MUST KEEP EGGS COOL TO RETAIN QUALITY

When eggs are being gathered the thought of how far they will have to travel may not necessarily occur to the person gathering them. It may be just a few yards for consumption on the farm; it may be a few miles to the nearest market, or it may be thousands of miles to Britain. No matter where they may be used it is a certainty that the consumer prefers the best quality. Most eggs are of good quality when they are laid and it depends upon how they are handled whether or not they retain their prime condition.

Canadian research scientists say that heat is the chief enemy of quality in eggs. Consequently, they recommended cooling the eggs as quickly as possible and keeping them cool all the time, on the farm, in the grading station, and in transit. With the advent of warmer weather it will be more difficult to keep the original fresh-laid quality. It will mean gathering the eggs two or three times a day and giving them a chance to cool before they are packed and taken to market.
When an egg is laid it is at the body temperature of the hen, about 105 degrees. Tests have shown that the sooner the natural heat leaves the eggs the better they will keep.

"No Corns in My Day" Ringwood Man Tells N. York M.L.A.

Barefoot Boys with Face of Tan Never Heard Tell of them in His Youth—Offers to Bare his Feet for M.P.P. During Debate in The Tribune Office, to Prove he is Still Free from Blemish.

Not long ago we came across a small booklet, entitled, "Guard the Little Man's Feet, and he will not Limp when he is Old." It was a subtle way of showing what advancement had been made in the creation of footwear for young folk, and it went back to making comparisons with the methods of other years. There was a time when little attention was given to such matters. The child was provided with a pair of shoes and the price was the one thing that mattered. They had to be cheap.

On Monday morning, Louis Brownsberger of Ringwood, a lad of 78 summers, spent right in the hamlet where he was born on what is Ringwood Farms today, (formerly the Robert Miller farm,) and he reminded us that little folks when he was a lad were never given much consideration on the foot question. When it came along this time of year he shed his shoes and stockings for the summer and with reluctance brought them into action on the Sabbath day. "We never heard tell of anyone's feet being ruined by going about with them bare," said this aged man. "They got tough." He explained. Then in the early season there would be a time when they would limp from a stone bruise on the heel, but by the time the season had advanced to the stage of days of harvest the average set of feet were sound enough to travel over close-cropped stubble without a whimper, and that was the test or the supreme thing to do to show you really had a good pair of feet. The lad who failed was regarded as a sissy, if you please.

The boys of "them days" had little trouble with their feet, and they never had any trouble later. To prove his contention Louis offered to peel off his shoes for Morgan Baker, to show the member for North York that he never had a blemish or a corn, but the M.P.P. admitted that he too could recall barefoot days and its accompanying enjoyment.
Those days recalled other memories to Louis Brownsberger and even to the M.P.P. There would be the trip to the old swimmin' hole. The roads were dusty and Louis recalled walking in the hot sand down the 8th to Dickson's Hill, but they swam at Ringwood too. Blood suckers and crabs were the worst enemies, but they never stopped a real lad from going to swim, and even though the odd blood sucker made connection with the big toe no one ever knew of them injuring anyone.
"Ever have a pair of high top boots?" Well Louis thought he had one pair with copper toes, and they were fit to wear to the fair at Markham. He would have worn them to church too, if permitted to do so.
Any way the little fellow on the farm had small trouble with their feet, and they didn't have any literature to tell them how to care for their feet. The only objectionable thing Louis Brownsberger could recall was that they had to go to the creek every night to wash them, and that was number two objection to having to put on boots every Sabbath. How they burned and cramped, he remembered to this day, and the M.P.P. admitted too that it was an ordeal even in his later time of life.

Dickson's Hill

Miss Aldine Redshaw had dinner with the girls at Harvey Moyer's on Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Kinzie of Breslau called at Roy Moyer's and also at Lloyd Moyer's of Stouffville. A number from here attended the big auction sale in Stouffville belonging to the estate of the late Dr. Ira Freil.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Moyer, and Mr. and Mrs. John Risebrough of Toronto motored to Niagara last weekend, and on the way back visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hicks and family in Hamilton.
In the absence of our pastor who has been conducting a series of evangelistic meetings at Aylmer where Rev. J. Harold Sherk is stationed, Mrs. Lehman took the Sunday morning service here.

A number of Dickson's Hill people were present to enjoy the services of the Mission Board at the Wideman Mennonite Church.
There was a good turn-out to the W.M.S. meeting at Mrs. Roy Moyer's on Wednesday afternoon. The time was profitably spent quilting and sewing for war relief.

Another motor accident happened one day last week opposite Walker's farm. A car travelling south suddenly found itself upside down in the ditch with the bottom pointing northward. When Carl Hoover arrived on the scene, the wheels were still spinning, but the occupants of the car, though frightened, were uninjured. Nobody seems to know who the unfortunate party was. The men say "that's women drivers for you," but we should like to warn all motorists of the danger of coming down the grade at a high speed, since several such accidents have occurred at this spot in the last few years.
