Great Conference Closes

Brethren in Christ at Gormley Complete Great Task

With delegates and friends numbering 800 from California, Kansas, New York, Pennsylvania, and every State in the Union, together with members of the faith throughout Ontario, the big Brethren in Christ Conference at Gormley passed into history on Monday evening, when the final sessions came to a close. Since the conference opened officially on Thursday until the close on Monday afternoon this week, the people of the local Heise Hill Church and their assistants served more than 3000 dinners, in addition to breakfast and supper to several thousand more. On Sunday the throngs for dinner numbered over 1,300 and they were fed well, in less than three hours. Supper was served by handing out lunch bags to all who wished to eat. No charge was made for meals, a box at the door as one left the dining hall was your only opportunity to contribute to the expense of the dining hall.

Provisions have been supplied by the women, all of whom are determined that the meals at the Gormley convention will compare favorably with those anywhere on the continent. The basement of the church had been converted into a temporary larder and both it and the shelves in the great dining hall have been filled to overflowing with preserves, jams and other culinary triumphs. From the ceiling in the larder hung great stores of smoked meat, 88 pounds of apple butter are suspended in large buckets, and the floor and walls are piled high with corn, peas, beans, pickles, peaches, pears, and every variety of fruit and vegetable preserved in anticipation of this event. One family alone sent 99 jars of preserves, and it is estimated that over 2,000 quarts were consumed.

The General Conference of the Brethren in Christ assemblies once a year, this is the sixth conference to be held in this district, the first being here in 1880, and the last time the district was thus honored was in 1923, twelve years ago. The Heise Hill church was built in 1877, although the organization was itself first established here about 1808.

The American guests were loud in their praises for the beauties of Ontario, the hospitality of the Gormley folks, and the very noticeable way in which God had blessed the people here as compared with the sufferings and privations of many countries.

People of the local district hold the Brethren in high esteem, and need not be told of their virtues. The total membership numbers between 5,000 and 6,000 in North America, and closely resemble the Mennonite faith as practised in the district of Stouffville.

Clinging to the faith of their fathers, which prohibits smoking, drinking, card-playing, and theatres—the older generation, and almost without exception, the younger generation, retain the distinguishing dress of their sect. Women and girls wear a plain black, brimless bonnet, close fitting for outdoor wear, and filmy white caps and "prayer veiling" while indoors.

A woman member of the church explained that the white head covering is always worn indoors. "We follow the Bible," she explained. "Paul exhorted the woman to wear a veil. We always wear the prayer veiling at service. We couldn't get into the church if we didn't."

Men Kiss on Meeting
The men wear no neckties, their collars in many instances being caught together with bar-pins. Many of the elder visitors and delegates wear beards in various styles.

Following another biblical injunction, the men always greet one another with a kiss when first meeting after a parting of any period. They shake hands with the women.

Professor A. W. Climenhaga, dean of Messiah Bible College, Grant-ham, Pa., explained the stand of the church.

"We don't take anyone into college who smokes," he said. "We feel that it is harmful to the body and is a wrong use for money. Non-drinking needs no explanation. Card-playing is in the field of gambling and we are absolutely against it. Our faith is similar to the old Methodist theology, except for the doctrine of baptism. It is strictly evangelical. Our dress is practically the same as the old Methodist costume."

Bishop Alvin L. Winger, who heads the Gormley flock and has about 180 in his charge, stated that the church concentrates on mission work, both home and foreign. "We have 10 missionaries in India and 30 in Africa," he said. "It costs more than $30,000 a year to keep them in the field. We are not a wealthy people, but we concentrate on mission work. In the Gormley district we raised $2,000 last year in free will offerings. We do not support our clergy, and the bulk of the money goes to missions. The church has contributed three-quarters of a million dollars for missions in five years."

The church is organized on a complete basis of free-will offerings, and the presiding church officials are drawn from the congregation. A group of elders or ministers, headed by a presiding elder or bishop, governs the affairs of the church. At present the local board consists of Bishop Winger, assisted by Rev. Joseph Cober, Rev. J. H. Heise, and Rev. D. W. Heise.

"I was brought up in the church but I didn't become a member until I was 40, and a minister when I was 54," Rev. D. W. Heise said. "Our church is holding its own, but to-day everything religious is drifting and we have felt it. Like every other denomination."

"My duties are to oversee the church in this district, which includes Toronto, and as far north as Barrie," Bishop Winger said. "It takes quite a bit of my time, but I continue my farming as well. Church work is more difficult now than it used to be, I think it's harder to keep up the interest among the young, and even the older people sometimes let down."

Oppose Violence

The faith of the Brethren in Christ is a father-to-son religion, he explained. "It originated in Pennsylvania in the 17th century when three brothers came together for prayer and to study the Word. They were baptized and passed on their beliefs to their sons."

Like the Society of Friends or Quakers, the Brethren in Christ are pacifists and preach against violence. Armies and all the paraphernalia of war are denounced by them and even the existence of a police force is condemned.

"We believe that the law of love and forbearance should be our standard," Bishop Winger said. "Acting upon it, we have no need of the police, and there is very little trouble among our people. We take very little part in politics and I do not believe the function of the church has anything to do with them."
