Farmers' Information

Haying Time Hint
Now that haying time is here again, it is well to note that, according to results obtained at the O.A.C. Guelph, sweet clover makes the best quality hay when cut late in the bud stage and about ready to blossom.

Certified Apple Orchards
The opinion that apple orchards should be certified is gaining ground among apple growers and horticulturists. It is contended that certified orchards would raise the standard of apple growing throughout the province. A certified orchard would be one which had no Hawthorns, wild apple trees, no neglected nor maggot-infested trees within 300 yards of it. A certified orchard would be one which was well-sprayed and free from apple maggot. With every orchard certified, bumper crops would be assured.

Defective Chicks
A casual glance over the chicks will not detect any culls or pickets. But on closer examination it may be noticed that some are not doing as well as others. Some have defects of body conformation, feet or wings. These might better be taken out now than left to add to the crowding in the pen. There will be pullets that are off in type, have poor heads or some other defects and might better be sold as broilers than kept to maturity. Under present price conditions one can afford to rear and keep only the best for the laying flock.

Crowding is frowned upon by expert poultrymen. If at all possible, separate the cockerels from the pullets, so as to give the pullets more room at the feed trough and on the roosts. Some of these cockerels may be sold as broilers, and the best carried along to be sold later as roasters.

Vegetable Growers' Report
Of interest to vegetable growers will be the 28th annual report of the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association (1932) just issued by the Department and containing the following valuable chapters: President's address by C. I. Delworth; report of secretary-treasurer J. Lockie Wilson; report of Fielding, Geo. Rush; The Trucking problem as I see it, by Paul A. Fisher; Market Conditions by W. B. Somerset; Vegetable diseases and their control, by Dr. H. W. Dye; Asparagus Culture by Harper Secord; Cover Crops, by T. H. Hones; How to Cut Cost of Production by Chas. T. Williams; Soil Heating by Electricity, by O. W. Titus; Possibilities of Western Markets by H. E. Toms; Fertilizers, by Major J. Black. Copies are obtainable from the Department or from your local representative.

Fertilizer Demonstration Scheme Enlarged
The interest shown by farmers in the Co-operative Fertilizer Demonstrations which have been conducted since 1929 by the Dept. of Chemistry, O.A.C. has led that body to include an ever-increasing element of experimentation in their demonstration program. The work was started primarily to show the effectiveness of various mixtures of fertilizers, under the farmer's own conditions and observations, but with four years' experience it is felt that much valuable information can be obtained from these sources.

The 1933 work will be carried out on 120 farms in Old Ontario, and the total number of plots will exceed six hundred. The tests, as usual, are being laid down on all of the standard crops, but special studies are to be made of fertilizers on potatoes, turnips, alfalfa and sugar beets. The effect of fertilizer mixtures in hastening maturity is a point of special investigation in the husking corn areas, and their effect on quality is one of the problems to be studied for the potato and turnip growers. An extensive co-operative program is also being carried out with the market gardeners in the vicinity of Sarnia, London, Toronto, Brockville and Ottawa. These growers are particularly interested in problems of fertility management.

The King's Garden Party was the outstanding event in England last Saturday afternoon. The next one of importance is at Cedar Grove, on Saturday night, July 8th.
