Mr. Herb. Pegg is serving on jury in Toronto.

The former MacLean farm is now owned by a Toronto man and will be managed by Mr. Thos. Ogen.

Misses Hazel and Velma Pegg were home over the weekend.

About 60 friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. A. Clark last Friday night and presented Miss Ruby Clark, a bride of this week with a miscellaneous shower. The bride and groom received many useful gifts and the best wishes of the community is extended to them.

COMING EVENT

You are invited to the Euchre and Dance at Gray's Hall, Green River, on the evening of Wednesday, March 22nd, at 8.30 o'clock. Good music and a good time under the auspices of the Green River War Workers.

GOODWOOD

The War Workers dance will net about $65 in all. A grand success, wasn't it!

The first car of stove coal, over size, to arrive in Goodwood, was consigned to George Todd and reached here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Staley have received a splendid letter from their son Cpl. Eldon Staley stationed out in British Columbia at the west coast. In part he says:

"The early part of the course I am taking out here is not very interesting as I have been over it. From now on I expect it will increase in interest. Of course the main subject of the course is not to learn theory, but to put the knowledge we have into actual practise.

As I write I am sitting in the Salvation Army hut and have a marvellous view. The hut is located at the upper end of the camp on an elevation. Behind is a snow-capped mountain, bush clad. It is now sunset and for a mile one sees red roofs of the huts stretching downward to the town of Nanaimo. The aerial tower of a broadcasting station is installed in the middle of the camp its red lights to warn aircraft. These lights make an unmistakable marker for camp Nanaimo. Beyond the camp is the town nestling close to the harbour. The harbour is peaceful and just now I see a boat and several small tugs moving along leaving their stream of smoke behind. The slanting rays of the setting sun descends on the mountain peaks beyond, bringing out ever-changing colour schemes. Clouds drift lazily around the mountain peaks all unconcerned about the hurry and excitement of our modern civilization.

It all presents a scene that only the west coast can give.

When one looks out on this lovely setting it is hard to realize that such a war is going on in the world, as we know exists. It makes one more determined than ever to fight for and defend this glorious Canada to the bitter end. With all its faults it is still the country for which I am proud to

GLASGOW

Our esteemed school teacher was driven to Stouffville to catch the train for Toronto, but the iron horse had departed a few minutes before, hence a delay was caused in making the trip. These trains can be independent.

Gordon Brown, the energetic insurance man from Markham was up here visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brown. Some other members of the family visited the home on Sunday including Pte. Russel Brown of Brantford with his lady friend.

Harry Noble is adding some improvements to his place which will make the home fires burn still more cheerfully. We like to see our residents fixing up. It's a good sign.

Two of our residents are doing their part to supply pork for Britain. Walter Davis is feeding about 200 hogs and Harry Wellman about 175. While Mr. Wellman makes a full-time job of it, Walt runs in addition an up-to-date farm, so in the summer he is a very busy man, but in the winter he takes time out to blow a bit. Oh, no, not what you think—Walt blows a trombone in the Stouffville band, and does a good job. Take a bow, Walter.

Strange as it seems, just after gloating over Walt Davis' fine run of hogs, we learn that one fine sow died the other day. Letting out a pen for exercise, one pig was missing shortly after. Investigation showed that a straw stack had toppled over on the animal which was smothered. Two others buried under the stack survived the ordeal.

It is now said to be known who hooked the lovely rug recently. No action so far.

This bit of news from Glasgow got buried and was intended for last week's issue. However, now you have it in detail.

W.P.T.B. QUESTIONS

Typical questions consumers have asked the Wartime Prices and Trade Board this week are answered by the Central Ontario Consumer Branch Committee.

Q.—Are people allowed to use their homes to sell furniture and household furnishings? I went to see a Chesterfield which had been advertised in the papers and found the woman was running a business from her home.

A.—In order to start a new business it is necessary to secure a permit and license from the Business Permits section of the W.P.T.B., it would be illegal to carry on such a business as you mention without a permit and license... however, people may sell their own personal effects in this matter.

Q.—My grocer will not sell me a can of pork and beans unless I also purchase Dehydrated beans which I do not like or want. He says he has to get rid of this stock. Is this legal?

A.—No, it certainly is not... conditional sales such as you mention are prohibited by law... the fact that he offered the pork and beans if you made another purchase is illegal... thank you for giving us the location of your dealer... the matter is being investigated.

Q.—I paid 47c for 3/4 pound of corn beef in a Delicatessen. I feel I was overcharged. All prices at this store are very high. Is there no ceiling price at these stores?

A.—Definitely yes... you should not pay more for the same merchandise in the same store than you did during the basic period, Sept. 15th to Oct. 11, 1941... you see, each store has its own ceiling price on food items depending on what the particular store charged during the basic period... however, 47c seems a little high for this type of meat... as you gave us the name and address of the store we are having their prices checked.

Q.—Sometime ago I purchased a house for my own use. I gave the tenants six months' notice which expires in May. They inform me they must be given nine months' notice as they are war guests. Is their information correct?

A.—No, their information is not correct... under the Board Order there are no special privileges granted to war guests... they are entitled to six months' notice the same as other tenants... if they refuse to move you should consult a solicitor.
