HEPBURN WILL OPEN LEGISLATURE IN PERSON

(By The Watchman)

Toronto, January 29th—For the first time in the history of Ontario, a Session of the Provincial Legislature was postponed on the eve of opening because of the death of the Ruler of the British Empire. As token of their sorrow and in accordance with the period of mourning, the Ontario Cabinet postponed the special Session of the House called to deal with the Provincial Income Tax.

The death of the kindly monarch has changed the plans of the government in several respects. There will be no special session as planned and the Opening of the Legislature on Tuesday, February 11th, will be stripped of its social aspects. The legislators will plunge immediately into their work after the reading of the Speech from the Throne and the voicing of sorrow at the passing of the late King.

Acting Premier H. C. Nixon was to have led the government in the special session in the absence of Premier Hespburn. But with the change in plans, Premier Hespburn himself will be present when the House opens. This intimation was conveyed to his colleagues the other day. The Premier is suffering from a heavy cold but he is understood to have told Mr. Nixon that, notwithstanding his ill-health, he would be in his seat when the second session of the 19th Legislature gets under way. This news was received with enthusiasm by the rank and file of the Liberal membership, as well as by the cabinet ministers themselves.

Just how long the Premier will remain at the helm is most uncertain, in view of his state of health and his declaration some months ago that this session would be his last. Health permitting, he will stay on but it would seem as though this very question of his well-being will not be settled satisfactorily until he relinquishes the responsibilities of office.

"We are hoping for the best," one member of the cabinet said. "We need him at Queen's Park and I think the Province needs him even more."

Allegiance to the new King was sworn by the cabinet and the members of the Legislature will take new oaths when the House convenes. Legal documents have been changed to bear the name of King Edward the Eighth and over the Speaker's chair in the Chamber, the familiar "G.R." has been removed and "E.R." put in its place. Government stationery will be black-bordered for some months to come. The King is dead and his royal son rules and the Legislature of the Province of Ontario, together with Houses of Parliament and legislatures throughout the vast Empire, swear allegiance to the new occupant of the mighty throne.

THE JARVIS CASE AGAIN

Lapointe Decides to Let Ontario Jurists Sift Conflicting Views

"IN FAIRNESS TO ALL"

Ottawa, Jan. 24—Faced with the conflicting recommendations of the former attorney-general of Ontario and the present attorney-general for the province, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, federal minister of justice, has brought the Aemilius Jarvis case to a head by referring it to the appeal court of Ontario for judicial determination.

The following statement was issued from the office of the minister of justice, dealing with the case:

"The minister of justice has completed the review of the case of Aemilius Jarvis, which has been the subject of widespread discussion, more particularly in the press of Ontario. The minister took into account the many representations made to him, and in particular, the recent recommendation of the attorney-general of Ontario (Hon. Arthur Roebuck), who after prolonged investigation, advised the granting of a new trial. The minister has equally considered the fact that the former attorney-general (Hon. W. H. Price) opposed the granting of a new trial or any other remedial action.

"In the presence of these conflicting views held by the respective prosecuting authorities of the province, the minister of justice has come to the conclusion that the ends of justice would be well served by referring the whole matter to the appeal court of Ontario for judicial determination. He has, under his discretionary power, issued an order accordingly."

Hearing Next Month Salter Hayden, K.C., counsel Aemilius Jarvis, Sr., expects the hearing will take place before the end of February.

"In an ordinary appeal the material would have to be completed and filed before the end of January, to have the argument heard during February," he explained. "But where there is a direct reference by the minister of justice I believe the court of appeal will fix a date as soon as the reference has been transmitted from Ottawa."

"I am certainly pleased that action has been taken by the minister of justice," was Mr. Jarvis' observation. "This marks another stage in my effort to clear my name. But now that the matter is definitely before the courts again I do not believe I am at liberty to discuss it other than to express my gratitude at the opportunity to have the case reviewed in the light of the new circumstances which have been revealed by the further investigations."

Mr. Hayden is of the opinion that the appeal court will have before it at the hearing all the material available to the minister of justice and upon which the latter decided to refer the case to the court.

"This will probably include all the additional matter which was placed before the minister, and which was not available when the case was tried originally," Mr. Hayden stated. "I should think the court will have before it the report made by the Hon. Arthur Roebuck, attorney-general of Ontario, and the Hon. Ernest Lapointe. While this may not include all the evidence taken before the attorney-general in the inquiry he held, much of the evidence pertinent to the issue was incorporated in Mr. Roebuck's report, and will, I expect, be before the court when the case is argued. The evidence in the Peull trial, as well as all the various memoranda and affidavits presented to the minister of justice in the interval since the first trial should also be available for use at the hearing."

Jarvis, along with the late Peter Smith, former Ontario provincial treasurer, was convicted in October, 1924, of conspiracy to defraud the province in bond transactions. Jarvis was sentenced to six months in York county jail and Smith to three years in penitentiary. They were also ordered to pay jointly a fine of $600,000.

On appeal, Jarvis' fine was reduced to $60,000, but he had to make restitution of $140,000 profit on the bond deal with the Ontario government, out of which the charges arose. The fine against Smith was revised to $100,000.

THE OTHER SIDE OF LOW TAXES

At nomination meetings held a few weeks ago reports of rural municipalities brought out the financial standing of many townships in favorable contrast with those of towns and cities. We have noted a number of townships that show surpluses of $10,000 to $12,000 at the end of 1935.

Wide economy is creditable at all times and particularly in these days when economy is needed. But human nature is a peculiar thing. In all human conduct we are apt to swing from one extreme to the other extreme. Township Councils, hot on the scent of economy, sometimes lose sight of important considerations. The meagre salaries of competent township officials are cut to the marrow.

It is also easy to show a light expenditure for township roads and repairs when those important items are not kept up. Such a course is really extravagant in the end. Future years will have to pay up for it. You can't get "something for nothing" in this world. The ancient saying "Penny wise poud foolish," still applies.

LICENSES FOR MOTOR MECHANICS

Ontario bids fair to lead the rest of the Dominion in the matter of examining and licensing motor mechanics. The Garage Operators Association has interested the Provincial Government in the idea of bringing the repair trade under the apprenticeship Act, whereby a man would become a full-fledged journeyman in seven years. Men of five years' experience or more would be given tickets to start. Opinion of Ontario garagemen on the plan is now being obtained.
