Claremont Lady Receives English Mail

A letter received this week by one of our Claremont readers, reads in part, as follows: "Just at present we are having what are called, 'hit and run raids,' nothing like the concentrated attacks we had last winter. Jerry paid a visit around here last new moon and a small town near here got it. Six people were killed and some damage done to property, but they got him and the honors went to a Canadian pilot. We still have to have everything ready before we retire for the night, warm coats and everything handy, for you never know even if you get to the shelter if the house will be there after it is over. But we are thankful we still have our home and that is more than a lot of people have. It is wonderful to know that everything is organized and how brave everyone seems to be, even the kiddies. When you wake up at night now there is such a dreadful silence. With petrol rationed the way it is, scarcely a car goes by. We have a piece of shrapnel that just missed our nephew one night when a raid was on. He stepped back just in time and it fell at his feet. We picked it up in the moonlight, 'after the all-clear.' We listen to President Roosevelt's speeches and all your Canadian Ministers.
