George Formby

Mrs. Bert Johnston of Hamilton, visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Foote over the weekend.

Mrs. Alex Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Snyder and daughter of Toronto were guests with their cousin on Sunday Miss Sadie Stewart.

Strawberry plants were out in blossom last week, and the maple trees are coming into leaf, almost a month in advance of other years in this locality.

Maybe Work of Youngsters
During her temporary absence down town, some one entered the home of Mrs. Thomas Klinck, O'Brien avenue one day last week and carried off a number of bread tickets and about $2 in silver, all lying in a red dish which the owner valued as a keepsake. Mrs. Klinck, despite her great age, wasn't alarmed over the incident and put it down to the work of children. She does, however, regret the loss of the little red dish, so perhaps it may return. Stranger things have happened. Mrs. Klinck did not lock the door and so it was easy for the intruder to walk in.

Health of Average Air Cadet Is Good

Out of approximately three dozen Air Cadets who have passed the Squadron's M.O. Dr. S. S. Ball, only a half dozen have proved to have any defects. These six mentioned were slightly affected by color blindness, and would not be considered capable of handling air crew work, but would be taken as navigators, etc. Color blindness which has proved a stumbling block to so many lads entering the R.C.A.F. comes in both a dangerous and a mild form. The dangerous cases, are those boys who confuse such vivid colors as red and green, while others may only find shades of blue and green hard to distinguish.

Local & Personal News

Stouffville stores opened Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings.

Fred Smith, local great war veteran, is still in Christie street hospital undergoing treatment. He is expected home soon, we understand as he has been away for several weeks now.

Mr. George Austin is looking for a house to rent since the place on 10th street has been sold to Mr. Ernest Drewery. Places are becoming increasingly hard to engage in Stouffville.

Stricken with pneumonia, Col. George A. Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, is reported to be "out of danger." Col. Drew was stricken while attending the Leafs-Red Wings hockey final.

Miss Betty Leslie Accepted in R.C.A.F., W.D.
For the past six months a clerk in No.1 Equipment Depot, Toronto, Miss Betty Leslie formerly of Stouffville has been trying to get into the women's air force. She's now in, having enlisted and been accepted last week as an equipment assistant. Miss Leslie is 23, and is the first local girl to don the air-force blue. She will be stationed at Jarvis St. training centre.

Two Houses Under Construction
Excavation commenced last week for the new residence to be built this summer by Mr. Mill Storey, druggist, on the site of the old brick barn that stood on his father's property on Main street west. Most of the material has been bought in advance, so that present day shortage will not be a problem.

Ground was staked this week for still another fine residence to be erected by Mr. Wesley Schell, proprietor of the Planing Mill, who has held a lot at the corner of Main and Victoria streets for this purpose for some years. The new house will be 26x36, brick clad with sun room and garage combination under one roof. It will face on Victoria street. The present attractive residence, owned and occupied by the Schell family is too small for their requirements; hence they will move to their new and increased accommodation when the work is completed.

A lady of the town called at The Tribune Monday morning to register a timely protest against the unwarranted throwing of candy wrappings around the street and on lawns for other people to pick up. It is something we have often thought about. Here we are calling for the last scrap of paper to be saved; yet youngsters and grown-ups alike throw wrappings from candy all over the streets, leaving the place in a most untidy manner. Just what is to be done with these wrappers when the candy is eaten, we are not sure, but the paper could at least be screwed into a ball before discarding. It has been suggested, that boxes be placed at corners as receptacles for old papers, and a few might be tried out to see how they would be made use of. If there is a serious shortage of paper, one wonders why the chocolate bar manufacturers are allowed to continue putting on great elaborate wrappings. Of course the wrapper has an appeal, and adds to the sanitary manner of handling the candy, but this should not weigh in times like this. The soldier has to go without cleaning teeth for days in an emergency; and we too can do without appealing candy covers of every kind.

Common Community Experiences

So far as Stouffville is concerned Treasurer George Storey has managed with merely issuing threats to delinquent water users to the effect that if they did not pay up then he would have the water shut off from their premises. In almost all cases the threat was sufficient to induce the short-sighted people to see the light and pay before the thirst-quencher was denied them.

Apparently the town of Walkerton does not always get their water rates collected without similar or more drastic steps being resorted to, and here you may read what the Walkerton Herald says about the town cop starting on his rounds for delinquent users: "Police Chief Jack Ferguson started on his rounds Wednesday morning of this week turning off the water of those allegedly in arrears to the local municipality for their water supply for the past six months or longer, as the rates are due and payable twice a year. The Chieftain armed with his shutting-off apparatus was a most unwelcome sight to all delinquents as he appeared at their premises with his brass buttons and blue uniform and his armament for doing his duty to the 'best of his ability,' as the saying is. Clerk Collins' phone was the busiest instrument in town as the victims of the raid sought to contact him and discover what it was all about. As a surprise this raid was something of a blitzkrieg to most of the natives of the Bruce Capital, many of them protested vehemently that they were ignorant of any arrearage whatsoever, but which that official was able to clear up and elucidate on what the books at the town hall showed.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Davis of South Porcupine are visiting his parents Rev. and Mrs. D. Davis, at the parsonage on Church street.

Mr. Sammy Hare has taken rooms with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hoover one door west of the east end store of A. Greenwood. Mr. Hare is one of the old timers of the district, well known in Stouffville and Markham.

Mrs. Wilson, wife of Dr. Harry Wilson, was in town on Thursday as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Byer. Mrs. Wilson reports sizeable snow banks still around her home at Englehardt.

Trout Fishing Friday
The trout fishing season opens on Friday of this week, May 1st, and local nimrods are preparing to spend the day along their favorite streams in quest of the speckled beauties.

We noted Rev. Herbert Lee carrying a number of letters into the post office Monday morning, and found that two of them were going to his twin grandsons, Masters Eric and Phillip, conveying grandfather's good wishes on their fifth birthday.

There is not enough of the old flag left over the top of the school building to make a pocket handkerchief, but a new one is in order and will arrive in due course. These flags soon wear out when they are left constantly to the breeze.

Gnr. Harold Badgero who has been in Camp Hill hospital down in Halifax for six weeks, expected to be able to leave the sick bed this week, and perhaps he will be home in Stouffville for a couple of weeks before taking on his military duties again at the eastern port.

With one out of every fifteen Stouffville men in uniform not a weekend goes by without half a dozen lads enjoying the comforts of their homes for a brief period. This past week, Flying Officer Crapper, Pta. Earl Madden, Pte Lord and Bruce Stover were all in town visiting at their respective homes.

A couple of cars collided on Main street east Saturday evening when one was about to turn from the main traffic to a side street. The car following suffered a broken radiator, but otherwise little damage was caused. Constable A. Greenwood investigated.

Masonic Brethren at Markham
Last Friday evening members of Richardson Lodge, A.F. & A.M. No. 136, Stouffville, visited Markham Union Lodge on the occasion of the official visit of the District Master to Markham. A very fine evening was enjoyed and a cordial welcome extended by the hosts. Those from the Stouffville lodge in attendance included Morley Symes, John S. Reid, Morley Haynes, Norman Wagg, Dean Wagg, William Griffiths, Fred Crossen, Charles Barkey, and Ormsby Lehman.

Retires after 40 Years Caretaker

After more than 40 years as caretaker of the Bank of Commerce and its predecessor the Standard Bank in Stouffville, Mrs. John McKinnon relinquished her duties last week, which were taken over by Mrs. Ernest Madill. Mrs. McKinnon first took the position when the bank operated in the present law office of McCullough & Button, but shortly after or just around the turn of the century the late W. B. Sanders built the present premises (Mr. Eli Ramer, carpenter), under lease to the bank, who later bought the place and enlarged the building. Not for 15 years has Mrs. McKinnon taken a week off, so that her services with the bank constitute something of a record. When Mrs. McKinnon was first engaged, the Standard Bank of Canada was in charge but this bank, as most people know, was absorbed by the Commerce. Her work was always highly satisfactory; and was considerably more onerous in the days when the bank clerks occupied the rooms over the bank as sleeping quarters.

Further Improvements at Cedar Beach Gardens

Mid-summer night atmosphere on Saturday was appropriate opening weather for Cedar Beach Gardens, Musselman's Lake. The big amusement spot, under the management of Mr. George Davies, has undergone considerable improvement again this year. Several more feet have been added to the north end of the Gardens, providing plenty of room in the hitherto crowded kitchen. The entrance rotunda has been refinished, in mixed shades, with a marble floor. To the west beyond the lunch table section, a further room has been built, while the entire interior of this part of the hall has been refinished in blue and cream. The grocery connected with Cedar Beach Park has also been enlarged, into a modern cash and carry grocery, while on the outside, the refreshment booth now reaches to the west an additional ten feet. George Hooy and his band provided the music for over a hundred couples last week, and will fill the orchestra stand again this Saturday night.

STIVER BROS.

Miss Lorraine Crapper, Toronto, spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. William Crapper, Main street.

The Port Perry Star tells of the annual meeting of the Scugog town business men last week as attracting 95 per cent of those in business, fifty men in all. With a live organization of the sort the smaller towns are bound to thrive these days. With gasoline cut down and encouragement given to people to shop at home there is a wonderful opportunity to forge ahead.

Two full moons in April, one on the first and one on the last day of the month, is most unusual. In olden days Masonic lodge meetings were always held in the country on "the full of the moon," because it made better travelling after night. Some lodges that still adhere to the old custom, found their meeting dates rather badly spaced because of the two moons in the month of April.

RED CROSS SOTES
Three exceptionally fine donations were sent to our local rooms last week. Bethesda Jr. Institute sent in five beautiful quilts. The Helping Hands Class of Ringwood Sunday School forwarded four large and one crib quilt; while the Excelsior Class of Ringwood gave a box containing two quilts, four child's dresses, two dozen diapers, and six ladies' dresses. To these three organizations we extend our sincere thanks.

For NEW FORD TRACTORS and Ferguson Implements

Patented 1942

Holden's Automatic Depth Control, Straightener and Side Hill Hitch Device

This device automatically controls the hydraulic depth required regardless of the condition of the varying soil to be tilled, either in plowing or cultivating for general purpose, or Row Crop work. It is not necessary for the operator to watch and move the manual controlled hydraulic lever to maintain an even depth. You can change the desired depth if necessary while the tractor and implement is in motion, by a simple adjustment that only requires 1 or 2 seconds.

The Straightener, Evener & Side-hill Hitch allows the operator to set the plow as desired independent of the tractor draw bar hitch, at the desired width. It enables the operator to steer the plow to take a wider, or narrow furrow to take out a crook, by the simple operation of turning a cranked screw adjustment to vary width six inches either way, or to hold his plow up on a steep side-hill when the tractor slides away. It can be adjusted to change width from one sixteenth of an inch up to six inches.

With this attachment an operator can go out and do a show job in striking out and finishing a land in such a way that it makes it the best outfit to do a show job of anything on the market to-day.

Price of complete attachment including printed instructions for installation is $30.00 F. O. B. Stouffville, Ont. If you reside out of this locality, and would like to have one, send Money Order for $30.00 to D. F. Holden & Sons, Ford Sales & Service Stouffville, Ont. We will ship you complete Attachment. Shipping charges collect at destination. It only requires ten minutes to install, and any one can do it by following instructions.
