BETHESDA

The one month's Short Course held in Stouffville ended on Friday with a big banquet in Ratcliff's Hall. All those who attended it from this district agree that it was a month very well spent.

The Jr. Institute meeting will be held at Mrs. Clifford Burkholder's on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 8th, when we will continue with our supper club project. Come and bring friends with you.

Despite the very cold weather and bad condition of many roads, there was a large crowd at Victor Appleton's farm stock sale on Tuesday and prices ruled high with A. S. Farmer, auctioneer, in charge. The sale totalled around $1800.

We were very fortunate to have Miss A. Steckley, a missionary on furlough from India to speak to us in our Sunday School last Sunday. She gave a very interesting talk, concerning the work there, dressed two girls up in native costume and showed some pictures, hand made articles and other things well known in the eastern country but strange and new to us.

A very sad funeral was held on Friday afternoon when the friends and relatives, gathered to pay their last respects to the late Mrs. Maitland Spence. Perhaps many would know her better as Verna Hare. She was ill only a very short time and her untimely death came on Tuesday night. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. McEwen assisted by Rev. T. Laidlaw, of Stouffville. Mr. Laidlaw presented a very comforting message around the subject, "All things work together for good." After the service, interment was at Stouffville cemetery. Pallbearers were: Donald Ratcliff, Harry Arthur and Fred Clendening Edward Wideman and Floyd Steckley. Our sincere sympathy goes to the young bereaved husband, and the tiny babe left without a mother.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this opportunity to thank the neighbors and friends, for the sympathy extended to us, and for the assistance rendered at the funeral especially referring to the kindly message given by Rev. Thos. Laidlaw all of which was greatly appreciated.

Maitland Spence
Mr. and Mrs. John Spence

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Mrs. Maitland Spence (Verna Hare) take this opportunity of thanking all the neighbors, friends and church folk, also the school for their beautiful flowers, and for their kindly sympathy and assistance rendered during the great sorrow we have just suffered, also for flowers sent my wife Mrs. Hare during her recent illness.

FLOWER LOVERS ANNUAL MEETING

In spite of bad weather conditions there was a very large attendance at the annual meeting of the local Horticultural Society held in Ratcliff's Hall, on Monday evening, and judging from the remarks on all sides at the close of the meeting all found the evening pleasant, profitable and very inspiring.

The business part of the meeting included minutes of last annual meeting by the Secretary, Miss M. Mertens, Financial Report by Mrs. T. B. Rae, Directors' Report by Miss Eva Hoover, presentation of Nominating Committee's Report by Mrs. B. Doten, and suggestions for 1936 activities by the President, Mr. H. O. Klinck. Reports indicate an active year in 1935, with the best Annual Flower Show in the history of the society. Interspersed throughout this part of the program were piano selections by Harold Blackburn and a reading by Miss Edith Borinsky.

Then followed the illustrated address on the Peace Garden by the guest of the evening, Mr. H. Moore, who, when introduced by the President as the recent recipient of a signal honor, an Associateship of the Royal Horticultural Society of Great Britain, an honor conferred upon no other Canadian—was given a rousing handclap by his audience. Mr. Moore, after outlining the aims and ideals, the struggles and difficulties of the Peace Garden movement, led his hearers step by step into a fuller appreciation of the vast possibilities for good in such a great "spiritual" international memorial, far removed from great centres of population, over 90,000 people assembled and 15,000 automobiles were massed in the great parking area. Warm praise was given to Pres. Roosevelt and the U.S. people generally in the providing of trained men and large grants of money to promote the work. The Women's Institutes of Canada received a special round of applause for their spirit in providing a garden representative of the nine provinces and endowing it for perpetual maintenance. Space forbids the writer of this article to even attempt to convey the enthusiasm so evident in Mr. Moore; suffice it to say he leaves in Stouffville a large number, who will be enthusiastic in the enlarging influence of this great monument for Peace, this true expression of practical applied Christianity.

After Mr. Moore's address the audience shifted into groups to partake of the abundant refreshments provided, while a number took advantage of the occasion to pay the necessary dollar and enrol as members of the Stouffville Horticultural Society.

Following is the list of officers for 1936:

STOCK CLOVER

Seed Price Lowest in 20 Years, Demand Due, Says Official

Farmers in Toronto district, especially in good clover districts such as Halton, Peel and York counties, should take advantage of low clover prices this year to restock their land, J. B. Smith, director of the seeds branch at the provincial department of agriculture, told a newspaper reporter. Future prices will probably be good for both seeds and hay, he forecast.

"General clover prices are lower than they have been in 20 years," he stated. "The clover on the market is good home-grown seed and I would strongly advise farmers to take advantage of the opportunity to sow plenty of it. During recent years farmers have been taking all they can get out of the soil, failing to put back the essential elements which legumes provide."

"This serious mistake can be corrected this year with a good possibility of unusual cash returns. While the reciprocal agreements with U.S. helped little this year, they probably will raise the price of seed next year. Cattle will be in greater demand, which will increase the demand for hay."

"The only clover which we anticipate will be high in price is alsike, which is scarce. Timothy, red clover—Blue grass and alfalfa are quite plentiful."

ESTIMATE ONTARIO HAS ONE CAR TO EVERY 6.4 PEOPLE

An analysis of the percentage of car population in the five marketing zones in Canada shows Ontario leading with one car for every 6.4 people and an average per capita gasoline sales of 77 gallons, which means that, on this basis, the gas tax represents a contribution of $4.62 for each individual. This of course, divides the tax among everyone, whereas, in reality, it is paid for by the one out of every 6.4 in the province who owns the motor vehicle.

Statistical analysis for the other market zones shows British Columbia with one car for every 7.7 people per capita sales of gas 57 gallons; per capita gas tax $3.99.

Quebec: One car for every 17 people; per capita sales of gas 36 gallons; per capita gas tax $2.16.

Prairies: One car for every 9.3 people; per capita sales of gas 41 gallons; average per capita gas tax $2.87.

Maritimes: One car for every 12.2 people; per capita sales of gas 32 gallons; average per capita tax $2.56.
