GOODWOOD CEMETERY SCENE OF GREAT SERVICE

Finer weather could not have been made for the cemetery decoration day at Goodwood last Sunday. It was neither too hot nor too cold, so that folks stepped out with a spirit of gratitude to a Gracious Father for his tender mercies toward us. There was a short service preceding the regular one, when Councillor Middleton received the Union Jack from the chairman, also the holy bible which was draped over the reading desk. The orchestra played, and the gathering sang several selections all of which were before them on printed program provided by the trustees. The service opened with the National Anthem, and the doxology, following which Rev. Mr. Holmes gave the invocation. Rev. Mr. Ostrum of the Baptist church read the lesson, and Rev. W. Kendall offered the prayer. Mr. R. W. Allin of Toronto gave the address, while special selections were sung by members of St. Clements choir and Mr. and Mrs. C. Stafford. Benediction was pronounced by Rev. O. Twiss of Uxbridge. The Correspondent acted as chairman, and extended the appreciation of the officials and all others interested in the cemetery to those who took part in the program. The Orange Lodge added to the occasion by decorating graves of departed members. The attendance was one of the biggest, and folks congratulated their Goodwood people on the steady improvement noted in the care of this God's Acre.

SCHOOL PROJECTS REALIZE $77.00

The various articles made by students at the high school during the term in home economics have been sold to the pupils who made them and the total return in cash was recorded on Monday evening by Principal Murphy at $77.50.

Students were permitted to own the article made by themselves during the term, by paying the actual cost of material put in the project, and while only a few cents here and a few cents there, the total for the term was a pleasant surprise to the members of the Board, who said it indicated the principal was keeping a close tabulation of materials.
