Our Post Master went fishing on Dominion Day and was fortunate enough to land a 11 pound lunge, measuring thirty six inches. A very choice fish. Claude also caught one but the man in charge of the boat was unable to land anything. He caught a bass later on, from the bridge and it was so heavy the line broke and it went with the hook in its mouth. This is a real fish story, but none the less true, as the writer was an eye witness.

Farmers Feared A Feed Shortage

Because of the daily rains for the past month, farmers are fearful of a feed shortage next fall. Some of them are becoming discouraged, as daily the drenching rains pour down with unabated regularity. A correspondent to the Newmarket Era from Brown Hill declares that acres of ground in that area has not been seeded yet.

In the immediate vicinity of Stouffville things are not quite that bad, although hay fields stood in peril last weekend as long rank hay was down, and fields were flooded. One farmer said that the only thing the wet weather we are getting is good for, is cabbages, and the plants are certainly thriving under the moisture.
This week saw a decided change to warmer days and no rain, real hay-making conditions.
