SNOW PLOW DAMAGE TO MAIL-BOXES

Crippled rural mail boxes may be seen in Pickering, Uxbridge, Markham or Whitchurch townships, in greater numbers than in any previous year perhaps. The reason is obvious.

Snow fell to a greater depth last winter than in recent years and snow plows were in action for a great many more hours. Much of the time mail boxes were completely covered over, and milk trucks or other traffic could have caused the damage as well as the plows. Farmers who had their mail boxes broken, or a few of them, want to know who is to repair the damage.

It would appear that the box owner will have to replace the broken post at his own expense, which is very small in any case.

Notwithstanding the fact that the postal department says that the person who damages a rural mail box is liable, we still maintain that the farmer will have to repair his own loss arising from winter conditions.

In the first place it might be very difficult to prove that the township or county plows did the damage. There would not likely be an eyewitness, not even the driver if a high wind or storm raged, as it is not easy to see such objects from the cab of the plow, and proof would therefore be lacking.

Secondly, the municipality is not liable for damages resulting from the performance of its statutory duty, if

COURT AGAIN

Frederick David Dudley, the man who was charged with committing fraud in Stouffville last year when he transacted business with some Church street residents, landed in police toils again last week on a similar charge.

County Police Court presided over by Magistrate Keith sat on Monday at the home of Mrs. Mary Ann Mason, Eighth Avenue, Woodbridge, when charges of theft and false pretenses were heard against Dudley, salesman, and the evidence of Mrs. Mason, the complainant, will be taken at her bedside. Mrs. Mason is an invalid.

Dudley, arrested last week by Acting Detective Edward Major of performed without negligence.

Thirdly, if a person admitted breaking a mail box, and swore the said box was covered with snow, the said box being on the road allowance, damage claim could not likely be collected. The farmer is required to keep his mail box uncovered from snow, and his neglect to do so, would place the onus on his own shoulders.

Finally, not many farmers would raise any issue over this small matter. The county or township snowplows are out there battling the snowbanks in an effort to render service to the farmers, therefore any minor damage complained of would not be favorably heard by many judges.

York County, is charged with stealing $125 from Mrs. Mason and obtaining $170 by false pretences from her. Police claim the money in each case was obtained from Mrs. Mason by means of cheques which, it is said, Dudley cashed.

Magistrate Keith, the court officers and reporter, John J. Glass, accused's counsel, and Charles Hamm, Crown counsel motored to the Mason home.

In court, Dudley pleaded not guilty. Mr. and Mrs. John Dubeck, friends of Dudley from London, Ontario, supplied the $500 bond on which Dudley was released.

When oats and barley are grown together for a number of years, there is a tendency for the barley gradually to increase at the expense of the oats.

week about the Fourth Victory Loan. Believed to be one of the greatest quiz contests ever conducted, it will end in a series of championship contests in cities and towns throughout the province and in a grand championship contest in Toronto, said Victory Loan officials.

The grand championship contest under the sponsorship of the Robert Simpson Co. Ltd., is for winners in the Group A, seventh and eighth grades, public and secondary school students, and will be aired over a provincewide radio network. Other contests will also be broadcast on various stations throughout the province.

A 12-page booklet explaining the operation of the contest and listing 15 questions and answers for each of the three school class groups has been mailed to school principals and school inspectors together with letters from Hon. Duncan McArthur, Minister of Education.

Questions used in the contest were devised with close co-operation and advice from the Ontario department of Education and the Minister of Education's office. In his letter to the school principals, Dr. McArthur expressed the hope that they would accept the duty of helping to put the Loan over.

For the purposes of the Victory Loan, Ontario is divided into 16 divisions and the divisional or in-resurrection of his Lord.

Verse 9—"As yet they knew not the scripture, that he must rise again from the dead." They had never understood what the Lord Jesus meant when He spoke to them of this—it was not possible, therefore, that they simply made up the story of His revival from dead to justify His claims.

Verse 10—"The disciples went away again unto their own home." That is, to the place of their abode in Jerusalem, not back to Galilee.

Verse 11—"Mary stood without at the sepulchre weeping." Possibly unobserved, she had followed the two disciples and was standing unobtrusively by as they left the tomb. Weeping because of the loss, as she believed, not only of the life, but now of the body, of her Lord, she was unconsoled so far as human help or comfort were concerned.

Verse 12—"Seeth two angels in white." As Mary looked into the sepulchre, she was amazed as she beheld two heavenly messengers keeping guard, as it were, over the empty graveclothes, "where the body of Jesus had lain."

Verse 13—"They say unto her Woman, why weepest thou?" About to announce the glorious event that had transpired, they first questioned her as to the cause of her grief. She answered without hesitation that it was because of the missing body of her Lord.

Verse 14—"She turned herself back, and saw Jesus standing." Even as she gave utterance to the grief of her heart, "supposing him to be the One standing near, whom she did not recognize as she gazed upon Him through her tears. Doubtless, too, His appearance was changed greatly from that to which she had been accustomed in the days of His flesh. He was now in His resurrection body, bearing no more any sign of grief or of weariness.

Verse 15—"Jesus saith unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou?" It was not that He did not know and understand, but He wished to have her tell Him all that was pressing so painfully upon her heart. "supposing him to be the gardener", she pleaded with Him to tell her, if He had taken the body away, where it might be found, that she might see that it had proper burial.

Verse 16—"Jesus saith unto her, Mary." That was all. He called this sheep of His by name and she responded at once. She knew her Shepherd's voice, and exclaimed in awe and wonder, "My Master!"

Verse 17—"Touch me not; for I am not yet ascended." Evidently, in her joy and delight at beholding Him alive whom she had mourned as dead, she reached forth her hands to lay hold upon Him, as though to cling to Him and keep Him here, now that she had found Him again. But He said gently, "Touch me not." He must ascend to His Father, though first He would manifest Himself to His disciples according to His promise. The time had not come for Him to be manifested to the world and to reign here in person. He had another service to perform as our great High Priest in the Father's House.

The Heart of the Lesson
The resurrection of our Lord Jesus is one of the best attested facts of ancient history, as Bushnell has well said. The circumstances connected with it were such as to convince the most unbelieving of His disciples. They were not deluded by any imaginary appearances, or so dominated by any expectation that He would rise again in three days, as to conclude that such must have been the case. They were, if I may say so, convinced against all their expectations by incontrovertible facts, which gave them to know with absolute certainty that He who had died, lived again and had appeared to them in the very same body that was crucified and laid in Joseph's new tomb. That body was now energized by resurrection life, but its identity was plainly established. Christ was risen and redemption was an accomplished fact.

HOW MUCH Did You Save LAST YEAR?

One of these days a man will call on you to talk to you about saving money. The caller will be one of your neighbors, or a man from your nearest town who is likely well known to you.

He is asking you to save money when he asks you to buy a Victory Bond. He is not asking you to give money to anybody or anything.

You save money when you buy a Victory Bond . . . and you lend your money to Canada to help win the war. The money you save is yours. You will get it back later on, and have it to do anything you wish with it. And Canada will pay you 3% interest on your savings every year until the loan is paid back to you.

TAKE A FEW MINUTES TO FIGURE OUT
HOW YOU ARE GETTING ALONG

This is something that every man should do now and then.

You will see how you are getting along by comparing savings with earnings. It's what you save that counts.

Perhaps you will say you saved all you could. Did you? Remember you are asking yourself questions. You are not getting figures to show anyone but yourself. Can you figure out how you can save more?

A sure way to save money is to save it in small sums—as you get it. Victory Bonds—which can be paid for in small instalments covering a six-months' period—provide a convenient method of carrying out a savings programme. Your Victory Bond salesman will tell you all particulars.

WHAT IS A VICTORY BOND?

A VICTORY BOND is the promise of the Dominion of Canada to repay in cash the full face value of the Bond at the time stipulated, with half-yearly interest at the rate of 3% per annum until maturity.

A Victory Bond is the safest investment in Canada. The entire resources of the Dominion stand behind it. Canada has been issuing bonds for 75 years, and has never failed to pay every dollar of principal and interest.

A Victory Bond is an asset more readily converted into cash than any other security.
