TORONTO-FLASHES

Mrs. Heilley and daughter Lois are at Musselman's Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Feaster visited in Niagara Falls recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Lageer attended the Glover reunion at Richmond Hill on Civic Holiday. Miss Dora Todd has been holidaying at Windermere, Muskoka.

Mr. and Mrs. Hedley Hill of Newmarket are visiting in Haliburton.

After spending a week in the city Mrs. E. J. Hill has returned to her home in Newmarket.

George Morganson, one of the oldest persons to attend the Godwood Sports Day is now holidaying at the home of his brother Jake in Norval, Ont.

Mrs. David Seebeck of Brougham visited No. 8 Stanton this week. Glad to see old friends. They also called on the Armstrong families.

Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Smalley were Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. R. Feasby. Those township folk are sure a sociable lot, and we like to see it that way.

Dr. Helen McKinley, specialist at the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto, was the guest of Miss Ann Davey at Alderney Wood Cottage, Lake Simcoe this weekend.

Mrs. G. A. McMullen has returned home after a visit with her son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Gilmore of Ottawa. From there Mrs. McMullen accompanied them to Atlantic City and the World's Fair at New York.

We again extend birthday greetings, this time to Samuel Bacon, John Evans, Evelyn Bryan, Ross, James, Allard, Walter Taylor, George Bessie and H. Brown all of Uxbridge township and Miss Leone Lazenby of Ballantrae.

That advertisement inserted calling for a property to rent brought 21 answers, so friends the small adlets in The Tribune sure bring results never dreamed of. The advertiser has made his choice securing a satisfactory place.

Fred Middleton took first prize in the bean guessing contest at Goodwood on the holiday. This councilman sure knows his beans. He was only 32 out from the actual number Mrs. Sheehy came second in the contest.

Ages were thrown to the four winds on Sports Day. Our old friend Calvin Stafford paraded to the grounds abreast of the Flash Correspondent and kept right in the line. Yes siree, we were all young again.

In order to get our news budget in last week on some of the high lights of the big day, Chas. Nolan, made two trips from Stouffville during the day to receive from us some of these items. He then had to cover other places where things were happening too.

Goodwood's future residents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Butler will locate in the home town on October 1st. Having been delayed to oversee some engineering work they will remain in Wellington, Ont., a little longer than was expected.

Well, folks, the old familiar song, "After the Ball is Over," comes to mind just now, only we are saying "After the Parade." Tired is no name for our condition, but happy, yes.

As I sit on the lake front here at the summer home, I'm in for a bit of a ramble. First I think we owe a debt of thanks to The Tribune for their endless push given the Sports Day, and for the entertainment provided at Stouffville to all the guests as they passed through from Toronto. On our return trip in the evening we all sang and when nearing the city the writer thanked all on board for their co-operation, the musicians too and the driver of the bus. Near the end Miss Young, deaconess, asked the musicians aboard to strike up "Bless be the Tie that Binds," and our hearts fairly bubbled over as we sang. Now for a word about the day, still not said or written about—Wasn't that parade a dandy. The little tots with the doll buggies, the decorated hats and all, and even though a bit late due to the big crowd being hard to marshal, it went fine. The juvenile band the little farmer with his barrow won the hearts. Only three entered names for the biggest family contest two being tied at seven each, Mrs. Howard Harper, Mrs. A. Taylor, then Mrs. H. Elson with four. There were 127 people signed the register and eighteen of them won boxes of chocolates and eleven won other gifts just for signing up. We want our friends to keep an eye on Councillor Fred for he won a bottle of hair tonic, and we're suspecting he will be all slicked up and folks won't understand what's up. Mrs. David Watson of Stouffville we are proud to say, won a prize, and she told us she though it was the first thing she ever won. Anyhow that's the spirit and a little fun is good for all. Here is a list of the bus passengers from Toronto: Mr. and Mrs. William Tucker and daughter, Mrs. Brown, sr., and Miss Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Brown, Mr. Marshall, Miss Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. O. Armstrong, Mrs. J. Hodgins, Wm. Bateman and daughter Miss Mary Young, Mr. and Mrs. C. Turff, the McBeths and two girl friends, Stanley the accordion player, Frank Wickenden and friend, Mrs. David Seebeck, also the juggler and map-man who were on the evening program.

Among the holiday visitors in Goodwood is reported: Mrs. R. Bryan of Aurora, E. Disney of Oshawa, Mrs. P. Baston of Toronto, Mrs. Nellie Taylor, Newmarket, Gladys Rose Mount Albert and Mrs. Della Rose of Newmarket, also Miss Doreen Dunlop, Toronto and scores of others.

Goodwood lacked for nothing, and folks were good enough to tell us that our humble assistance held the day a lot. Anyway the turnout was twice as large as we hoped for. Wishing to hand out all the gifts before folks got into the park caused a slight delay. There were a lot of them including four reed trays, 2 1-2 dozen jockey hats, 2 1-2 dozen linen sailor hats, dozen bottles of perfume, dozen powder boxes puffs, 144 rulers, 100 packages Spearmint gum, 24 boxes Moir's chocolates, and other gifts.

Sunday School Lesson

Lesson For August 20
BEVERAGE ALCOHOL AND THE COMMUNITY

Golden Text—Woe unto him that giveth his neighbour drink THE LESSON AS A WHOLE
Convivial drinking has always been a great curse. Men will go to extremes in company with their boon companions in a way they seldom do when alone. If all taverns where people gather promiscuously for drinking purposes were closed, it is questionable if the liquor business could survive. When our politicians called upon the citizens of the United States to vote for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, they promised that the old-time saloon would never be allowed to return and that the corruption that once characterized liquor selling and liquor consumption would never again be tolerated in America. Their promises have all been broken brazenly, and we have far worse conditions prevailing today than ever before. The conditions which brought about the downfall of Babylon and other ancient cities are being repeated on every hand. It is surely high time for all Christians to stand firmly against a system which has proved over and over again that it is not amendable to law or concerned about the ruin for which it is responsible.

The Historical Setting
Joel describes the breakdown of morale in Judah, because of drunkenness, in the eighth century before Christ, probably in the reign of Joash. The scene described in Daniel 5 occurred at the close of Belshazzar's wicked reign as co-king of Babylon in 538 B.C.

Verse by Verse:
Joel 1:5—"Awake, ye drunkards, and weep." A cruel enemy had crossed the borders of the land and was about to descend upon the cities of Judah. Instead of the people being alert and on guard, they were surfeited and weakened by drunkenness and debauchery.

Verse 6—"A nation is come up upon my land." The invading army was already marching through the land, while the nation was powerless to impede its progress.

Verse 7—"He hath laid my vine waste, and marked my fig tree." The vine is the symbol of Israel in spiritual relationship with God and responsible to bear fruit for him (Psa. 80:8; Isa. 5:7; Hos. 10:1). The fig tree represents Judah nationally (Jer. 24:1-6; Luke 13:6-9).

Dan. 5:1—"A great feast." It was a voluptuous, drunken carousal, where the idolatrous courtiers sought to outdo one another.

Verse 2—"Whiles he tasted the wine." Belshazzar in his half-intoxicated condition did that of which in his sober senses he might never have been guilty. He commanded that the sacred vessels taken by his grandfather Nebuchadnezzar from the holy Temple at Jerusalem should be brought into the festival hall and used to pour out libations to the idols of Babylon.

Verse 3—"The king, and his princes . . . drank in them." Belshazzar set the evil example, and his servile courtiers and the women of his harem all followed suit, drinking from the vessels dedicated to Jehovah.

Verse 4—"They drank wine, and praised the gods." Such scenes were common among the heathen. Drunkenness was regarded, not as a sin, but rather as a means of honoring the vile deities of the heathen nations.

Verse 5—"In the same hour" It was when the drunken revel was at its height that the solemn portent of coming judgment appeared.

Verse 17—"I will read the writing." The words were plain enough in ordinary Chaldean letters, but their actual meaning was undecipherable until Daniel appeared.

Verse 25—"Mene, Mene, Tekel, Upharsin." The words mean "Numbered, numbered, weighed, dividing." They told the sad story of the end of God's patience with Belshazzar.

Verse 26—"God hath numbered thy kingdom, and finished it." The

HELEN HORE MARRIED TO LEWIS A. STIVER

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Hore, Markham, was the setting for the wedding Saturday afternoon of their daughter, Helen Rebecca Hore, who became the bride of Lewis Arthur Stiver, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bernard Stiver, Unionville. The house was decorated with pink and white gladioli. Rev. A. H. Hore of Deseronto, uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. P. S. Baringer of Baltimore, Md. Mrs. Laurence Lindsey played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white net over taffeta, with basque bodice, bouffant double net skirt banded in fine Chantilly lace, which also trimmed the matching jacket. Her fingertip veil of French tulle was caught with a coronet of lilies-of-the-valley. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Ruth Hore attended her sister as bridesmaid, wearing a blush pink embroidered net dress over taffeta, with shirred bodice, short "puff" sleeves and a sweet-heart neckline caught at either side with little black velvet bows. She carried rapture roses and blue cornflowers, and wore a plateau hat accented with flowers to match her bouquet.

Lloyd Stiver was best man. After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served. The bride's mother wore a dress of hyacinth blue crepe and corsage of Johanna Hill roses. Mrs. Stiver, mother of the groom, wore French orchid sheer, and her corsage was purple and mauve sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Stiver left on a motor trip to Muskoka, the bride travelling in a printed silk dress with navy accessories and corsage of blue cornflowers and bouvardia. On their return they will live in Toronto.

NO CHANGES IN HOG GRADING REGULATIONS

No changes have been made recently in the Hog Grading Regulations in so far as they affect carcass grading of hogs, according to a statement issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture. The department is continuing to provide a Hog Grading service on live as well as on carcass grading standards according to the basis of sale.

"head of gold" (Dan. 2:32) was about to give place to the "breast and . . . arms of silver." The first great world empire had run its course as appointed by God.

Verse 27—"Thou art weighed in the balances and art found wanting." We are told elsewhere that the Lord is a God of knowledge, and by him actions are weighed" (1 Sam. 2:3). And in Proverbs 16:2 we learn that "the Lord weigheth the spirits" of men.

Verse 28—"Thy kingdom is divided." Instead of reading UPHARSIN, which means "dividing," Daniel uses the past tense of the same word, "PERES," which means "divided," for already the armies of Cyrus and Darius were pouring into the city, and Babylon's doom was sealed.

SEE TELEVISION!

(Demonstrated by R.C.A. Victor engineers)

What's the future of Television? How does it work? Are the images clear? Are the sets easy to operate? How far can it be broadcast? The Canadian National Exhibition this year offers you the first public demonstrations of Television in Canada. Superintended by R.C.A. Victor engineers the demonstration covers all phases of television. You can see people actually being televised. It's really an historic occasion . . . don't miss it!
