Find Outlawed Weed in Town of Uxbridge

Unknown to the town authorities until their attention was drawn to it by a local resident, patches of deadly marijuana weed have been found growing in a vacant lot just a stone's throw from the Main Street of Uxbridge.

W.F. Greig, local lawyer there reported the existence of what he thought was marijuana to Constable Vesey, and samples were sent to the Provincial Police in Toronto. The analysis showed that they had surmised correctly, and it is estimated that the lot contains about $2,000 worth.

The property where the weed was found has been in the hands of the receivers since June. Local authorities have notified the R.C.M.P. and officers are expected in Uxbridge immediately.

It is not known whether the weed was planted deliberately or just happened to grow there. The police will investigate this phase of the case in an attempt to learn whether any person has tried to raise a crop.

The weeds are growing as high as seven feet on a large mound of earth which had been moved from Uxbridge Athletic Field a year ago. However no sign of the weed was found on the athletic grounds. Constable Vesey was inclined to attach some suspicion to the fact that the weeds appeared in separate patches, among which no other weeds were noticeable.

Marijuana cigarettes, outlawed in Canada and the U.S.A. are a compound of the leaves and seeds of the plant.

Marriages

Brown—Pollock

The marriage was solemnized in Hope United Church of Jean Pollock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Pollock of Toronto, to Chas. Brown, of Stouffville, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Brown.

Rev. C. M. Curtis officiated, against a background of gladioli—A Comer played the wedding music and Margaret Thompson sang. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white taffeta made on princess lines with a slight train. Her full length veil was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms and her bouquet was Johanna Hill roses. The bridesmaid, Betty Pollock, was attired in peach net over taffeta with trimming of turquoise blue and matching doll's hat. Her flowers were pink roses.

Jean and Joan Heaton, twin nieces of the bride, were flower girls. They wore Kate Greenaway frocks of pink taffeta and carried nosegays of pink roses.

Thomas Davis attended the groom and the ushers were William Pollock and Clarence. A reception was held at the home of the bride where Mrs. Pollock received in gray crepe dress with blue accessories. Mrs. Brown also received wearing black sheer with matching accessories. After the reception the couple left on a motor trip up North, the bride travelling in a modish midnight blue knitted suit with matching accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Brown will make their home in Mongolia, Ontario

Makes Grand Catch

Morgan Baker, M.P.P. may be regarded as a good fisherman when it comes to gathering in the votes as past records indicate, but his prowess on the real "finny" tribe was established last week when he went north for a short holiday, and hauled out a fish weighing 15 1-2 pounds—It was a beautiful catch, and to make sure that it was no fisherman's dream, the member for North York had his catch photographed.

WAR TALK EVERYWHERE!

This has been one of the most difficult weeks of the year for gathering news. The threat of war in Europe overshadows almost everything else, and wherever we contact a few men together "war" is the all absorbing question. It may be upon us before this appears in print, but so long as it is held off there is always the glimmer of hope. Saturday is the "dead" line set by Germany to come to terms with Czechoslovakia, but the plucky little nation is not giving up their country, or any part of it with out fair arrangement made about boundaries and the future integrity of the nation

Must Stand Trial

Continued from page one spread to the other buildings?" "No, I don't think that could have happened. I believe they were two separate fires." Culverwell said he did not smell oil on a carpet hauled from annex No. 3, but they just could not get the blaze out.

Harry Sanders, stated that he was joint owner with his brother of the property in question. He estimated total damage between $8,000 and $9,000. He was in his own cottage on the night of the fire, and was aroused by someone shouting fire at his door. He didn't see anyone around the fire when he ran out. The Beach House had been closed for the season and he could suggest nothing there that might start a blaze. Referring to the accused he said Arthur probably felt he should be running the business, but he had had no real trouble with him very recently. Mr. Sanders said there positively was no chance for the first fire to start the second.

Alfred Thomas, employee at Lakeview said he had prepared sketches of the buildings which were all admitted as exhibits at request of the Fire Marshall. He had talked with the accused about 9.30 on the night of the fire. "Was he sober?" asked N. L. Matthews, prosecuting lawyer. "I wouldn't say he was drunk. He was not quite normal on his feet."

Thomas said the toilet at the Beach house had been nailed up for the season by himself, but at the fire he noticed it was open—Accused frequently complained against the way the hotel was conducted but Thomas could not relate any definite conversation along this line.

Miss Helen Rowbotham, hostess, at Lakeview, corroborated much of the previous evidence about where the fire was first seen, and of the strained relations between the accused and the owners.

Mr. Kenneth Stiver defended Sanders who was brought into court by a constable, he having been in custody since the fire marshal's investigation when he could not raise the bail demanded. Sanders will remain in custody until his case comes up at the fall assizes Court. Fire Marshall E. Jordan was present throughout the hearing which lasted a couple of hours, and he frequently conferred with N. L. Matthews acting crown attorney.
