Pickering Township
Resident Charged with Keeping Liquor
For Sale

After hearing considerable evidence in the case of Alex. Ballik, of Pickering Township, who appeared in Whitby Police Court last week charged with having liquor for sale contrary to Section 87, Sub-Section 1 of the Liquor Control Act, Magistrate F. S. Ebbs acceded to the request of Defense Counsel Cecil Richardson, of Pickering, for a week's adjournment in order that an important witness might be enabled to appear.

The charge against Ballik was laid by Constable John Irwin of Pickering, after he had paid a visit to the home of the accused on June 7, in company with Corporal Oliver and Constable Sutherland of the Provincial Police, and found the place fitted up with tables and chairs, around which, it is alleged, fourteen people were discovered drinking beer.

In the kitchen of the home, which Constable Irwin said was about a mile and a half northwest of Dunbarton, the officers found two tables and nine chairs, and there were tables and chairs set up in three other rooms on the ground floor.

Pictures of bar rooms were on the walls, and these were produced in court as well as nine ash trays, a can full of bottle tops, serving trays, two dozen or so glasses, and a number of opened, and unopened bottles of beer and ale. There were three pints and twelve quarts on the tables and there were more bottles in the cellar. There was also a small sum of money on one of the tables, Irwin testified, and one of the men had stated that he had paid for some beer. Two of the men he questioned, the officer said, were under the influence of liquor.

Constable Irwin stated that the accused had told him he had had a birthday and this was a birthday party. Two weeks before, he continued, he had had the place under observation, as there was a great deal of going and coming. At the time of the visit on June 7, he said, there were five or six cars in the yard while they were there and four or five others drove up during their stay.

Provincial Constable Jas. Sutherland described the premises at the time of the visit, and said that he found $1.10 on one of the tables. When the accused was questioned about it, he said one of the men present was a garageman who had

Brown and boys, Mr. and Mrs. P. Nash and Mrs. Minnie Brown, all of Toronto, also Chas. Symes, Mr. and Mrs. J. Symes and Eria were guests at Walter Symes, on the 5th last Sunday.

CROWDS STAYED BACK

The crowds kept their distance as this Detroit policeman showed what to do when bees pick out a traffic signal for swarming purposes. He brought back alive hundreds of winged prisoners.

GORMLEY VACATIONAL BIBLE SCHOOL will be held at Gormley Mennonite Church, July 13-23.

Because of the gasoline shortage the school is not able to transport the children to and fro. We have a good staff of teachers and workers this year and they will do their best to make the school spiritual, instructive and constructive.

The aim of the school is to teach the Bible in memory work; Bible character, missionary work, spiritual singing. We would ask all parents and Sunday Schools who want their children to attend the Summer School at Gormley, July 13-23, to bring their children and take them home again.

We are very sorry that we are not able to get your children and take them home as in former years. We want to thank all the different churches and communities who have so wonderfully co-operated with this school, and we would appreciate your helpfulness again.

If you desire any information regarding the school write or phone—I. Brubacher, Gormley, Ontario, Phone 6311.

Canadian Policeman Present Spitfire to R.C.A.F.

Presented to the R.C.A.F. by policemen of Canada, this new Spitfire is being piloted by Pilot Officer Gordon Hoben, former Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer, shown in the cockpit. P/O Hoben had been a bomber pilot but at the request of the officers who raised the Spitfire fund, he was sent to an Operational Training Unit for a special course as a fighter pilot. P/O Hoben served with the R.C.M.P. in Toronto, Saskatoon, Regina and Windsor. Presentation was made by Sir Philip Game, Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police of London, standing nearest the cockpit. Air Vice-Marshal Harold Edwards, Air Officer in chief, R.C.A.F. Overseas (Right) accepted the aircraft.

done some repair work on his truck and this was part of the repair bill. A short time later, Sutherland testified, a man came to the door and when he was asked what he wanted he said he came to buy a case of beer. He had never been there before, he told the officer.

Corporal Oliver came in from a tour of the house, Officer Sutherland stated, with a considerable sum of money in small change and the wife of the accused said it belonged to her. In their search of the premises, Sutherland, said they found 51 quart bottles and 35 pint bottles full of ale. In addition there were 14 quarts and one part pint of ale opened. A tin in the kitchen contained approximately 100 bottle tops.

"I heard Constable Irwin say that he must have had a birthday the week before," commented Officer Sutherland.

Corporal Oliver corroborated much of the evidence given by his associates. One of the men admitted having paid 60 cents for two quarts, he stated. He warned the accused after the people had left, and said anything he remarked would be used as evidence. Ballik denied selling beer, the Corporal testified.

The witness told the court he didn't believe that Ballik knew more than three people there. The money he found amounted to $53 in small bills and change. It was between the quilts of one of the beds, he said.

Asked by Defense Counsel Richardson if this was out of the way for a man with a market garden who was always selling berries, and the like, Oliver said he saw no sign of any such sales except that one man said he had come for some tomato plants.

Defendant's Story

When he took the stand, Ballik said he knew the people, except the garage man from Toronto who had done repairs to his truck. He said he owned or leased eleven acres and cultivated most of it. His birthday was May 26, he said, and he had bought ten cases for the occasion. Other cases found by the police had been for his own use and bought over a period of weeks. The tables and chairs, he said, had been given to him by the god-father of one of his four children, but he had no barn to store them in so they remained in the house. He admitted that he at one time worked for the brewery that supplied the ale, but he declared he paid full price for it. He knew the people who were present, too, he asserted.

"Suppose you name them for us," suggested Crown Attorney Annis as he began his cross-examination. The accused made a pretty good attempt. Asked about the people who drove up to his place on more than one occasion, Ballik declared that he had a few acres used as a picnic ground and people had used them for three years.

"Well Equipped for Business"

Pointing to the exhibits brought into court by police, Mr. Annis suggested that the accused was well equipped for the business. The sales slips also showed that he bought his wares directly from the brewery, and that they were dated each week from April 18 to June 4.

"How long do your birthday parties last?" asked the magistrate, "From birthday to birthday?"

"The accused said the bottle tops in the tin were being saved for the Red Cross, but he couldn't explain about two hundred that were found back of the garage.

James Davie, a neighbor who was found in, testified that he knew

Run Over by Wagon Farmer Dies From the Injuries

Run over by a hay wagon when the team of horses he was hitching to it bolted, Robert Gordon Mason, aged 44, of O'Sullivan's Corners, south Markham, was fatally injured on Friday and died at his home two hours after the accident occurred.

Mason, accompanied by his brother Alfred, had finished their evening meal and were returning to the fields on their father's farm to gather the remainder of the hay crop. Gordon was between the horses hitching them to the wagon when they jumped ahead. He was knocked down and the heavy wagon passed over his chest.

The accident occurred at 7.30 p.m. and he died at 9.30. Coroner Dr. C. D. Farguherson was called and after consulting with Coroner Spirle Lawson announced that an inquest would not be held.

Mason was born on the farm where he was fatally injured. It was the old family homestead and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Mason had resided there for many years.

He is survived by his parents, three sisters, Mrs. Victor Taft of Belleville; Mrs. Russell Burr, Buttonville; Mrs. John Brown, Brown's Corners, and four brothers, Stuart, Portland, Oregon, Harcourt, Detroit, Mich.; Harshaw, Toronto, and Alfred at home.

the accused sold tomato plants "because I bought some." He admitted having a glass of beer on the night in question. He strongly denied the suggestion made by Mr. Annis that he told police "That is my bottle and I paid for it."

Following Ravi's evidence the case was adjourned one week.
