Notes and Comments

Charlie Miller, a trusty in the Cook County, Illinois jail, whacked out a home run on the jail team the other day. He knocked the ball clear over the prison wall, and after running the bases, was allowed to go out and find the ball. He must have knocked it a long way for Charlie isn't back yet.

A case of great interest to municipal councils will come before Judge Owens at Walkerton on July 12th. Two Midway doctors are suing the councils of Midway and Carrick for attendance on indigents. They claim $145 from Midway, and $123 from Carrick. The Judge's decision will be a guide to municipal councils how far they can go in the legal payment for medical attendance on charity patients. We would think the decision would hinge, largely, on the orders given or not given by the reeves of these municipalities to attend the indigent patients. In mental cases the statutes allow a fee of $5 to a medical man for examination on the order of the head of the municipality.

The editor of this paper, as well as hundreds of editors will not agree with Mitchell Hepburn, Liberal leader, when he says that if his party is put into power, he will do away with examination fees. There are no fees now in the public schools until the Entrance to High School is reached, so that what Mr. Hepburn means is that he will make higher education still freer than it now is. This is partly the reason why these days is the high schools and universities, and with thousands of students who are merely putting in time. A diligent student in lower school may be granted his yearly pass by obtaining 66 per cent on term work, but the indolent student cannot do this, and the cost of conducting an examination for him should not be placed on the general public. When Upper School exams are written, surely the student is reaching a place where his education should cost the family at least a dollar and fifty cents per paper. Higher educational costs, in our opinion, are plenty free enough to be appreciated by those getting the advantage. Mr. Hepburn has a far more appealing vote catcher in his promise to abandon many other unnecessary expenditures by the Ontario Government.

Federal Expenditures

Sherbrook, (Quebec) Record People think that it is only the salaries of the Senators, which were $433,993 in 1931-1932 session, and $1,227,140 for the salaries and travelling allowances of the House of Commons.

Add these together and we have $1,761,133. But there is a more extensive story to be told, over a million more for the total cost of these two bodies meetings in 1931-32 session was $2,936,99, or a few thousand dollars short of three millions.

Though members and Senators all travel free on railway passes, the to-and-fro costs for both bodies mounted up to $20,380. This does not include the travelling expenses of eighteen Cabinet Ministers, whose costs appear in the departmental reports, and do mount up.

How does a million and three-quarters mount up to high three millions of dollars?

There is an army of officials in the building, some of them merely for the session, but others tarry there in the office year 'round. There are clerks and assistant clerks, reporters of debates, editors of debates, translators, custodians, porters, messengers, librarians, cataloguers, reference clerks, a staff of permanent clerks who draw $470,476 a year, of which $33,280 is due to Senate and $273,351 to the Commons, and the balance to library and contingencies.

Then there are temporary clerks and stenographers, doormen and a reserve reporter, altogether costing $196,303.

Each Senator has not his own private stenographer, but he can press the button at any time and get one within a few minutes to attend to his letter, either private or public.

Sessional clerks and extra employees for the House of Commons cost $66,313.43, whilst there are 88 members' stenographers, or an average of one for every three members.

The Sergeant-at-Arms looks after the pages, who answer a thumb snap by any member, and also all the sessional messengers who earn from $1,830 down for not more than six months' work. The sessional pages cost $6,746; and the charladies who keep the buildings clean, get $26,217 altogether.

The Sergeant-at-Arms had a motor allowance of $1985.86; or $14.14 less than the hypothetical $2,000. He paid his restaurant staff $16,786.86. This was a Mr. Coghill, who received $4,520 salary and a house allowance of $600 in lieu of inside residence. The Sergeant of the Mace has an assistant Sergeant-at-Arms in J. L. Williams who, in addition to his salary, was given 500 cash in lieu of a free residence.

The secretary of the Leader of the Opposition received $3,960 salary and the Speaker of the House got $3,000 to pay his rent outside the House, whilst Armand Lavergne, Deputy-Speakers, accepted $1,500 cash in lieu of free residence.

The list of clerks in the House reads like an inheritance list of the members and senators, as the honorable gentlemen have taken their cue to practice nepotism.

Public opinion everywhere is directed towards the costs of government in Canada. The universal opinion is that they are excessive and far beyond what they should be.

Three years ago we said that future Federal and provincial elections would be won or lost on the questions of cost and taxation.

Since that time almost every newspaper in Canada has acquiesced by publishing details of government expenditures and the overlapping of such by the maintenance of bureaus and Cabinet portfolios.

Interest in these expenditures has been forced by the opposition of irritating and nuisance taxes, where business men are forced to become tax collectors, and where the people at large are compelled to buy stamps for cheques and pay taxes on meals.

No single government is solely at fault. Yet every government has opened the road to a third party.

There will be a cleavage of partisanship, a breaking up of old connections, for every candidate will be compelled to sign a pledge that every thing will be done to abolish the nuisance taxes.

In Quebec we have the meal tax and the tax on gasoline, both of which tend to drive away and kill a goodly source in the tourist traffic. Hotelkeepers and restaurants are forced to keep books on every meal served. All along the line there is an increased overhead on clerical service.

RICHMOND HILL REDUCES TEACHING STAFF

At the regular meeting of the Richmond Hill Board of Education Mr. Donald E. R. Frisby of Richmond Hill was appointed as member of the Public School staff. Mr. Frisby is a local boy and received his education at the Richmond Hill Public and High School and Toronto Normal. He takes the place of Miss Evelyn Reesor who resigned. The salary was set at $700 per annum. This will be the only change in the public school staff, and no change was made in the existing schedule of salaries.

There will be one member less on the High School staff when school opens in September.

Parental Responsibility

A minister in a church some fifty miles away is reported by the local paper as preaching a special Mothers' Day sermon. After dealing with the beauty of motherhood and the debt of love and gratitude we all owe to our mother, the speaker touched on the other angle and vigorously dealt with the responsibilities of mothers and parents in general. He suggested that the downfall of many children was directly because of the lack of home training and discipline. He deplored the presence of young girls and boys on our streets late at night and wondered why parents did not better control their offspring. With children roaming at large he said they get into all kinds of environment and too often of doubtful nature. There were so many pitfalls for them that parents were shirking responsibility in many cases. When a girl or boy falls from grace, the cause, he believed, could be traced back to parental control. The thoughts expressed were timely and worthy of deep consideration by every parent everywhere.

A FARMER'S REPLY

Dear Sir: In reply to your recent request to send you a cheque, I wish to inform you that the present shattered condition of my bank account makes it impossible for me to take your requests seriously.

My present financial condition is due to the effect of dominion laws, provincial laws, municipal laws, country laws, corporation laws, mother-in-laws, all of which have been foisted upon an unsuspecting public.

Through these laws I am compelled to pay a business tax, sales tax, amusement tax, gas tax, school tax, water tax, excise tax, auto tax, hydro tax and syn-tax.

In addition to these irritating taxes I am forced by the strong arm of the law to get a permit for this thing and a permit for that thing. I am required to get a business license, a city license, a provincial license, a sign license, a dog license, a motor license, and radio license, a liquor license—not to mention my marriage license.

I am also requested and required to contribute to every society and organization which the inventive genius of men is capable of bringing to life.

For my own safety, I am required to carry life insurance, liability insurance, fire insurance, compensation insurance, accident insurance, collision insurance, rain insurance, hail insurance and business insurance.

The government has now so governed my business that it is no easy matter for me to find out who owns.

I am also requested and required to spected, suspected, disrespected, examined, re-examined, informed, required, summoned, fined, commanded and compelled, and simply because I refused to donate to each an all, and to go out and beg or borrow or steal money to give away. I am cussed, discussed, boycotted, talked to, talked about, lied to, lied about, and held down and robbed until I am nearly ruined.

I can tell you honestly that, failing a miracle, you won't be paid, just now, and the only reason I am holding to life is simply just to see what in hell is coming next.

BETHESDA

Mrs. Chapman has been reengaged as public school teacher at Bethesda for another year. Over at the 6th line school Lorne Wideman has also been engaged for his fourth term. In both schools the salary is $750.

Some of our farmers are starting in to wheat cutting this week. F. H. Steckley has one fine field ready, and the grain all looks well.

Dairy Farmers Say Loss of Indemnity Is a Heavy Blow

A demand for milk from tuberculosis-tested herds among Toronto milk consumers has created added problems for the district producers, now faced with a complete ban on federal compensation for cows that fail to pass the test. In the past the Government has paid compensation for every cow which a farmer destroyed on account of its failure to pass the tuberculosis test. Farmers are under no compulsion, however, to destroy such animals.

Officials of the Ontario Milk and Cream Producers' Association were informed by Government officials at Ottawa on Saturday that the Federal Government had discontinued indefinitely the payment of compensation.

According to E. H. Clarke, president, district producers will place their situation before Premier Henry for review in the hope that the Federal authorities will give further consideration in spite of the economy pressure that is being forced by the Rhodes budget provisions. While no appointment has been made with the Ontario Premier yet, it is felt that he, with his personal knowledge of milk producers' problems, will lend a sympathetic ear to their cause.

Demand accredited Herds' Association heads, while at Ottawa emphasized that the Toronto district producers were being forced rapidly to acquiring tuberculosis-free herds by consumer demand that had been whetted by daily concerns advertising milk from the accredited cows. Up until the present, Hon. Robert Weir, minister of agriculture was told, the district producers owning approximately 100,000 cows,

This striking picture reproduced above played an important part in a recent highway safety campaign in the United States. This picture will be used by the Motor Vehicles Branch of the Ontario Department of Highways in safety advertising. The Department is using the press, the radio, and the schools in an endeavor to stem the tide of accidents on the highways. Last year's record shows 502 persons killed and 8231 injured in automobile accidents in this province.
