Whitchurch Farmer Passes with The Old Year

Ushering in of the new year was greatly saddened around Pine Orchard and especially in the home of one family, because of the death of Charlie Stallabrass who passed away at his home on the 5th concession of Whitchurch just a mile south of Pine Orchard on Sunday, Dec. 29 following a lengthy illness. ### Born at Altona 73 Years Ago

Ill only a short time, Charlotte Lehman passed away on Friday morning at the Brierbush where she had been admitted only ten days before. Immediate cause of death was a stroke. Although the patient was threatened with pneumonia when she was taken to the hospital. Her condition for some years was frail.
Daughter of the late Ephriam and Elizabeth Lehman, Charlotte was born within a half mile of Altona on the old homestead, a house and lot on her grandfather's farm. At the age of thirteen years she went to live with Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson. She continued on with them and ministered to their needs until both had passed away. Thus she lived with Mrs. Robinson for more than 50 years. Since her death a couple of years ago Charlotte made her home with her sister Mrs. William Watson on Main street who survives her together with one brother Wellington Lehman.
Deceased was a member of the United church, and a spinster. She enjoyed many friends in town where she had lived for thirty years.
The funeral on Sunday afternoon from the home of Mrs. William Watson proceeded to Altona cemetery for interment in the family plot. The pall bearers were: Walter Carter, Millard Reesor, Fred MacNair, Edgar Kidd, Donald Bacon, and Douglas Bacon.
