A husband's sweet disposition may be like the morning's milk. By evening it may be sour.

Negro Camp Cook (to commissary man)—Look here, boss, dat ham you sold me last night was spoiled.
Commissary Man—Impossible. It was cured in the best way.
Negro—Well, boss, if dat ham was cured, it sho' had a powerful relapse.

Everybody owes the world something, and high budgets are keeping them back in their payments.

Chief of Brushville Amateur Fire Company—You're late in getting here.
Young Fireman—I live a long way away.

Chief—That's no excuse. In future you must live nearer the scene of the fire.

If Junior is guilty of bad grammar and bad drawing, it is ignorance; if an adult does, it is humor.

Man—How much would it cost to send a dollar to my son?
Postman—Eight cents.
Man—Thanks. Here are the eight cents.

Pass The Gaff.
Father: "Daughter, isn't that young man rather fast?"
Daughter: "Yes, but I don't think he'll get away."

Sea Rover.
"You must have had many romantic adventures and narrow escapes in your seafaring life?"
"Not many, Miss. You see, I don't go roving ashore like most of the crew. I plays safe and sticks to the ship."

Money isn't everything. It doesn't keep your blood pressure from rising when you get a postage-due letter.

College Youth—It's all nonsense about it being hard for a college fellow to get a job.
Friend—Then you didn't have any trouble finding one?
College Youth—One? Why, I've had four jobs in the last four weeks.

Hubby (late at night)—Let me in, wife. I'm soaked, it's raining.
Wife—Is that so, you insect! Well, stay out there 'till you sober up.

A hick town is a place where a light at 10 p.m. used to mean sickness instead of bridge.

We contemplate our "movies" and find this point to vex.
Too many of our pictures have been hitting on all sex.

"Deficit" is a cute little word, and it seems to be getting around places a lot more than it used to.

Man—Have you been a dentist very long?
Dentist—No, I was a riveter till I got too nervous to work up high.

Many a man is willing to lose a friend in order to acquire a dollar.

Applicant—How about a position?
Business Man—Can you operate a typewriter?
Applicant—Yes, sir. I use the Biblical system.
Business Man—I never heard of it.
Applicant—Seek and ye shall find.

The only way one can tell a girl is blushing these days is to take her word for it.

Guest—The dinner was delicious. You must have an old family cook.
Host—Yes, indeed. She's been with us 10 or 12 meals.

Education Costs Cut In Holland To Balance Budget

The Hague.—A cut of 10 per cent. in the education budget at present 100,000,000 florins, coupled with adjustments in the relationship of the state and municipalities, are the chief economies whereby Holland hopes to balance the budget for the ensuing year. It is announced here.

On the basis of the present year, the figures show a gap of 93,000,000 florins or $62,000,000. Revenues are estimated at 631,000,000 florins and expenditures at 724,000,000.

In addition to these retrenchments it is hoped to gain additional revenue amounting to some 22,000,000 florins merely by means of various financial "adjustments" and without fresh taxation, which the Government believes the country is not in a position to deal with.

An explanatory memorandum, issued by the Minister of Finance further explains that as the financial situation of the Netherlands Indies requires direct assistance, the home country will pay 12,000,000 florins, or 10 per cent. of the naval budget of the colonies.

Toronto's New Silver Market

The recent announcement that the Toronto Stock Exchange would open a Silver Exchange in the near future, appears to be of considerable importance and as a result it is expected that not only Toronto but other centres will benefit thereby.

One of the conditions attached to new memberships in the Silver Exchange is that outsiders will be required to establish offices or have local connections in Toronto which should result in some demand for office space.

Shipping concerns should also get some benefit through transportation of the metal, and storage facilities will also be required locally and at other points. The probability is that the bank and trust company vaults will be largely used for this purpose, but it is understood that it was found necessary to establish warehouse or other facilities at Halifax and Vancouver to take care of any ocean shipping which may be done. Other benefits from the establishing of Toronto as a silver trading centre will probably show up over a period of time.

Members of the Toronto Stock Exchange will automatically become members of the new Silver Exchange and it is understood that memberships have also been arranged for representatives from most of the world's big silver centres.

It became evident that a silver futures market was needed on this continent after the New York market stopped trading in futures and it looks as though Toronto has excellent chances of capturing a goodly portion of the business which was formerly handled through New York. One of the N.Y. commodity exchange experts, who is assisting in the organization of the new exchange, told a group of bankers that he believed the silver market would bring a considerable volume of new money to the city.

The establishing of the new exchange is just one more indication of the growth of Toronto as one of the world's leading financial centres.

Building Products, Limited

Improved earnings and strong working capital position are expected to be shown by this company for the current year's operations. It is said that a fair volume of business has been enjoyed, largely from small building contracts and from repair jobs, and total business volume is expected to show substantial gain over the previous year.

Sturgeon River Discovery

Augments Rail Traffic
So great has been the rush of men, equipment and supplies into this new gold area, that regular passenger service has been somewhat disrupted during the past few weeks. However, announcement is now made by the Canadian National Railways that special service will be inaugurated to connect with the main line, three days a week, Port Arthur and Fort William have become two very busy cities and reports state that practically all unemployed men have found jobs connected in some way or another with the mining activity. Supply houses are doing a rushing business and in a general way, facilities are being taxed severely.

Meanwhile, reports coming from the new area, continue to be of a decidedly optimistic nature, and while it is too early to make definite statements everything indicates that the district is likely to have several producers brought in.

Canadian Steel Production

Shows Increase
Statistics published recently, indicate that for the first eight months of 1934, output of ingots, was more than double that for the same period in 1933. President McMaster of the Steel Co., of Canada stated that demand for steel had been well maintained, and the company had shared proportionately in the improvement, which he attributed in part, to a stable price policy in face of higher prices for materials, contrasting with rising prices in Great Britain and the United States. Mr. McMaster added that it was a matter of encouragement to note that price index figures issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show prices of farm products advanced substantially during the year compared with a practically unchanged figure for fully manufactured goods. This is regarded as indicative of progress towards a restoration of agricultural purchasing power.

Directors of Steel Company of Canada increased the quarterly dividend rate to forty three and three quarter cents as compared to 30 cents which has been in effect since March 1933.

How Livestock Producer Loses

Loses

In its latest issue, the Live Stock and Meat Trade Review, published by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, again returns to the attack on the uneconomical habit of overloading the livestock markets on Mondays.

"Unfortunately," says the Review, "the foolish practice of offering the bulk of the week's supply on the Monday market was again very strongly in evidence, with a more or less disastrous effect upon prices paid, and certainly increasing the cost of marketing to the producer through daily holdovers. During the hot months, the buyer's needs in big meats are mostly quite moderate and often the result is that out of a big Monday run they will pick required quantities here and there, and the bulk has to be sold as best it may. A large percentage of the poorer end of the stock has small commercial value, and in recent months a considerable volume of this cattle of good type and conformation very suitable for feeding, has gone to the slaughter because of the lack of counter demand."

Many Seed Entries

For Winter Fair

Toronto.—Seed entries for the Royal Winter Fair are coming in most satisfactorily to date, according to a statement from the Fair. This is especially interesting from the view of the known difficulties that seedsmen have had to face during the dry summer, but apparently many of them intend to compete in all the classes. The regulations provide that, for this year's competition in the open classes, seeds may be taken irrespectively from the 1933 or 1934 crops. This two year crop regulation, however, does not apply to the Gold Medal Malting Barley competition, which is again being put on by the collective Brewing Industry of Ontario and Quebec. The barley seed entered must, owing to the extracting needs in the malting process, be strictly from 1934-grown barley.

Doctor Said She Must Reduce

Fat a Danger to Her Heart

Overweight is not merely a matter of appearance—it affects health, too. Excess fat robs the system of energy—the internal organs grow lax and slow down under the burden—and undue strain is put on the heart. Here is an instance. A woman writes:—

"I have been treated by specialists, who tried to reduce my weight, as I suffered with heart attacks. But no matter what they gave me, nothing would reduce me. Since taking Kruschen, everyone wherever I go exclaims about how much flesh I have lost. I took it at first for rheumatism, and it has done me a world of good, as well as greatly reducing my weight. Before Christmas I weighed 224 lbs. Now I am considerably less—in fact, a coat I had worn last year I have had to take to be altered before I was able to wear it again. I have not really made any difference with my diet, so there is only Kruschen to thank."—(Mrs. J. M. S.)

The six salts in Kruschen assist the internal organs to throw off each day the waste and poisons that encumber the system. Then, little by little, that ugly fat goes—slowly, yes—but surely.

The paper is designed to enliven Sundays in gaol.
