune after this notice.

Coming—F. E. Luke, Optometrist, 167 Yonge Street, Toronto's able eyesight specialist, may be consulted about your eyes for glasses at Broadway's Drug Store, Stouffville, on Thursday, March 23rd.

Stouffville is one of the 200 municipalities in the province who will get a hydro rebate on what they have paid to the H.E.P.C. of Ontario as exchange on U.S. funds. The H.E.P.C. has agreed to pay 2-thirds of the exchange from their own reserve funds, and those places who have paid up will be rebated the overpaid amount.

Miss Marion Cook, college chum of Miss Janet Button was in town last weekend, visiting with Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Button. Marion, who is a daughter of Mr. H. P. Cook, of Kenora, crown attorney for the northern district, also spent part of the weekend vacation with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Vicars in Uxbridge.

An epidemic of mumps under the more dignified name of "swollen glands" is going the rounds of the local district. There's no doubt the glands are swollen, said one physician spoken to about the matter, but its good old fashioned mumps just the same.

Out of respect for their president, Mr. W. J. Pentland, the local Dominion stores branch was closed for two hours on Monday afternoon of this week. Mr. Pentland was killed in a motor car accident, when he ran into a safety zone on St. Clair Avenue, on Saturday.

Dr. Ira Freel who is expected to reach home the latter part of this week, from his holiday in Florida, is named as executor of the estate of the late Alice Brown. The late Archie Leaney, was also named as an executor.

Do not overlook the Horticultural Society meeting to be held this Thursday evening in Ratcliff's Hall. Citizens owe it to the community to attend this annual meeting, and thus encourage the few who do the work. The organization is one of Stouffville's greatest assets.

The long-delayed deal for the sale of the Auditorium Theatre property was completed last week by the signing of the agreement. The vendor is Mr. Jos. Borinsky, and the purchaser Mr. Sid. Schmidt, who at one time had the property rented, and operated a picture show. The new owner obtained the pledge of local citizens to the extent of $500, in order to get the place in operation again. Extensive changes are expected to be made including the removal of the second floor, so that the theatre will be on the ground floor. The high ceiling is calculated to give a good sound effect for the talkies to be installed.

Stouffville is shortly to have a new up-to-date laundry operated by steam and electricity. A lease has been secured on the premises now occupied by E. D. McGrattan three doors west of the post office, the proprietor being Fong Wing of Toronto, a well educated celestial, who conducts a chain of such laundries. The new business when underway in the early spring will solicit household washings, and all the finer work. A new feature will be a regular delivery, which is now being done by Toronto firms, and which is a business getter.

The Gold Fish Supply Co. of Stouffville completed the installation of an extra 5 h.p. electric motor this week, and commenced the manufacture of cellophane ivory products. The new goods will run from soap dishes, to powder boxes, ladies' compacts, etc. The first output this week from the new branch will be for travellers samples and exhibition purposes, in introducing the new lines to the public. Heretofore the company purchased fish bowl decorations such as miniature castles, etc., for their work, which will now be manufactured in their own factory here, in conjunction with the added lines of cellophane products. Since the fire in the plant two weeks ago a dozen or more men (all local) have found steady employment cleaning up the debris and generally assisting in cleaning up the building again. The management took on every out of work man who applied for employment. This was a real help to the workmen of Stouffville who find it hard to get employment this winter. Some of these chaps obtained more than two weeks steady work.

The Swastika Society held a skating party in the Arena on Tuesday evening this week, which was well patronized.

The congregation of the Lemonville United Church are laying plans for the celebration of the 70th anniversary of their church, which will be observed some time in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. W. March, also Mrs. Snider, and Mrs. Margaret Andrews, all of Aurora, spent Saturday with their sister, Mrs. J. W. Tann, Albert Street.

Owing to the squall weather last Saturday, the farm stock sale advertised to be held on the Robt Wilson farm just north of Ringwood, was postponed one week to March 4.

The following pupils of T. W. Eagleson were successful at the recent mid-winter examinations of the Toronto Conservatory of Music: Primary Theory—Gertrude M. Coakwell, first class honours. Primary Piano—Mary Crosier, Irene Crosier, Beth Rogers and Amy Rogers. Introductory—John Chipman.

The Women's Institute of Stouffville enjoyed a Pot Luck Supper one evening last week, at the home of Mrs. W. T. Byam. It wasn't pot luck as most people recognize the phrase, for it developed into a real banquet. When the hat was passed around a sort of thank offering was contributed amounting to over $5. The Institute are utilizing all available funds they can raise in this way, for relief work in this locality.

The regular monthly meeting of the Junior Women's Institute will be held at the home of Miss Hazel Boyd on Wednesday, March 8th, at 2.30 p.m. The main item on the programme will be a debate, "Resolved that a woman has more enjoyment in Middle Age than in Youth. Two senior members, Mrs. E. J. Davey and Mrs. Geo. T. Lee. Two junior members, Miss Helen Nicely and Miss Laura Hill will take part in the debate. Visitors welcome.

A mechanical expert for the Walker-Wallace Co. of Toronto played an unwilling joke on himself when he came to Stouffville last week to install a pasteurizing outfit in the Maple Leaf Dairy for Mr. Clayt, Baker.

A stranger in the community, the mechanic made enquiry for the local dairy, supposing there was only one here. Someone directed the stranger to the newly opened dairy in the former Bank of Nova Scotia building, where he promptly headed. Now it so happened that the new dairy was also expecting an expert along to install their pasteurizer which was made by the Cherry-Burrell Co. "Mr. Mechanic" was welcomed and advised the pasteurizer was at the depot. It was hurriedly hauled to the dairy, but it was not until after several hours of hard work that the mechanic discovered he was preparing the erection of some other firm's machinery. Sensing that the mechanism was not to his expectations, he made enquiries of Mr. Turner or his men, as to the make of machine he really expected, which led to the error being discovered. The mechanic made a hasty exit, when he headed for the Baker Dairy to do his stuff for which his firm was paying him.

The popularity of "Ye Old Tyme Concert" is as great as ever, as was evidenced by the big crowd which turned out last Friday evening to hear the Stouffville Choral Society in old tyme tunes and ballads. Dr. H. M. Fletcher, leader, also contributed a special solo number to the program. The lengthy entertainment was well received, while the old tyme costumes added to the interest also the stage setting with its spinning wheel and other mementos of bygone days. The piano, it was announced, was 100 years old. Dr. Fletcher introduced each member of the chorus, which proved a humorous and interesting start for the musicale to follow. Each singer, dressed in ancient costume, or knee breeches, wigs and shoe buckles reached the platform from a centre aisle. In addition to the choral selections, all given in happy style, special numbers were rendered by Mrs. Geo. Lee, Mrs. George Saunders and Mrs. Garfield Kellington as "Three Old Maids of Lea." Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sanders gave the A.B.C. duet and Clarence Stafford and Mrs. Harold Lewis sang "Madam will You Walk with Me." All these scored big hits, as did Carson Wideman in "Captain Jinks", and Albert Elson with his fiddle had half the feet in the hall a-going. He was accompanied by Mrs. Palmer on the piano. Mr. Wm. Hewlett and his sister Mrs. Kellington gave the "Tip Toe" duet, and solo numbers were heard from Miss Anno Lehman, Mrs. Harold Lewis, and Mr. Barrett. Miss Ada Barker of Ringwood rendered a couple of readings, which gave variety to the program, and she also took the solo part in "Uncle Jedidiah." Mr. Fletcher and his class made a real hit with every item on the program all of which was worthy of the splendid large audience it attracted.

Harry Stover Writes From Guelph

Trent Institute, O.A.C. Guelph, Ontario. February 27th, 1933

Dear Sir:

I thought the readers of the "Tribune" might be interested in some of the activities carried on at the O.A.C., Guelph; where short courses in dairying, chicken raising, domestic science, baking, etc. are conducted. There are about twelve hundred students taking the regular and short courses this year.

Of course I am interested in the Trent Institute which is a baking school for bakers. The school is a building erected especially for this purpose and is very complete in all its appointments. The installation is of the most modern machinery and equipment known to the baking trade for carrying out the latest ideas in the manufacture of bread and cakes.

I registered for the baking course on 1st of January 1933. This course lasts for four months and consists of a thorough scientific as well as the mechanical work that a baker should have in order to turn out first class bread and cakes. It also includes laboratory study of wheat, and milling of flour, shortening, sugar, etc. This work is carried on in the institute laboratory.

The study of yeast which is so important in the fermentation of bread, is made in the bacteriology lab., which is very up to date with the most modern appliances for this type of research.

Nearly two months have passed since I enrolled and I am pleased with the progress so far.

When the course ends on April 30 at which time I expect to graduate, I hope to have gained a very intensive scientific knowledge of the baking industry which would not otherwise be obtainable, except through years of experience.
