

CREAM

To prove our oft time-repeated contention that farmers are finding it more profitable to ship their cream to us than to make butter themselves, we quote the following information from the Dominion Department of Horticulture Extension Branch to show that increasing numbers of farmers are giving up the buttermaking business and thus the creamery butter trade is growing into greater figures the report says:

"The amount of Creamery Butter produced in Canada during January and February, 1936, was 17,339,110 pounds, an increase of 15.1 per cent compared with 15,065,919 pounds produced in January and February, 1935."

FARM INFORMATION

siderable plowing has been done already. Warmer weather and showers during the past week have helped the crop outlook immeasurably, with spring seeding under way in most districts. First spray has been applied in numerous fruit areas and orchards are receiving their first cultivation. Lincoln County reports that potatoes have been planted on lighter soils below the escarpment and considerable acreage of head lettuce and early cabbage, beets and onions transplanted. A big increase in the demand for head lettuce is anticipated there. Brant County reports the recent sale of two carloads of Holstein cattle at a fairly good price. Horses are still in good demand there, the best horses selling as high as $250. Down in Grenville County American buyers shipped two carloads of Holsteins, with prices ranging from $85 for top grades to $125 for purebreds.

Sheep-Dipping Time
In recent years there has been a remarkable improvement in the wool clip of Canada, due in a large measure to regular dipping of the sheep and more careful feeding methods. There are two external parasites common to sheep, namely ticks and lice. Sheep ticks are recognized as being the most common pest, but both ticks and lice cause serious loss of wool and give the flock a very unsightly appearance. These pests sap the vitality of the ewe flock and young lambs, reducing their condition. In slightly affected flocks the ravages of the pests are not so evident, but cases have been known where death has resulted through heavy infestation. Dipping is the precaution and cure.

Dipping time, or at least the best time for dipping, has arrived because sheep should be treated immediately after shearing. Nowadays, with the advent of modern arsenic powder dips, dipping in a simple tank and all necessary information is easily obtainable from the Dominion and Provincial Departments of Agriculture and from the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers. For a small flock it is not necessary to construct an elaborate dipping plant. A barrel large enough to hold sufficient liquid to immerse a sheep will answer the purpose. A small trough, say 6 inches long, 20 inches deep, 20 inches wide at the bottom, and 24 inches wide at the top has proved its efficiency on many occasions, and a small draining platform can be built without trouble, where the dipped sheep can be allowed to stand for a few minutes until the dip drains out of the fleece and back into the dipping utensil. In the case of an odd sheep where there is no flock and no tank available, dusting with insect powders specially manufactured for the purpose has proven effective but requires time and patience. Any kind of insect powder will not do.

STRUCK WATER!

At a depth of 230 feet water has been located on the property of the Stouffville Creamery. It will require a pump to be brought to the surface but the supply is expected to be ample, and very cold, which is after all what is being sought for. Cold water is essential to the creamery business, otherwise the town domestic water would suffice.

The circumstances surrounding the murder on March 1, of Councilor Edwin Stonehouse and the wounding of his son James, while defending their garage against three bandits, are now under closer scrutiny than ever. The theory that "Red" Ryan, shot to death Saturday night, while robbing a liquor store in Sarnia, may have been one of the three is occupying the police.
"Yes, I am working on the case still, from this end, but at present have no statement for publication," was the comment of Chief Constable Cecil Walker of Markham, who followed the bandits in the face of a shower of bullets, but finally lost trace of the car, in which they fled toward Yonge Street on that fateful night of March 1.

In Memoriam
Also—in loving memory of a dear husband and father, Hiram Alsop who passed away, May 26th, 1935.
Time speeds on one year has passed Since death its gloom, its shadow cast.
Within our home where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will; His vacant place there is none can fill.
But trust in God to meet again,
Loving and kind in all his ways.
Upright ad just to the end of his days;
Sincere and kind in heart and mind,
What a beautiful memory he left behind.
