The new markers for 1937 are gradually appearing in town, although always on a new or near new car. The antique gas cans will surely look quite pepped up when they become adorned with the red markers and the Imperial Crown, which will give a new flash to them, but new markers or old, well, "the old gray mare, she ain't what she used to be."

We notice that Telf. Rennie's truck is doing business as usual despite the exaggerated stories about it having been almost destroyed by falling over a bridge. Fact is, the truck did turn completely over passing over the bridge on the farm of Lloyd Turner when the bridge timbers gave. Twenty-two pigs were dumped out and went helter-skelter everywhere like a pile of leaves before a high wind. Their squealing could be heard for a long way, but finally they were rounded up, when truck, driver, and porkers were on their way. However, Telf says he is not anxious for another experience of this nature, pigs or no pigs.

Swerving to avoid a couple of pedestrians, Mrs. S. W. Hastings driving from town Saturday evening to her home at Lemonville, side-swapped a car coming east from Ringwood and driven by Albert Myland, then struck a second car driven by Bert Wallace of Unionville. Wallace was turned over in the ditch, but he and his wife escaped with only minor bruises. Mrs. Hastings was taken from her car which had turned completely around on the road in an unconscious condition, and remained in a state of coma for several hours. Fortunately she suffered only from shock and minor bruises. A fourth car almost figured in the accident when Jerry Sibley's came to a dead stop at the rear of the Hastings car just in time to avoid further trouble. The people walking on the road were reported to be Charlie Dadson and his wife. Visibility was very poor on Saturday evening and a second accident happened about the same time near Unionville when two cars swipped each other then turned over.

Everybody is invited to this service.

An article on page 4 of this issue taken from the magazine School Progress is worthy of the attention of every ratepayer in town and country. It visualizes Stouffville as a school centre which takes in a district of six miles in every direction, and holds that the establishment of such a district is a means of solving the high school tax rate, and providing better facilities for those now in the smaller schools. The article is instructive and most interesting.

It seems to be well known, that last Saturday afternoon Gladys Irene Hogg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hogg, Holt, became the wife of Wilbert Morton, son of Rev. and Mrs. E. Morton, Stouffville. The wedding took place in the Olivet Congregational Christian Church, Toronto, where there was a good gathering of friends. After being "across the line" for a week, Wilbert and his beloved wife will make their home in Oakwood, where he has been in the plumbing and tinmith business for more than a year. They have the good wishes of their many friends.

By Christmas the York Rangers will cease to exist as a regiment so far as York County is concerned. The regimental name is to be perpetuated by its being added to "The Queen's 1st American Regiment."

Aurora has been the regimental headquarters through the orderly room has been in Toronto near the county council chambers, Adelaide street, east. The regiment's present colours are the gift of the County Council and hang over the warden's dais when the council is in session. Since its formation, the regiment has had an Aurora company which originated with the old volunteer unit raised in 1866. That company's silver bugle and flag presented to the Aurora Company on their return from the front in 1866 are among the regimental treasures now to be dispersed.

TORONTO FLASHES

Goodwood and District in Particular

When we were informed the other day that our friend William Robinson was not in the best of health, our thoughts travelled back to the history of the highly respected family of Goodwood. We think of his father long gone, the late Thomas Robinson when the family lived where George Stewart now holds forth. Then we think of William's sister Mrs. Bewell of Unionville. What a faithful church worker, always in her place at the Methodist Sabbath School in those days. She was our Sunday School teacher and must have had considerable to do with moulding character for us and we admire her.

Hanging in the room of the scribe are three pictures which bring back days of yore in and around old Goodwood. One of these photos shows the rear of the Methodist Church of years ago, at a time when I count over 150 persons living in the village, not to boast a brass band. A few of these faces flash across my mind and you will remember them for they include: Joseph Henderson, Robt. Wagg, Isaac Wagg, John Whittleton, John Brown, David Watson, the Stafford boys, Isaac Shaver, the Stouffer brothers, and many more. Turning to the ladies we might mention the Collins sisters, Miss Mary Stafford, and Mrs. George Lee and sister Mrs. H. Plumerfelt. Turning to the second picture we see the old frame school with the teacher as none other than Duncan Hubbard who taught from 80 to 100 pupils who mostly attended only in the winter regularly. The third picture reveals four men standing on the hand car or pumper of section No. 7, G.T.R. And who are they—first we brought to the memory of the late Wellington Pearson and the late James Davey, father of the Scribe for Toronto Flashes. Still with us are our good friends Daniel Baker of Markham, and George Lee of Jones Avenue. Sweet memories burn when the old men were young men, and we were just boys.

Well, Dad and the boys will be reading up the sports now from the Maple Leaf Gardens and if perchance you read the Evening Telegram, just remember that Bunnie Morgason is one of the quill pushers and that's enough to know. We enjoy the Gardens and here's our hope on the new Maple Leaf additions. Keep an eye on Alfs, Fowler, and Davidson and that new goal Broda. They are all weighty chaps with youth on their side.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lee called at the Robinson homestead on Sunday. Sorry to hear our friend Mr. Wm. Robinson is not in the best of health. Hope he will soon be up and around again.

The Davey family motored out on Sunday to view the Foster Memorial Mosque.

Armistice Day services on Nov. 8, were well attended in the city churches at St. Clements Church, Jones Ave., in the morning Chief Draper placed a wreath on the memorial tablet. Veterans and the Toronto Police Band were in attendance. In the evening the church was crowded to hear Rev. John Bushell former Rector of this church, Several Stouffville and Uxbridge Twp friends were present at these services.

One more Toronto reader has his name on the Tribune subscribers list this week. Yes, just to read how the folks are doing out home. And to you who each week correspond to this newsy paper, keep up the good work. Let's know what is on your mind.

Miss Ivy Knight visited her parents in Uxbridge. Miss Knight is one of the many young ladies who delights in going back to the old home town.

Glad to say that Mrs. Lang Blueman has improved in health and is now able to be up and around again.

Several motors wended their way to Uxbridge filled with folk of former days there. Sunday was the Anniversary of St. Paul's Anglican Church. Canon Plumtree formerly of St. James Cathedral was booked for the morning service, and Bishop Beverly for the evening service.

Our friend Mr. Fines, Jeweller on Main St., Newmarket, is getting ready for his Christmas trade adding new display cases and a fine stock of gifts for Christmas. Most everybody knows Mrs. Fine, who before her marriage was Daisy Morgason, of Goodwood—Christmas shoppers visiting Newmarket will receive a warm welcome from your friends.

Mr. Gleason and Mr. Morrison from the district of Sloom called on some of our Goodwood friends here this week. Potatoes no doubt was the main topic.

How many of our readers remember the third item of the Toronto Flashes column of last week's issue of the Tribune? Just hunt up that paper once more and read it over. This bargain friends is from our Editor at Stouffville and he has passed it on to the correspondent, and I now pass it on to all our friends here in Toronto. The Tribune to December 31, 1937 for $2—Nuff said.

Mrs. E. J. Hill, son Hearly and wife, visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Davey on Sunday.

Toronto Calling Goodwood—Yes we would like to talk to Harper, the Potato King—Just think folks. Two loads brought to the scribe and still looking for another load to fill the orders. You know folks Uxbridge and Whitchurch Township's potatoes need no advertising—One look at the bag with the sand rolling off and that's enough and folks one store alone wished to place an order for one hundred bags. So we may not know our onions, but we know potatoes.

IT'S DESIRABLE

There's only one way of finding out how desirable our pastry is. Take a cake—try a pie and you'll say "This is fine." When you're fed by our bread you will say "This for mine." All of the products of our bakery enjoy a first-class family-reputation.
