Goodwood
FLASHES

Walter Davey
8 Stanton Ave
Toronto.

Miss Leggate entertained Miss Latcham to tea on Sunday evening.

Will Todd was doing up the City last week when here for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lee visited in Aurora on Saturday.

Mrs. Charles Watson's social evening for her class must have been a delight to all. We are told it was well attended and everybody had a great time.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wilson spent Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. R. Feasby's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ashenhurst were at Mrs. Clayton Hill's on Sunday.

Fourth Line road is not very good for auto traffic and the ponds and creeks along this line are so loaded up with snow that they are not used very much for skating.

Mr. E. J. Davey of Stouffville was seen in Toronto on Wednesday, when he came to attend the C.N.R. Veteran's meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watson were in the city last week on business.

Our friend Mrs. S. Ottewell who has been ill at her son's home in Detroit is now here in Toronto with her daughter on Lowther Ave., Miss Ottewell brought her mother to her home by train in a sleeper, as she is still unable to leave her bed. Our best wishes to her for better health.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Jess Davis of Glasgow in their 61 years of marriage bliss. This couple are well known to us all.

Mr. Alex Brown and the Correspondent took in the Maple Leaf and Ranger game Saturday night at the Maple Leaf Gardens.

Send in your news items to the Correspondent H. 3012.

Word comes from the Librarian of Goodwood that during the winter season and until further notice, the Goodwood Library will be open on Saturday afternoons from 2 to 4 p.m. except Council days when it will be open from 7 to 9 p.m.

Toronto folks missed the news of the home village, Goodwood. During the winter when travelling is heavy we are sure the village Scribe would appreciate news items. Here's hoping Goodwood will be in without fail.

Mr. Victor Moore and Mrs. LaFraugh visited Alex Brown's home on Saturday night.

Two of Goodwood's best known men will next week celebrate their birthdays, yes, no doubt they are smiling while reading this item. Now watch next week's issue and you will know who these fellows are. Their birthdays come in a cold month, but believe me they have warm hearts.

Sorry to hear that another one of our Goodwood Old Boys, is laid up. This time it is William Ball and it is our sincere hope he may make a complete recovery.

We have reason to recall a certain week in February back in the old village of Goodwood just fifty years ago. Some of folk we recall to mind are still living there, others have moved away and still others have been taken away to the mysterious beyond. We shall name some of them who were very young boys, or wee bits of girls and we're going to give the names we used in those days. There was Wm. Henderson, Will Todd, Sam Whittleton, Fred Robinson, Frank Wagg, and other boys, and now for a few of the girls, Jessie Walkington, sister Bertha also Lottie Jones, Maud Todd, Gertrude Todd, Lottie Morgan, Edna Carter. There were the Lewis families, Annie, Minnie, Eda, Eliza, her brothers Will and Walter, Edith Pugh and Gussie. Oh yes, there was Alf Dave and Will Pugh, also Maggie Glen now in Woodville. Then we recall the Higgins family, Will Collins, Chris. Manley, Sandy Brown, the Lee's, Charles, George, John and Will. There was the Jones, McGuckin's, Ottewell's, and still others. There was the churches, school and Salvation Army and the Anglican church in the townhall. We even had a drug store and three generals, tailoring shop, tin shop and all the rest of the trades nearly. In mentioning some of the girls we recall that many of them were just very small youngsters. In fact some were babies, and others were among the young school children. We had three blacksmiths shops, a planing mill, grist mill and saw mill. At the lumber yard we remember the team of oxen, Buck and Bright. We had a ball room and skating rink, and four passenger trains went through daily also the mixed train and several freights. Yes, we had two hotels and commercial travellers in numbers spent the nights with us. They displayed their samples in the rooms provided for them, and merchants went to pick out their stock. Everybody recalls the brass band in uniforms. Yes, Goodwood was a small hamlet, but how much better would it be if the business of the country had not been allowed to centralize. People really had a better time, and folks had more time to enjoy themselves that they have today at 50 miles an hour. We hope all these old timers will at least visit the home village once this summer.

Uxbridge Transacts Monthly Business

Uxbridge Township council was informed by the county clerk at its regular meeting last Saturday, that three patients from the township had been received at the hospital, and of course, it follows that the municipality will have to pay their portion of the cost. If they are actual residents and cannot meet the costs themselves, there is no way out for the municipality. Perhaps this has something to do with so many cases going into hospital these days.

When council assembled with Reeve Ashenhurst presiding the chair of Councillor Walter Beach was vacant. The Councillor from out of the east, we believe, never missed a meeting before since his election, until health forces men to do things. His colleagues expressed the hope for an early recovery. Councillors John Rae, Fred Middleton, and Deputy Reeve Edgar Johnson were present.

The Department of Municipal Affairs asked for a statement respecting the bond carried for the collector of taxes and the treasurer. A good deal of thought was also given to the new accounting system being introduced by the government. In future every hour of work done for the township will be paid by individual cheque and this will mean that hundreds more will be issued, and endless extra work will be required, it was forseen, for the treasurer and road superintendent.

Ira Stiner from Roseville wanted to know what was being done about removing snow from the roads. He said that if they were opened for one section all should be treated alike. He was informed on the step taken to hire the county plow and was assured all would receive similar treatment on the concession lines, that is if at all possible.

The bylaw appointing township officers for the year went through with little change from that of last year. Only two changes were recorded in the list. Bert Maye was made pound keeper in lieu of Roy Coppins who moved to another section, and George Coppins will replace the late Joseph Norton in S.S.5.

CHARGE AGAINST WHIT.
MAN DISMISSED

A charge of careless driving against Jas. Cooney of Lemonville, Whitchurch Township, was dismissed in Newmarket Court last week.

"I was driving north on the 3rd when this car came over the hill and apparently went into a swerve," testified Harry Bell of Newmarket. "I got over as far as I could but he hit me with his left front fender. I was off the road when he hit me."

"I was sitting in the front seat with Mr. Bell and noticed this car coming," stated Mrs. Coltery. "Mr. Bell pulled out and we went into the ditch. I was more afraid of the ditch than I was the car." How fast were you going?" asked Cooney.

"We were not going fast," replied the witness. "Then how did you land on the other side of the road?" "When you struck the back fender it turned us around and we ended up on the other side of the road."

"I was there about twenty minutes later," testified Constable Williamson. "The road was awfully slippery. Cooney's car was turned into a bank on the west side of the road and Bell's car had been on the west side too."

"I was coming south and that hill has a sharp approach," stated accused. "This man was in the ice tracks. I pulled out and he pulled out. Naturally it's going to throw you. I hurt my back and was in bed for five days. Bell and Williamson both came to see me and said there wouldn't have been an accident if the roads had been sanded. Bell said he wasn't going to lay a charge or I would have laid one against him."

"Mr. Bell said my husband was on the right side of the road when he came over the hill," testified Mrs. Cooney. "Williamson and Bell both agreed that it was purely an accident."

"How fast were you going, Cooney?" asked His Worship. "Maybe twenty-five or thirty miles."

"I'm inclined to think this accident was caused by the condition of the road," said His Worship. "This is a case for the civil courts."

PAST DAYS

PICKERING

Pickering People

Barclay—Few men were better known in the township during the first half of the nineteenth century than Elder George Barclay. He was a native of Cupar, Fifehire, Scotland, and received his education at St. Andrew's University, after which he was ordained a minister of the Baptist Church. In 1801 he married Janet Tullis and in 1816 came to Canada. He purchased lot 16, in the 6th concession from Elizabeth Matthews, and building a log house, began life as a pioneer. As early as 1821 he was laboring as the pastor of the first Baptist Church in Markham, and in that year a number of members decided to pay him a stated salary. Mr. Barclay died in 1857, leaving five sons and four daughters. George his eldest son removed to Middlesex county. The second son, James removed to Brooklin. L. T. Barclay became a well-known barrister and solicitor of Whitby. William removed to Wisconsin, and two remaining, remained in Pickering, David L. and Eli Barclay. Of Elder Barclay's daughters, Janet (Mrs. Randall Bentley) died in 1838. Betsy (Mrs. George Miller of Markham) died in 1871 and Nancy and Margaret died in 1888. Two well-known descendants are E. F. Burton, B.A., a Demonstrator in Physics at Toronto University, and E. E. Sheppard, well-known writer.

Barry—John Barry was born in Yorkshire, England in 1824. When a youth he came with his parents to Canada, settling first in Whitchurch. In 1845 he married Mary Sharrard, and the following year came to Claremont. They first lived on the farm just east of Claremont on the 8th concession, and Mr. Barry carried a successful business. Later he went into milling, building a sawmill on the creek immediately south of Claremont. In 1890 he acquired some property, including two houses near the C.P.R. station at Claremont, and in 1891 he erected a large dwelling house and store on the north side of the track. Gradually he became a wealthy man, being in later years owner of over 3,000 acres of land. He died in 1901. Mrs. Barry and their daughter (Mrs. D. Forsyth) remained in Claremont.

GOOD CITIZENS AND GOOD NEIGHBORS

International Uniform Lesson—
Matthew 22:15 to 23:39, printed text, Matthew 22:15-22, 34-40
Golden Text—"Thou Shalt Love thy neighbour as thyself."
as thyselves., IM Sat
Matt. 22:39

The Lesson As A Whole

There is vastly more than instruction in the indicated portion for home reading and class discussion, as to good citizenship and our responsibility to be good neighbors. In this section of the Gospel, our Lord lays bare the hidden selfishness and corruption of the human heart, and shows how utterly lost and helpless men are apart from divine grace. He exposes the hypocrisy and deceitfulness of the leaders in Judaea, who were very punctilious about the niceties of will worship, but who knew nothing of divine love welling up in their souls. He who is truth incarnate was in their midst, yet they sought only to make Him out, if possible, an offender against the law of God and their own custom, in order that he might be discredited before the people, and that their own wickedness in rejecting him might be excused. But he turned the light upon them, making manifest the evil which they tried to cover by a cloak of religiousness.

It is noticeable that, though the Pharisees and the Sadducees were at opposite poles doctrinally (Acts 23:8) and were bitterly jealous of each other, yet both were agreed in refusing to own the claims of the Lord Jesus. What value could be attached to their pretended concern about tribute money, physical resurrection, the greatest commandment, and other matters over which they were disposed to quibble, when their hearts were not right in the sight of God, but, as chapter 23 shows, they were filled with pride, which God hates (Prov. 6:16, 17), glorying in self-righteousness, which in his sight
