English Farmers Have Much to Contend With

C. V. Charters Tells Holstein Men at Annual Banquet Held at Buttonville

Local farmers may have their troubles, the spring may be wet, prices may not be all that could be desired, and the stock may give trouble, but no farmer would want to change places with a tiller of the soil in Britain, especially when a blitz is on, according to C. V. Charters, Brampton, managing director of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association who addressed the annual banquet of the York County Holstein-Friesian Club at Buttonville on Friday evening.

Mr. Charters returned from England a short time ago where he visited several large English farms, and talked with Lord Woolton, British Food Minister. He displayed pieces of an incendiary bomb which was dropped on the 300-acre farm of Mr. and Mrs. Purcer, near Windsor Castle, for the express purpose of setting fire to the crops. Production on this particular acreage had doubled since the beginning of the war, despite the shortage of help, and all the Germans could do to blitz the crops.

Mr. Charters crossed the Atlantic by bomber, on a government-sponsored tour, as representative of the weekly press. "We were just nine and a half hours crossing the Atlantic," he said, "but it took us 12 ½ hours to go by train from Eire to London."

In speaking of their press conference with the British Food Minister, Mr. Charters said that the man who looks after the Island's larder, had no fear of a shortage, and told them that while one might not have all he desired, he would get enough. "I had only one egg during my several weeks stay, but there seemed to be lots of good Canadian 'bacon,'" he continued.

The party was never actually involved in an air-raid during their visit, although they were only a few minutes out of Brighton one morning when the Luftwaffe dropped a 500-pounder square on an 8-storey hotel, there completely wrecking the building. After seeing the damage of this one quarter-ton bomb, Mr. Charters had the privilege of autographing one of the British 4-ton blockbusters, and said he could hardly visualize the havoc that would be caused when it landed on the continent.

In company with the other newsmen, our speaker told of his trip to an R.A.F. station to watch a flight of British bombers go out on a raid over the continent, and then see them return about dawn. Mr. Charters said he was much impressed by their interview with General McNaughton, whom he said had the safety of our Canadian troops at heart as was shown by the new secret weapons the visitors were privileged to see.

As to their interview with Churchill, Mr. Charters said that the Prime Minister has a way of letting one know that he is a very busy man, and whatever your business, it must be short—he stands and so do you, during an interview.

In conclusion Mr. Charters passed on two messages which he gathered on the trip, one was the high moral value of the letters from home, and the same value brought by the receiving of the home town newspaper by the troops over there.

Two hundred members of the Holstein Association and their wives, enjoyed the fine banquet prepared by the Buttonville Women's Institute. W. M. Cockburn, dist. Agricultural Rep., introduced the notables at the head table, including Bruce Beare Agricultural Rep. of Peel County, Warden Stan. Osborne, of York County and others. The gathering was entertained by that popular comedian, Tom Hamilton and pianist Harold Rich.

FORMER GORMLEY MAN FATALITY STRICKEN

Following a stroke suffered during Saturday night Thomas J. Mooreby died at his farm home, Sunderland, in Brock Township, on Sunday, March 21, in his 74th year. Mr. Mooreby had lived for many years at Gormley, but about 15 years ago bought the Brock township farm and moved to the northern place at that time. He suffered a severe shock about a year ago when he fell from a load of hay, but had made good recovery until he was suddenly seized with a stroke which proved fatal within a few hours.

The late Thomas Mooreby was raised at Gormley. Here his grandfather once erected a store for mercantile business, and which is now the Sider place opposite the Donor store. Thomas married Olive M. Soules, who survives him with three sons, Milton of Toronto, Herbert of Gormley, and Wyatt of Newmarket.

Goodwood

Patronize the social in the United church on March 30th in aid of the Red Cross. Collection will be taken. We understand that Walter Todd has purchased the house occupied by Wm. Bryant and intends to remodel it. Mr. Bryant is looking for other quarters.

Pleased to report that Mr. Daniel Baker is able to be out after his long illness, also Mrs. Ed. Wilson is steadily improving following a heart attack and flu. Then we note that Chas. Piew has started to work again after his illness.

A glad surprise came to Mrs. Alexander and family on Friday last when Mr. Alexander arrived home from Overseas very unexpectedly. He has been in the hospital in England for three months owing to a motor cycle accident, when his spine was injured. While he can walk alone it is with difficulty. He will receive further medical treatment at Chorley Park Hospital, Toronto, and friends will wish for him a speedy recovery. Donations will be received at either of the local stores for Red Cross—This is a wonderful work. Let us not forget our boys who are prisoners of war. Without the Red Cross, we believe they would receive no parcels from home.
