Teacher Honored by Students and Friends

A very fine demonstration of the love and loyalty for one of the staff, was shown Miss Ethel Hogg, last Friday afternoon when the student body and the members of the staff of the Continuation School combined to express their appreciation of this estimable teacher who is soon retiring from the profession with such a happy and fine record. On behalf of the students Miss Hogg was presented with a beautiful and elaborate silver tray which will be suitably engraved. The formal presentation was made by Miss Phyllis Winn, while Bill Tranmer read a splendid address. It was the final meeting of the Literary Society for the year and a large attendance witnessed the happy event, although as the address read, Miss Hogg's departure from the school was not without a tinge of regret, but the students bow to the inevitable where in this case the teacher will transfer all her love and affection on one man, lucky boy!

On another occasion the girls of the C.G.I.T. assembled at the home of Principal and Mrs. L. C. Murphy when Miss Hogg was presented with a handsome electric clock by the Guides accompanied by a suitable address.

A buffet luncheon and bathroom shower was also tendered Miss Hogg on Monday evening at the home of Miss Gertrude Todd by a group of friends.

BREAKS LEG AT CAMP MEETING
On Sunday night, while walking outside the tabernacle at Pike's Peak, Mrs. Fred Hoover, of Newmarket, fell over one of the ropes supporting the tent and broke her leg. She was assisted to their car, and, instead of attending the meeting as intended, she found herself forced into a painful drive to the doctor's office.

A WARNING NOTICE
Several complaints have been made against motorists who raced ahead of the fire truck running to the Bodendistel fire last Friday. This is an offence against the law, and as the practise has been complained against before, the only way to stop it, is to make an example of the next offender. The matter was brought up at council meeting Monday evening, and roundly condemned. A tip to the wise should be sufficient.

The Editor of The Tribune and another old Uxbridge boy Oswald Lee enjoyed a happy half hour together on Saturday afternoon. The two had not met for more than 20 years when they were both in the printing business in their native town. Evidently the old saying that once you get a snuff of printer's ink in your nostrils, you must always have it there, for both these old boys are still in the printing or publishing business. Oswald Lee was employed on the old Uxbridge Journal.

CONTENTED COWS GIVE MORE MILK
Lloyd Turner's choice herd of milch cows producing over five cans of milk per day, dropped off half a can in their production over Sunday night. They were in the pasture, but the undue cold for them held up the usual good production to a noticeable degree.
"I never realized that it was so cold out, and so windy, or the cows would have been stabled Sunday evening," said Mr. Turner.

FORMER PASTORS FOR VALEDICTORY SERVICE

Many former worshippers at Bloomington are likely to wend their way back to the little white frame church next Sunday afternoon for the farewell and closing service there after three-quarters of a century of service. At this time numerous former pastors will be present, including Rev. Jas. Aikenhead, Rev. J. Coulter, both of Toronto, Rev. H. Warren of Aurora, and Rev. H. Lee and Mrs. D. E. Jones.
It is expected that an old-time choir of voices heard there many years ago will assemble. The committee are anxious to see all former church members and adherents of the congregation rally for this valedictory closing out of this charge on the Lemonville circuit.
