The Scribe was a visitor on Sunday with William Todd who is very ill here in the hospital. Mr. Todd was a school chum of your writer's, and so many were the old times discussed. Our sick friend has certainly not been forgotten by Goodwood folks who have literally crowded his table with cards and letters. Along with this host of friends we wish him, God speed to complete recovery.

EASEMENT FOR LANDLORD

Landlords receive distinct and important compensating advantages under the recent order which relieves tenants of the fear of having their homes "sold over their heads," the rental administrator has announced.

Many property owners were perturbed about the provision that tenants of a home which had been sold must be given 12 months' notice to vacate. Now, if it can be shown that just cause prevails, an exemption can be procured from the year notice. Especially can a tenant be moved in case of sale if alternative accommodation can be secured for the party to be moved.

Council Fears Food Shortage

"Farmers are not getting the cost of production, and unless something is done to enable the farmer to produce greater quantities of food, shortages are going to increase tremendously," Deputy Reeve Charles H. Hooper, of Markham, told York County Council in a discussion of the agricultural committee's report.

"When a manufacturer does not get his cost and sufficiently large plus he simply closes down and ceases production. That is happening on the farm to some extent, but it must be kept in mind that while the manufacturer can start his plant running again overnight, a long period of time is required to put the farms in running order again once they stop producing," he warned.

Council adopted a clause in the report calling on the government to insist that the packing houses be compelled to pay prices for the various grades of beef on the basis of the ceiling price set by the War-time Prices and Trade Board.

"Ottawa is worrying about the consumer but does not seem to care what becomes of the farmer," Mr. Hooper said.

Warden J. S. Osborne, of East Gwillimbury, declared that there was no stability to the price of No. 1 steers. "If this class of steer is worth $17.75, a hundredweight to-day, it is worth the same price to-morrow. The market is not flooded on any one day to such an extent that a reduction of 50 cents in the price of cattle is warranted," he said.

Council commended the government for maintaining the restrictions on the manufacture of oleomargarine. This provoked an outburst from Reeve W. A. Armstrong, of Etobicoke, who claimed that this was protection for a small group.

I come from a country where children are brought up on this product. At a time when there is a critical shortage of butter, why should we do something to block a move some of the pressure?" he asked.

"There is little likelihood of there being very much of this product manufactured in Canada because of the lack of vegetable oils," Reeve R. W. Scott, of Vaughan Township, told council.

"The danger is that once the bars are let down they may not be replaced. Because of the lack of oils it is not likely that the manufacture would do much to relieve the shortage of butter," Mr. Hooper explained.

The Provincial Government was also asked to give further consideration to the enforcement of potato grading.

"I cannot see why the farmer must ask the Government to make them produce a better article. Surely you have the remedy in your own hands. If you produce a better article your market is there," Reeve Armstrong said.

Council called the attention of the National Selective Service to the critical shortage of farm labor due to the high wages paid by industry which puts them in an advantageous position in competing for labor in the open market.

Boundary bridges were designated as part of the county road system and placed under the control of the Toronto and York Roads Commission. They had previously been under the control of the Warden and Commissioners but a ruling from County Solicitor J. D. Lucas to the effect that under the Highway Improvement Act they could now be directed by the Commission led to council taking this action.

YORK COUNTY TAX RATE SLIGHTLY LOWER $10,000 FOR AID TO RUSSIA FUND

York County's tax rate for general purposes was set at 3.60 mills, a reduction of .70 mills over last year, by York County council in session yesterday.

The budget provides for an expenditure of $616,215, of which $72,150 will come from revenue accounts and including $30,000 from surplus account and the remainder will be raised by levy on the component municipalities in the county.

During the period from 1933 to the end of 1942 the total equalized assessment of the county has increased 21.4 per cent, while the net debt service has been reduced 48.64 per cent. For the past 10 years the county has balanced its budget and for the past six years has ended the year with no outstanding bank loan.

Reeve F. G. Gardiner of Forest Hill, urged York County council to set up a post-war planning committee to co-ordinate the efforts of the municipalities within the county.

All Must Take Part
"Each municipality must take part in the reconstruction program which will be necessary after the cessation of hostilities," Mr. Gardiner said. "The people will not stand for a repetition of conditions which prevailed in the depression when surpluses of raw materials were destroyed while children in the County of York were without sufficient clothing to go to school and without shoes to their feet. The government could not find even a million dollars for a constructive program which would have provided work, but now the budget is four billions and is going still higher."

"Already the city of Toronto has set up a committee for post-war planning representative of a large cross section of the population of the city. We can't solve this problem with platitudes. It is time we got down to business and started the ball rolling. The best brains that this country can find should be put to work at once determining the most reasonable way in which it can give employment. If we don't give leadership this county council will not be living up to its obligations and the people who send us here will not allow it to continue," Mr. Gardiner concluded.

To Seek Works Project
Hugh M. Griggs, Deputy Reeve of Mimico, told council that he had a resolution which would be brought into council at a later date which would provide for the setting up of a post-war planning committee which would work in conjunction with the Toronto and York Roads' Commission in seeking to find suitable employment projects for the post-war period.

Council made the usual grant of $500 to The Evening Telegram British War Victims' Fund and other patriotic organizations, but increased the suggested $3,000 for the Aid to Russia Fund to $10,000.

"... We had no water when we went off and we had no food. There was no rain until the eighth night. We saw nothing in the way of searching planes or ships. The little boy in my boat had an issue Bible in the pocket of his jumper, and the second day out we organized prayer meetings in the evening and morning and took turn about reading passages from the Bible, and frankly and humbly we prayed for our deliverance. Within an hour after one prayer meeting a sea gull came and landed on my head." Here was both immediate food and the bait for catching fish. Life was sustained.

—From an interview with Captain Eddie Rickenbacker after rescue of himself and companions.

WHATEVER 1943 may bring, we have a weapon not possessed by our enemies . . . FAITH! It is stronger than tanks and planes and guns, and human venom. It is an invincible force, requiring no vast plants, no camps, no reserves of material armament. It needs no intricate fabrication . . . no stock-piles behind the lines. FAITH is within us . . . a God-given power, against which no peril of darkness may long prevail.

From every quarter of the embattled globe, where we fight, come stories of this beautiful, spiritual Faith. A tough Corporal in a mortar pit on Guadalcanal, with his wounded around him prayed for a solid hour when a relentless foe showered death around them. "There are no atheists in foxholes," has become a tradition. From North Africa comes the story that the top gunner of a British bomber "was sitting on the floor reading his Bible."

They hold it in their souls . . . these fighting men: "If history teaches anything, it is that no nation is great and no nation is strong unless its people are imbued with FAITH—a righteous FAITH."

1943 therefore sets up as its standard, on the Fighting Fronts at home, this undefeatable weapon—Divine FAITH.
