It has been called to our attention by the municipal council that there is a bylaw in Stouffville, prohibiting the posting of bills on telephone or electric poles. The onus, says the council is up to the Chief of Police to enforce. This paper recently called attention to the need of such a bylaw.

Good used implements are growing harder and harder to get, and when some old wreck is offered at an auction sale, it frequently is as much sought after as if it were a wedding present. At the Aaron Storry sale the other day, an old horse rake which might have fallen out of the ark reached the price of $14 before the bidding ended. In good times it would not have brought $5. The point is that farmers are buying up old implements rather than make the lay out for costly new articles.

Saturday, November 9 is Poppy Day.

Could it be that Murray Dunkeld's Jersey cow has an eye on the Miller prize in Toronto, for the most babes-born in ten years? Last week triplets, and three other occasions twins, is something to rival even the cow that jumped over the moon.

Stouffville was very well represented at the fowl supper held in the church at Vandorf on Wednesday evening last week. It is authoritatively reported that 28 geese were consumed, 18 ducks, and numerous chickens which were brought in, but of which no record was taken. All this in addition to cakes, pies, tarts, and other good things, made a banquet which is an annual affair at Vandorf, and which draws hundreds of people from long distances. The receipts on this occasion totalled over $160.

It is not often that any activity is seen around the bowling greens the last week in October, but on Wednesday last a local mixed tournament was staged after hurried call had been issued to all lovers of chasing the kitty. Poultry prizes were given to the following winners: R. Ratcliff, Mrs. Doten, Mrs. Geo. Saunders, M. Watts, sk. First Prize. H. Porter, Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. Mary McGrogan, W. Sanders sk. Second Prize.

Everybody must have been interested in the last Dominion election. In the riding of North York where there is on the voters' list 26,248 voters, 20,000 of them exercised their franchise on October 14. Out of the 6,148 who failed to vote, many were bed-ridden, temporarily ill, or out of the riding from one cause or another. Thus, it will be seen that but few people failed to use the privilege which is theirs to have a voice in the government of our Dominion.

In his anniversary message to the United Church congregation at Stouffville on Sunday morning, Rev. Dr. Thos. Mitchell of Ringwood declared in a message on the "Church of Tomorrow," that he would reverse the order of things so that there would be less preaching for the adult, and more for the children. In other words the Doctor would have two services devoted solely to the instruction of the child, while the men and women could get along nicely on one service. Dr. Mitchell would have them trained in the way they should go ere they came to maturity of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Urquhart of Owen Sound motored here to spend the weekend with his sister Miss May Urquhart.

On Monday evening the council instructed Mr. Weldon to have the colored lights in use on Sunday, Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings each week, and to arrange with the electrician to have them turned on. This will remove a long-standing complaint about the non-use of the colored lights when the store windows are in darkness on closed nights of the week.

The Junior Institute's concert, "Sonny-Jane" given by the Markham Dramatic Club in Stouffville on Friday evening, attracted a good crowd, and those present were unanimous in their approval of the play. Everybody seemed delighted with the talent displayed by the Markham players, twelve in number, while the comedy itself, unfolds an interesting and fascinating story.

Stouffville is a most accommodating centre, as Markham, our sister village will testify. When the task confronting them of cleaning up on all the foamy suds with the return of local option in Markham on Hallowe'en night it is said that a goodly number went down to help out with the house-cleaning operations. That the service of the visitors was effective can be imagined, but there wasn't a lot of booze to be run down the ditch, as was anticipated.
