Stanley Siscoe Mine Plant Destroyed by Bush Fire

Entire District Imperilled—Series of Outbreaks Continue Toward Home of Pandora Mines—High Wind Danger

Menace of fire sweeping in from tinder-dry bushlands gave inhabitants of many widely scattered points through Northern Quebec and Ontario a desperately anxious week-end. However, reports indicate there has been no loss of life and that property damage has been relatively small.

The Stanley-Siscoe extension plant in the Siscoe gold area, 50 miles south of Arros, Que., was destroyed by flames; the village of Provencen, 15 miles west of Noranda-Rouyn, was partially evacuated when flames ringed it and a mill nearby was burned down.

In Ontario 159 men fought flames raging in the Campbell's Mills and Meteor Lake districts, with Ontario Forestry Department gas cars being used to rush men to the areas, and additional fire-fighting equipment, supplies and men being sent from as far east as Sudbury.

Oba and Hornepayne were fighting flames in the bush lands near those centres. Bush fires broke out along the trans-Canada highway on the north shore of Lake Superior close to the Pancake River work camp.

The Northern Quebec situation was serious in a dozen points. An unconfirmed report stated that three cottages had been destroyed at the Alderman Mine. The Pandora Mines in Cadillac township were in the path of another blaze, but it was hoped the flames would be checked before they reached that property.

Another fire was burning near the junction of the Beattie Railway and the Canadian National Railways while the vicinity of Taschereau, Que., was scene of a blaze.

By railway and truck some 100 women and children were rushed to Rouyn from Provencen when it looked Sunday afternoon as if the village was doomed. A large squad of fire rangers, Noranda firemen and villagers, with men from the nearby Arnfield mine, averted disaster, however, aided by a falling wind.

“I'm a bit afraid myself,” admitted the long distance telephone operator at Rouyn when asked about the situation. She said that if the wind rose there was a possibility of flames encroaching upon the town limits.

2 Letters Containing Cash Received by Customs Head

Windsor.—If Canada's income from “conscience money” continues at the present rate, Canadians may look for a reduction in federal taxes before long, customs officials suggest.

A. H. Dalziel, collector of customs for Windsor, was thoughtfully opening the morning's mail, wondering who might have sent the anonymous letter, enclosing $1 for a few things that the sender smuggled from Detroit several years ago, which he received recently. Mr. Dalziel was startled from his meditation by the sight of a brand new $2 bill fluttering to the desk from a letter he held in his hand.

The letter, postmarked London, bore the simple, anonymous explanation that “this should have been paid three years ago; regret not having done so.”

Radium Danger When Close

Those Handling It Told To Use Long Handles On Containers

Washington.—Distance offers the best protection from the harmful effects of radium, the Bureau of Standards warns in a new hand book entitled “Radium Protection for Amounts up to 300 Milligrams.”

The book, issued principally for those exposed to radium, suggests that technicians should not work habitually nearer than ten feet to radium in storage or stay long near a patient receiving treatment.

Permanent technicians should have at least six weeks' vacation a year and should spend as much time as possible out of doors,” the book states. “Careful blood counts should be made once a month to determine their physical condition.”

When radium is carried about, containers should be equipped with handles long enough to keep the hand at least 12 inches away. When stored, radium should be entirely surrounded with lead.

“When shipping by mail or express radium packages should be “conspicuously” marked “Radium—Keep Away” the bureau warned.

90-year-old Farmer To Seed Farm
Meaford—Thos. Stickley, 90-year-old farmer of this district, has declared his intention of seeding his three-acre farm himself this year. He has already purchased the seed. He was born in Worcester, England, settling in the West when he came to Canada, where he still owns 159 acres.

Stickley declares he is as “fit as a fiddle.” He is the only surviving member of a family of five and he lives with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Marjorie Morrison, who is more than 80 years of age, and is the last surviving member of her family.

AN OPEN LETTER TO PEDESTRIANS:

Are motorists right when they say you are more than half to blame?

While figures cannot be depended upon to tell the whole truth, last year's accident records leave no room for doubt that there are reckless walkers as well as reckless drivers.

Last year 2,821 pedestrians were killed or injured in Ontario in automotive accidents. Many of these persons came to grief while violating a simple rule of safety... crossing a street between intersections... crossing diagonally at intersections... crossing against traffic signals... “hitching”... or coming from behind parked vehicles. Of the total number, 1,107 were children playing in the street.

Records show that in many of these cases the driver never had a chance. Accidents happened while he was doing his best to drive safely!

This department is more deeply interested in making the streets and highways of Ontario safe, especially for children, than in any other public duty. The conscientious motorist has been appealed to in many ways; several of his privileges have been restricted in an effort to make life safe in traffic for all. I know that this appeal to the pedestrian will find ready response among those who walk more often than they drive, and especially in the hearts of fathers and mothers of little children.

Will you co-operate? Will you help to stem the tide of needless bereavement and suffering by observing the simple rules of safe walking that make all the difference between safety and the jeopardy of life and limb? And you parents—will you not give your children a chance by teaching them the need of care for their own safety?

Artists Free School

San Francisco Hopefuls Only Required to Buy Materials

San Francisco.—There is art for art's sake in San Francisco, and it's swell!

That's the verdict of nearly 400 men and women from 17 to 60, who climb a long flight of stairs several days a week to sketch, paint, model clay, write short stories and study novel and verse technique in six makeshift studios a block from the city's financial district.

It's the free school of the Artists and Writers' Union, San Francisco's newest art and literary institution, and strangest relief project. “Golly, this is great,” Dick Ayer exclaims, as he models his first bust. “I never expected training like this—and for nothing. Look at this head.”

It's one of 25 enrolled in the sculpture class. The students furnish their own materials, but everything else is free.

New Egg Record For Dominion

200 in 204 Days and Each Egg Equal to or Above Standard

Agassiz, B.C.—Barrad Plymouth Rock pullet No. 2, owned by A. Pennington of Agassiz, has established what is believed a world's record at the Dominion experimental farm here with 200 eggs in 204 days, all the eggs being of standard weight or more.

Pullets qualify for government registration by laying 200 eggs, each weighing two ounces or more, in 365 days. Accomplishment of this feat in only 204 days has never been equalled in an official egg laying contest before, authorities believe.

Barrad Rock pullet No. 3, owned by the Delta Land Co., Vancouver, has also laid 200 eggs in 204 days, here but all her eggs were not the full two ounces and she has not yet qualified for the registration.

Derreen 10-L. White Leghorn pullet which equalled the world's record of 357 eggs in 365 days last year, had laid 200 eggs in 204 days during the 1933 contest but her eggs were not all of standard weight.

All-Canadian Cigarette

St. Thomas—W. F. Kingston, flue-cured tobacco plantation owner of this city, has been advised that the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada and the Macdonald Corporation of Montreal are prepared to carry out his suggestion, made to the committee on price spreads and massed buying at Ottawa and produce a 100 per cent. Canadian tobacco cigarette to retail at 15 cents for a package of 20, if the public will buy the product. Mr. Kingston suggested this move as a means of increasing the consumption of Canadian-grown flue-cured tobacco, his proposal being that the excise on such cigarettes be reduced to 32 per thousand and raised on other cigarette containing American-grown tobacco, deemed advisable.
