

FARMERS AND FARM WORKERS If Your Farm Work has Slacked for the Winter, You Are Needed Elsewhere in Essential Employment

Highly essential work—very important in Canada's war effort and for the welfare of the Nation—is threatened with shortages of workers. One of the few sources of men available for other high priority jobs is those men on the farm who will not be needed at home during the Fall and Winter. Heavy needs must be met in many lines—producing fuel wood and other necessary forest products; in base metal mines, in food processing, in railway track maintenance. If you live on a farm and are not needed at home during the Fall and Winter, you are urged to answer this national appeal.

Farmers engaged in essential work during the off season will be allowed to return home when needed. Also, those on postponement under Mobilization Regulations will continue on postponement while in approved essential work during the slack on the farm.

Please answer this vital call NOW.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

alone is the religion of the Protestants." In this we become morally like the traditionalists of Christ's time.

Verse 10—"Moses said, Honour thy father and thy mother." Jesus now refers to a very definite instance of substituting human tradition for the commandment of the Lord. God has spoken in the law, making known His will as to the obedience of children, but the rabbis had invalidated this by a law of their own.

Verse 11—"But ye say . . . It is Corban." He referred to a self-imposed law by which a son could profess to convey what he possessed to the Lord, so that he had nothing left with which to care for his aged parents, thus falling to honor them as the law required. "Corban" means a gift.

Verse 12—"Ye suffer him no more to do ought for his father or his mother." Thus God's Word was nullified completely and one could obtain a reputation for great piety and devotedness by means of his gifts to the Temple, while behaving most shamefully toward his parents.

Verse 13—"Many such like things do ye." This was just one case in point. Having spurned the Word of the Lord in favor of the traditions of the elders in one regard, it was easy to go farther down the path of disobedience, while pretending great zeal in the cause of religion.

John 19:25—"There stood by the cross of Jesus his mother." With several faithful women companions, Mary was at Calvary, a brokenhearted witness, no doubt, of the sufferings of her son. She was providing to the full the truth of Simeon's prophetic words, "A sword shall pierce through thy own soul also."

Verse 26—"Woman, behold thy son!" In that awful hour, Jesus honored His mother and made provision for her earthly future by indicating His apostle, John, as one who henceforth was to stand toward her in the relation of a son. The word "Woman" may sound a bit cold to us, but it carried no such implication as He uttered the word. It was the customary mode of address and implied no disrespect, but rather the opposite.

Verse 27—"That disciple took her unto his own home." Mary had doubtless been widowed some years before, as Joseph never appears on the pages of the Gospels after Jesus was grown. He said to John on whose fidelity He could count, "Behold thy mother!" and acting upon the implied request of the Saviour, John accepted a son's place and gave a home henceforth to Mary. In this way Jesus manifested at the end of His life the same loving care and respect for His mother that characterized Him as a child in the Nazareth home.

The Heart of the Lesson
The earlier children are taught the lesson of obedience to parents and submission to all lawful authority, the better it will be for them, as well as for those who are responsible to endeavor to bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. We are all, by nature, self-willed and inclined to be rebellious against any curtailment of our own desires.

Sutton Lady 103 III

Mrs. Patterson of Sutton is the eldest person in the district since she is in her 103rd year, and there is no one rising up to dispute her claim. However, Mrs. Patterson is now in the private hospital at Sutton, but hopes are that she may celebrate birthday time again.

AGNES MACPHAIL M.P.P. SAID FIRST WOMAN PALLBEARER

When the poet Ralph Gordon, died in Toronto last month, one of the pall bearers was a woman, Miss Agnes Macphail. First woman M.P.P., one of the first M.P.P.'s, the member for Stouffville and Markham at Queen's Park, is now said to be the first woman pall bearer. After all there isn't much in these days in man's realm that women will stop at, so let the member for East York set the pace.
