Mrs. Arthur Martin of Winnipeg and Mrs. William Taylor of Toronto were recent visitors with their aunts the Misses Daley.

The rural municipalities didn't cancel relief to those able to work any too soon. A Victoria Square farmer (one of the best) advertised for a single man offering steady work, and he didn't get an answer.

Cassidy who was killed in a motor accident last winter near Agincourt. The new proprietor is conducting a small animal hospital in conjunction with the business and is meeting with considerable success. He had varied experience doing small animal work at Dearborn, Michigan.

Announcement has been made recently by D. J. Taylor, Deputy Minister of the Provincial Department of Game and Fisheries, that speckled and brown trout season will be open in Ontario on Saturday, April 29th. This will give local sportsman an extra week-end of angling for these spry fish, as in former years the opening date was May 1st.

Last Saturday Mr. Earl Howsam, miller at Altona, was in Sunderland attending the funeral of a cousin, the late George Beall of Ottawa, one time butcher in the Brock Township capital. Mr. Beall who was in his 72nd year, was very prominent as a race horse man, and owned several outstanding racers in his day. He was a shrewd judge of horse flesh, and his death will be learned with regret among the many people who knew him throughout the northern district. Mr. Howsam officiated as one of the pall bearers at the largely attended funeral which took place to Sunderland cemetery.

As fine weather and better roads are gradually coming to be a fact once again we notice many of our old friends in town who have not been in the village very much from their country homes during the severe season through which we have just passed. "Yes, it has been quite a while since I was in town," said Mrs. Henry Talbot when in The Tribune Office to renew their paper for another year. Mr. and Mrs. Talbot have been residents of Whitchurch for 33 years, and are well known in the southern part of the municipality. It is 53 years now since they were made man and wife. Mr. Talbot has never been idle since the day he landed in this country to secure work on the farm. The first thing he did was to walk from house to house, and he was soon taken on by a pioneer farmer near Toronto. This same determination to get a job is not always so pronounced today.

The regular monthly meeting of the Stouffville Veterans will be held on Monday, May 1st, at 8 p.m.

Mrs. A. Whittingstall who has been ill at the home of her son Albert in Toronto, for over six weeks, is expected to return to her home here in Stouffville on Sunday. Mrs. Whittingstall suffered a slight stroke recently. Mr. and Mrs. Whittingstall residents on Main Street, east, will celebrate their 52nd wedding anniversary next Monday, May 1st.

Local merchants can certainly look with pride at our fine wide thoroughfare, now that it is in process of receiving its first spring cleaning. It is certainly an inducement to business and motorists who pass through some of the narrow gauge mercantile corridors of other towns, must feel that here is a town that has the countenance of a real shopping centre.

The 5th annual banquet of the Markham Township Veterans' Association was staged in the Church Hall, Markham this Wednesday evening. The guest speaker Col. C. E. Reynolds, D.S.O., M.C., spoke on the subject "The Youth of Canada." Among the other notables present were Col. Wm. Mulock, Major Condie, Rev. S. Lambert and Sir Wm. Mulock.

Dr. Thos. Mitchell declared that the church of today suffered from an inferiority complex and failed to assert her real power in the world, in a masterful sermon delivered in the United Church on Sunday morning. He reviewed historical facts recorded down through the ages, leading up to the tragic situation confronting humanity today. Dr. Mitchell said he favored everybody linking up with the New Commonwealth, a society for the promotion of international law and order. Security through a tribunal for the purpose of settling disputes and a police force to uphold international law and order, are highpoints in the Commonwealth program. The speaker declared that if the church could assert her power throughout the world, war could never go on, but unfortunately like many individuals this greatest of all organizations fails to realize its potential strength.

The Studio Club held their meeting at the home of their teacher Mr. T.W. Eagleson, Toronto on Friday evening last. The president was in the chair, and after the business meeting, a most interesting musical program was given by some of the members. Those taking part included: Dorothy Flannery, Campbell Pearson, Lois Naimsmith, Amy Marie Rogers, Mary Henderson, Margaret Pearson and Murray Oster. Marguerite Bispham gave a talk on the life and works of Henry Purcell. A guest of the evening, Elizabeth Rogers, sang two groups of songs, delightfully accompanied at the piano by her twin sister Amy Marie. After the program games and contests and refreshments followed. As this was the final meeting for this season, the president Mary Henderson thanked all who had helped in making the members successful, also Mr. Eagleson for the use of his home.

The action of so many so-called veteran organizations going through the town calling from door to door asking for goods for broken-down comrades points to some sort of racket going on at the expense of the genuine organizations. No less than three collectors called at one house on Church street in one day, and when the second and third were advised that someone had called ahead of them, they claimed no one had any right to do this but themselves. In other words each collector maintained that he was the only authorized collector for some worthwhile agency. These alleged war veterans usually come to town with a truck and gather anything from mattresses to salt and pepper shakers. No one knows where the goods go to, and until such times as reasonable proof is produced the racket should be stopped. It is believed that some of these collectors sell the goods, and that is their game. It might be well for the police to step in on the next lot of collectors that are set loose over the village.

Mrs. Stephens, Miss Robb and mother Mrs. Robb have returned from their holiday in Florida.

Mrs. Sarah Cook is again at her home in Goodwood, prepared to do practical nursing. Thoroughly experienced.

like best." And of course there's a real highpowered love story along with it supplied by a millionaire's son, Jimmy Stewart and Jean Arthur, just a hard-working girl.

At the last meeting of the Women's Christian Union which was addressed by Rev. W. E. Smalley, attention was called to a speech made in the legislature by T. B. Murray, Liberal member for Renfrew, when he warned that the young people who are drinking today would be no good when they reach 35. The bloom will be off, he said, and they will be looking for help from the government. Rev. Smalley put in a strong plea for maintenance of our liquor laws. Too often we hear they should be repealed because this or that law is broken. Every other law is broken, but we would not think of letting down. After all the law only restrains, it does not change the heart, said the speaker. Mr. Smalley cited numerous things which contribute to make the liquor laws difficult to enforce, but he prophesied that temperance would win out in the long run.

Seeding will commence in this district next week.
