RUNTS,

If you want to get a surprise just feed a runt or a bunch of runty, wormy pigs Hog Special. The conditioning properties and minerals are especially indicated in runty, unthrifty pigs.

BROOD SOWS

Mineral deficiency often causes trouble at pigging time. It is usually what is back of weaklings, runts, hairless pigs, and a lot of other pigging troubles. Hog Special supplies the minerals a Sow needs and, in addition, conditioning properties that put a Sow's system in shape for farrowing.

Hooked Leg Instead of Bale

Working on the farm of Harmon Jones south of town, Roy Brown, son of Wilmot Brown, met with a nasty accident when a baling hook caught in his right leg and inflicted a deep wound. However, care is being taken that no infection sets in, and Roy is getting about very well. The accident happened when the hook missed a bale and caught his leg.

RESIDENCE RESOLD

The Arthur Dowswell house on Church street recently sold to Mr. Wm. Burkholder has again changed hands and last week was purchased by Mr. Milt. Smith, proprietor of the local greenhouse. We understand that his brother will move here from Toronto to occupy the place. When Mr. Burkholder bought the residence he intended to move there from his farm in Whitchurch, but he later secured the MacLeod residence which is closer to his grist mill, consequently he bought that place too, and for a time had them both on his hands. However, the purchase by Mr. Smith has solved the situation for Mr. Burkholder.

Joe Austin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Austin, formerly of Stouffville, will be a member of the crew of the new frigate to be launched today at Levis, Que., and christened the H.M.C.S. Toronto. Members of the Toronto City Council, civic officials, members of the Ontario government and representatives of various organizations in the city will be present at today's ceremony.

At the home of Mr. C. L. Burton in Toronto, last week a miscellaneous shower was tendered the former Marguerite Jack of Stouffville, in honor of her recent marriage. Miss Agnes Macphail, M.P.P. is among the growing number of people holding public offices, as well as business executives, who appreciate the value and influence exerted by weekly newspapers. Here is an extract from an article written by Miss Macphail in "The New Commonwealth," the C.C.F. All farmers read weekly papers, although only a limited number take a daily paper, but the view of the group, (farm committee), and as soon as central office can afford it, brief articles dealing with policy should be carried in the weekly press.

The history of the religious life of Stouffville was the special feature of the meeting of the Women's Institute held last week at the home of Mrs. Ludwig Lownsborough. In a review of the church life of the village given by Miss V. Tarr, the Congregational Church, which was started in 1842, was said to be the first religious body to hold services. It was followed by the Methodist in 1849, and the Presbyterian in 1859. Others which followed later were the Disciples in 1865, Anglican in 1880, Baptist in 1873 and the Mennonite Brethren in 1903. For a short time the Salvation Army also held meetings in the school building.

Mrs. Teel (Elsie Lownsborough) and two children were visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Lownsborough several days last week. Another is attending school, and it seems but yesterday since this young mother was a pupil in Stouffville. However she was a school teacher since that day.

"I surely enjoy your paper and would feel lost without it," writes Mr. W. H. MacNab of Mooresville, Indiana, an old Stouffville boy who still owns a residence on Main street now occupied by Miss Laura Forsyth. His father was identified with the willow factory that operated here in bygone days.

In this issue a reminder is given through the constable that ashes must not be piled on the public streets. This is a proper thing to stop, but there are lots of holes where the ashes could be dumped to good advantage, and there could be no objection to a householder using his ashes to fill a hole on the road provided he is sure there are no nails or metal among the ashes. One householder reports that he made a very good piece of road in front of his residence by the constant distribution of ashes and as he drives a car he made sure there were no nails in them. There are some bad holes on some side streets, and persons who want to get rid of their ashes would, you would think, be doing a good act if they placed them in the holes. Others make use of their ashes on their lanes if they happen to have a drive way that needs building up.

25,400 ONE CENT STAMPS

Between Nov. 19 and Dec. 24, 1942 thirty business days no less than 23,400 one cent postage stamps were sold through the wickets at the Stouffville post office. Many of these were sold in single and very small numbers, indicating a tremendous amount of work. Around Christmas time people wonder why they have to wait so long for service, and this information will give you just a slight impression of the amount of work done by the staff.

You would be wise to call early at the post office and procure a supply of stamps in advance. This will save customers a lot of time when the big rush starts, and it will also help others, including the postal staff.

Sweep! Sweep!

The annual re-organization meeting of the Stouffville Curling Club will be held in the club-house this Friday night at 8 o'clock.

WILL A COMMUNITY HALL PROVE TO BE A BLESSING OR A CURSE?

Dear Sir,

Many good people feel the need of the community to be a suitable building for various activities, but how many are prepared to see such a place turning their children, and many adults away from the churches and Sunday schools, and turning them into drunkards, gamblers, and dancing maniacs? A number of years ago a church which for years had ministered to the spiritual needs of its members, was transformed into a community hall, with what result? Just such as that described above, and who would dare say that the curse has not been greater than the benefits?

So ponder deeply good citizens of Stouffville, and be prepared for many unexpected results if you decide upon a Community Hall.
