Deceased was a member of the First Construction Battalion in the World War. His funeral was held in Toronto and was attended by a number of relatives and friends of Uxbridge Township.

his family and a number of his grandchildren. Although 90 years young Mr. Evans has lost none of his happy, cheerful disposition of former years. He is still able to go about the village and call on his old friends who are always pleased to see him. Of recent years his hearing has become impaired so that he can no longer enjoy the church services. These he seldom missed in former years, being one of the oldest members of the Baptist Church and also one of its faithful workers Tuesday he received felicitations from many relatives and friends, fellows to say that "the longest-way round is the sweetest way home, but that refers to a warm summer evening with the right person for company. Now suppose it was one of those awful stormy nights such as we experienced last week, with snowbanks high and sub-zero weather tingling in your ears. Well, that is the situation which faced one of our young men who attempted to drve home from Toronto through the storm. Unable to make the grade on the 4th concession, he went over to the 8th through Markham village only to find the road blocked to Ringwood, but nothing daunted he rambled all the way back to Yonge street and attempted to enter the home precincts across the townline over the high hills and dales. Midway on the journey the car stalled in a hopeless manner, and our citizen left it on the road in disgust but just before he came into Gormley he remembered the water was not run off the car and he had to retrace his steps or face a badly broken radiator later. Back he plodded, and then to home and bed. Was he glad? Perhaps, but that's not the end of the story. The storm raged for a couple of days and he allowed the car to remain where he left it so far as he was concerned. However, Constable Sid Barraclough, of Richmond Hill got word that a car had been abandoned on the Gormley townline, and he had it hauled to Richmond Hill awaiting an owner, believing it belonged to someone who had been robbed of his chariot. The real owner appeared in due course and paid $3 to get his car, and thus end a story which reads like a nightmare.

Those who have occasion to travel the 4th concession from Gormley north or south, are wonder-Its all very well for the young ling why their road is so neglected and left blocked with snow for days after other roads are opened with the snow plow. The Tribune has been asked to call attention to the Mar apparent neglect of this particular piece of highway under the jurisdiction of the Toronto & York Road Commission.

Councillor George Leary of Gorm- Gla ley, said, "I am at a loss to know why our road, a busy highway was neglected so long. The townline was opened to Yonge street, and to Stouffville but our farmers on the 4th were left behind the snowbanks. I think something should be done to ensure the same treatment as is given other sections."

The public school south of Gormley was closed because the road was not opened this paper was informed, but reopened on Monday morning when the trustees sent out word to reopen.
