JURY RECOMMENDS MORE SAFETY MEASURES

Three constructive suggestions for increased safety to employees of our Munitions Plant were recommended by a corner's jury enquiring into the death of Mrs. Marjorie Smith, who died from burns, suffered in an explosion in the igniter and tracer mixing room of the plant on October 22nd. The explosion was of unknown origin, the jury decided.

E. E. Daggett, general manager of the plant informed the corner. Dr. Smirle Lawson, that all the recommendations of the jury would be put in practice as soon as possible. The building where the explosion occurred was so badly damaged that it had to be torn down.

MORE LEAN BACON

It is true that a hog will put on more weight quickly after it has reached 200 pounds, but heavier hogs invariably carry a much higher percentage of fat. Contrary to general opinion, the extra weight is not put on cheaper than the cost of putting on weight up to 200 pounds. Heavier hogs mean fatter Wiltschires and fatter bacon. The British consumers have always demanded lean bacon in peace time, and altogether apart from the consideration of post-war trade, their demand is even more insistent in wartime because they want the minimum of loss in cooking.

The impressive fact is the British want lean bacon, and the highest percentage of lean bacon cannot be secured from heavy hogs, and so it's a case of "The man who pays the piper calls the tune."

One of the principal reasons that Britain is buying bacon in Canada is because the Dominion has developed a bacon hog. A hog which when fed to a live weight of from 200 to 230 pounds will provide the greatest possible amount of lean meat, and lean means more food in its most economical and concentrated form and utilizes valuable refrigerated shipping space to the best advantage.

The advocates for producing heavier hogs to meet the demand for Canadian bacon refer to the heavier hogs raised in the United States. With the British bacon ration fixed for the time being at four ounces per week per person, the British people naturally want to get as much lean meat as possible so that, in the cooking, there will be little waste.

Clear telephone lines for ALL-OUT PRODUCTION

Your telephone is part of a vast interlocking system now carrying an abnormal wartime load. Don't let needless delays hold up messages on which production efficiency may depend.

OTHER "WARTIME TELEPHONE TACTICS"

- BE SURE you have the right number . . . consult the directory.
- ANSWER promptly when the bell rings.
- BE BRIEF. Clear your line for the next call.
- USE OFF-PEAK hours for your Long Distance Calls.

These things may look trifling, but on 6,500,000 daily telephone calls, they are very important.

HOME POWER OR WAR POWER?

I'M DEPENDING ON YOU, MRS. HOUSEWIFE TO SWITCH YOUR POWER TO ME!

"I am a war plant worker. I need some of that electricity you're using. If we're going to keep on making shells, tanks and guns . . . in bigger and bigger quantities . . . You'll have to switch over some of your power to us . . . home power to war power! Because there isn't enough for both of us. So think before you turn on a switch or put in a plug. To Canada—electricity means fighting power."

Unless you cut your power consumption by at least twenty per cent you are not saving enough.
