Gormley

It's not very nice to be snow-bound.

On a stormy Saturday night, But it's just all-right to be storm-stayed,

If the company is just right.

If one can stay at the home of a friend,

A hotel, or the home of a beau, Why worry about the folks at home, Stay there and let it snow.

A "certain" young Miss from our town Was missing last Saturday night On Sunday the same, on Monday too, And even on Tuesday night.

Till late last Wednesday evening, Or was it early Thursday morn, In crept the prodigal child Her eyes looked weary and worn.

She took off her shoes on the landing, As quiet as a mouse, But then her dad's deep tenor voice, Came bellowing through the house

As to the result of this "frackus," I could only hazard to guess, For further information, Her father will tell the rest.

—Shakespeare

Gormley was crowded with people last Saturday for the big auction sale on the farm of Mr. Harry Bennett who disposed of his stock and implements to give up the business he has followed so many years, and we trust he will enjoy a quiet life living in the natty new cottage erected for them on the corner of his property. The farm has been sold to Allen Helse. It consists of 100 acres of fine fertile land. A. S. Farmer, wielded the hammer in veteran style on Saturday and realized $2,500 for the entire sale. The cows averaged $60 and baby beef sold for $40 each, while baby calves brought $9 to $12. A big flock of pullets brought 75c each. Implements were old and showed usage but the mower went for $95, hay brought a big price at $15.50 per ton, and oats 52c per bushel. Mixed grain fetched 48c bus of 34 pounds. Roads and weather were good, and this coupled with liberal advertising brought an excellent crowd.

Something like a record was established at the early part of last week when the funeral director L. E. O'Neill travelled 56 miles during the round trip from Stouffville to Bethesda on the occasion of a call to the bereaved Bolender home here. It was just the day after the biggest storm of the winter, so that to reach our village it was necessary to travel from Stouffville to Markham village and across No. 7 highway to the 4th of Markham and from then north. The round trip was as we state 56 miles, but like the mails the undertaker must get through some how. We all appreciated the good work done in opening the roads last week, when the weather man was willing to co-operate by ceasing his blowing and bringing along the sun to form a crust.

Our community was plunged into mourning last week over the death of one who had endeared himself to all, in the person of Valentine Bolender. Brubacker assisted by Rev. M. Bricker and Rev. H. Shantz. Mr. Brubacker spoke from the text, "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life." Mr. Bolender's favourite hymn, "Jesus Lover of My Soul", was sung at the close of the service. The pall bearers were, Messrs. Roy Moyer, Jacob Wideman, Wm. Paisley, Clarence Atkinson, Ernest Steckley and Wes. Steckley. Interment was made in Dickson Hill Cemetery.

Peaches

The Storm
The wind it blew and blew and blew,
And the snow it flew and flew and flew,
The roads got bad and then got worse
They were not fit for car or horse.

The mail man he did not go around,
And the milk truck it could not be found,
While farmers tramped from house to barn

There is always work around a farm.
It made one feel so all alone
Yet, thankful for a cosy home.

But now, the sun is shining bright,
With snow to dig from morn to night,
But we'll forget about this storm
When July's sun shines nice and warm,
Or maybe wish for that cool breeze,
That this week, made us cough and sneeze.
