

HEN POWER

JUST as it takes a big strong well-fed horse to pull a heavy load—it requires a big strong properly nourished hen to stand the strain of heavy egg production.

Quaker Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash provides the nutrition essential to maintain the weight, strength and health of laying hens so that they will be capable of producing a maximum number of large, firm-shelled uniform eggs.

This is due to the fact that the base of Quaker Ful-O-Pep is fresh oatmeal, blended with choice grains and containing exactly the right scientific proportion of molasses, cod liver meal, proteins and minerals.

Start feeding Ful-O-Pep now—order a supply from your Quaker dealer—or write to The Quaker Oats Company, Peterborough, Ontario.

MT. ALBERT FARMER GOT 468 BUSHELS POTATOES TO ACRE

Only Fall Plowing Remains to Finish Work on Land For York Farms

"Turnips are being pulled just now," H. L. Atkinson, assistant county agricultural representative stated last week.

"Potatoes are practically all up, and the turnip pulling marks the end of the harvest," Mr. Atkinson said. "In the Mount Albert section, the best potato district in the county, the potato crop has been good."

"One Mount Albert farmer got 312 bags to the acre. Several got 175 to 200 bags. Three hundred and twelve bags would be 468 bushels to the acre—which is the most I have ever heard of in this part of Ontario. The soil is none too wet, but not bad, since the rain early this week, for fall plowing."

"There is a shortage of hay in York county, but that will be offset by the extra-good crops of grain and straw. The extra corn acreage, and a good root crop, will also offset the hay shortage."

Dairymen are better off for feed in this part of the province than in Western Ontario. It is feed conditions all over the province that will affect milk prices.

Straw for Winter Feed

While straw is not generally considered as a nutritious feed for livestock, yet in times of fodder scarcity it is very valuable. Horses and dry cows may be wintered entirely on straw, it supplemented by one-half to three-quarters of a pound of linseed oil-meal a day, or other similar protein feed. A ration of half straw and half legume hay will carry such stock through the winter in excellent condition. Little straw should be used for bedding this year when it is needed this year for feed. Good old straw contains a considerable amount of total nutrients, though practically no protein. This is why straw alone makes a poor showing as an exclusive feed for live stock, but when supplemented with a little high protein feed, its carbohydrate content can be utilized to excellent advantage. When feeding straw, always provide plenty of mineral matter in addition. Give cattle, horses and sheep free access to a mixture of 28 pounds of bone meal, 50 pounds of finely ground limestone, 20 pounds of salt, 2 pounds of iron oxide, one-half ounce of copper sulphate and one ounce of potassium iodide.

In feeding value, oat straw leads, with barley, wheat and rye straw following in the order named. Sweet clover straw, after threshing out the seed, is especially valuable in a year like this.

GOODWOOD

The Toronto folk of former days turned out in good numbers for the fowl supper in the Goodwood United Church on Friday evening, some three car loads arriving. One of the visitors made the pointed enquiry as to whether the church is so crowded each Sunday as it was on the occasion when the good people were seeking those well cooked birds and all the other good things. Well, we're not going to go into the matter any further, and we notice that Mr. Walter Davey rather chuckled the query also as it was put to him. The former Goodwood people who came out were able to procure a fowl, either chicken or goose ready cooked which they were delighted to take home, for Sunday dinner, and as the bird graced the table their thoughts could roam back to the good old days when father lived on the farm or in the village. We appreciate Walter Davey acting as advance agent to marshal the Toronto forces for this fowl supper event.

Some of the visitors from the city at the church supper here on Friday were Mr. and Mrs. George Lee, Mrs. Bewell, Miss Bewell, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Butler, Richard Evans of His Majesty's mail service, Vaughan Bluelman, and Walter Davey, secretary of the Toronto group for the Goodwood centenary. They were loud in their praises for the wonderful spread provided.

On October 20 our eldest citizen William Morgason reached his 84th birthday hale and hearty. In fact he is as active as many people of only 60 years, and but for his poor hearing his faculties are one hundred per cent. It is just 10 years ago since he was separated by death from his life partner, who passed away in 1924. Congratulations to Goodwood's eldest citizen, and long may he be spared to enjoy the distinguished position he holds in our midst.
