The syrup season so far has not been very good. We hope for more favourable weather.

We welcome to our community two new families, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Emmerson and family from the Sixth line and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Leadley, formerly of Hedford.

Two little girls from Omeme, Misses Sibley have been visiting their aunt, Mrs. Wm. Empringham. Jack Clubine, R.C.A.F. recently of Montreal, spent a short leave with Mrs. Clubine and Margaret, before being stationed at Trenton.

Even the hens know it's Easter, but they are not laying double yolks—this time it's two in one. One of our farmer's wives exhibited some remarkable hen fruit recently. This particular egg measured 8 inches in circumference, and upon breaking it, the lady was surprised to find a complete hard shelled egg within.

Mr. Lou. Brillinger can lead off this spring with the first report on freak eggs which seem to come along about this season every year. Mr. Brillinger gathered an egg the other day measuring over 7 inches one way, and inside the outer shell was a second egg fully formed; probably the nests were crowded that day and Biddie couldn't get a place to lay her hen fruit. What is your explanation?

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Mairs are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Les. Mitchell.

Mrs. Willis Taylor and baby have returned home after spending a few days at Albert Taylor's.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McDowell and son visited at Mr. and Mrs. Willis Taylor's.

A farewell party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hope for Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Cooper who are moving from this vicinity to Mt. Albert. A lovely table lamp was presented and a presentation address was read by Mrs. Bacon on behalf of their friends and neighbors. Mrs. Story on behalf of the Woman's Institute presented Mrs. Cooper with a lovely mauve and green satin comforter for the loyal and helpful support she has given them in the past years. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper will be greatly missed in this community for they were always ready with a helping hand in time of need. As the old saying goes, "What is one's loss, is another's gain." So we wish them much happiness in their new home.

Queen's Park

(By Agnes Macphail)

There will be no snap election in Ontario. Mr. Drew says there will be no election until changes are made in the law, regarding votes for men and women in the armed forces, which cannot be until the next session of the legislature. That is the substance of a statement made by the Premier on March 30.

It arose out of a resolution placed on the order paper by Opposition Leader Joliffe. The motion declared that "every qualified elector and every woman and man in our armed forces is entitled to a vote in any election to be held in Ontario, and that the provisions of existing legislation with respect to elections are inadequate and unsatisfactory." It called for the setting up of a select committee of the Legislature to recommend necessary amendments to be considered at this session.

The Premier, suggested that the committee would be able to do better if it waited until the Dominion Government had decided what it was going to do about taking the active service vote in a Federal election. He proposed that the special committee be empowered to sit after this session is over, to go into the whole matter of election machinery very thoroughly and report back at a later session. The suggestion was gladly accepted by all the parties in the House. Mr. Drew concluded by saying, "It is not the intention of this government to call an election without dealing with this extremely important matter."

Arthur Williams (C.C.F. Ontario) tangled with the speaker on the Bill to extend the Federal Labour Code to all industry in Ontario. Arthur is a good but provocative speaker and the SPEAKER of the House is always after him (and me too). On this occasion he asked Arthur to retract and Arthur kept asking the SPEAKER what he was to retract, until finally Mr. Joliffe appealed from the SPEAKER'S ruling which was sustained by all the members but the C.C.F. voting with the Government. Older members of the House said it was the first time since 1934 that the SPEAKER'S ruling had been questioned—out loud at any rate. I have seen several noted SPEAKERS preside at Ottawa, but none of them wanted to have perfect order all the time. They allowed cross-firing between members so long as what was said was within the rules; this method makes for a very dull House. Indeed much wit and wisdom would have been lost and a member like Sam Jacobs, Liberal M.P. from Montreal would have never become famous. A Legislature is not a school room.

When the Government's Municipal Health Services Bill came up for third reading, Mr. Joliffe moved that final action be postponed till interested parties, such as the Federation of Agriculture and organized labour, had an opportunity of expressing their opinion. However the suggestion was not accepted. The Government asked for a vote and their bill carried.

And speaking of Health, Dr. Vivian, Minister of Health gave us some startling figures, particularly about venereal disease. More than 50,000 cases of venereal disease have broken out in Ontario since the war began, he said. The Government proposed grants in aid to the municipalities, probably on a county basis, to set up public health services which would deal not only with venereal disease but with tuberculosis, acute communicable disease, sanitation, handling of food and other public health problems.

A great many members took part in the debate caused by the Government's action in extending the Federal Labour Code for war industries to all industries. The government took the view that it was the only thing to do when industry is part war and part peace time work, the Opposition taking the position that for factories engaged in consumer production a model Labour Code could be used now and after the war extended to all industries. The debate was stormy and long, and isn't yet finished.

Our old Ontario farmers can comfort themselves with the thought that at least they don't have sulphur fumes to contend with, as do those of their fellow farmers who live near the International plants in Sudbury and Nippissing. The International people built very high chimneys to carry off the fumes, but this just results in the damage being done further away—sometimes as far as fifty miles. If the sulphur fumes blow over the fields everything green dies. The farmers are compensated by their M.P.P.'s but not to the full extent of their loss.

There is going to be a great push to finish the session by Easter which means Friday of this week, indeed ever since the session met there has been a disturbing sense of urgency, as though we were working against time. I cannot see why. If Easter must be closing time then we should meet by January 15. This is a large province with many people and six weeks is too short a time for the Parliament of this province to meet.
