Grapefruit Conserve

Here are some interesting variations in the jelly making line: For this conserve the ingredients called for are: 1 grapefruit, 11/2 pounds carrots, the filling is cool before covering. 1 lemon, 11/2 cups sugar, 11/2 corn syrup. Chop cooked carrots and mix with the finely sliced fruit. Add sugar and syrup and cook until fruit is clear and mixture thickens. Pour into sterilized glasses and seal.

Peach and Orange

These conserve recipes are simple to make and the results so delicious that it is well worth the time taken to prepare them. This combination of fruits is both helpful and supplies the family with the necessary acid content in their diet. Ingredients: medium sized peaches, 21/2 pounds granulated sugar, 2 cups water, 6 medium sized oranges, 2-3 cup corn syrup, 1/2 pound blanched, shredded almonds. Dice peeled peaches and add to the grated rind of 4 oranges utes before removing from fire, add

Lubricate Dry Skin

Body oils and foot creams have the same beneficial effects on your feet and body as nourishing creams have on your neck and face. They help to lubricate a dry condition of the skin.

If you haven't a foot cream, try using your tissue cream on your feet once a week. You'll be surprised at the difference in the way they feel after about three or four such treatments.

When your feet have been bathed and scrubbed with plenty of soap suds and a small brush, dry them thoroughly. Then, with foot cream or tissue cream in the palms of your hands, massage the cream into your feet from the tips of the toes up to the ankles. Body oils usually are slightly scented. When you have taken your bath and dried yourself with a rough towel, massage body oil into your skin. I will eliminate that rough, uncomfortable feeling which dry skins have after they have been washed with soap

Modern bath oils are a far cry from the oils with which the ancient Greeks and Romans used to annoint themselves, but the result is about the same. Oils do help dr. skin.

For Thin Faces

If your face is long and thin try put ting a little rouge on the cuter cheek bones and on the chin. This will make it appear broader and shorter. Don't wear a high crown or large brimmed hat. A round beret-shape or small brim suits you better. The up-to-the-throat fashion is flat tering to thin necks and faces. Always choose a round neckline in preference to the V-shape.

To Clean White Fur

Trimmings of white fur on frocks hats, or children's garments may b most successfully cleaned with powdered starch without troubling to remove the fur from the articles. If the fur trims a black garment, such as velvet, the surrounding material should be well protected before beginning the cleaning process. Sprinkle the starch over the fur and rub it in lightly. Leave on for a time and then shake out thoroughly. This cleaning method will be found most effective.

Household Hints Lettuce will keep best in the elec-
