DROPPED DEAD IN PUBLIC AUCTION ROOMS

Once a tailor in Stouffville employed by the late James Rae, Joseph Burgess dropped dead where he was standing in an auction sales room on Yonge street last Friday. Recently he had been employed by Selective Service and had been working as usual. He had gone for a walk from his boarding place and dropped in at a sales room when he was overcome.

Born in England 54 years ago, he came from overseas about 1908. Harry Burgess of this town was the first one of the family to cross the ocean back in 1906, and this apparently induced other members of the family to migrate. Joseph was the youngest son and is the fourth death in the family since last winter when both his parents died in Toronto, and just a year ago a sister died in England.

Surviving members of the family are Harry of (Stouffville), Fred, Frank and Leonard. A surviving sister is (Emily), Mrs. Albert Forsyth, all in Canada, and one brother Charlie in England.

The funeral to Park Lawn cemetery was held on Tuesday afternoon.

It is also interesting to note that Mr. and Mrs. Collins are the parents of Miss Jean Collins who is a member of the Stouffville High School staff.

Of all the callers received at the office of this paper we doubt if any of them have quite as unique a record as Mr. Albert Hoover of Ringwood, can record. Although Mr. Hoover has passed his 78th birthday, he has never spent a day in bed in all that time because of ill health. He hastens to say how thankful he is for being spared.

Mr. J. Beauvaris was in town on Monday looking over his property one door east of the McKinnon home on Montreal street. A welcome awaits the new resident and his wife.

Tribune on Air with Donald Duck

In recognition of our success in winning the Clark Memorial Trophy this paper was accorded a place on the popular program of Gordon Sinclair's "Ontario Panorama," last Thursday evening over CFRB. Feature artists were the world famous Donald Duck known in private life as Clarence Nash, also Jim Hunter and J. A. MacAlee, columnist.

Judging from the scores of people who have mentioned our broadcast, we had a big audience, and the reception was reported as perfect. That foot-loose world famous traveler Gordon Sinclair and Allen Savage who put us through our paces before we went on the air are great fellows to be associated with.

Here is shown A. V. Nolan also Clarence Nash famous in the Walt Disney pictures and the impersonator of Donald Duck. He doesn't pinch his nose when he quacks, but just makes a slight contortion of the face, Clarence Nash or Donald Duck is world famous, and it was most interesting to spend two hours in his company.

Lieut. Helen Abell of Ringwood, cabled her parents here last week to say that she is now in England.

PAPER WELL READ

The Tribune is delighted to receive the following letter from Ted Calder, old Agincourt lad, now serving in the R.C.A.M.C. in England which tells a good story about the way his copy of The Tribune is passed around to interested readers. It reads:

Dear Sir: Probably you won't know me by name. However I receive the Stouffville Tribune over here every week and always consider it as a big letter from home. My home is in Agincourt, but as I have spent considerable time around Stouffville and district, the local news is as welcome as the flowers in May.

My copy of The Tribune is quite dog-eared before it is finished with, because as soon as I have read it, I give it to Margaret Ball who is a physiotherapist at the hospital here. After Margaret has read it, I send it on to the 13th Canadian General Hospital to Carson Tindall for him to read, and after he is finished with it, he gives it to Harold Boake who is also at that hospital.

The reason that I am writing this letter is to try and find out the address of "Scotty" Hogg. I am pretty sure he is over here somewhere, but I don't know how to locate him. I thought that the best thing to do would be to write to you and see if you have his address. I would appreciate it very much if you could send it on to me.

Thanking you and hoping to see you all again shortly, I remain, Sincerely yours,

TED CALDER.

[Anyone having the address of Scotty Hogg, please let this paper know].

No Tennis This Year?

It would appear that there is no tennis in store for local enthusiasts this summer. So far no action has been taken to put the Park courts in condition, and as each week passes, still more work will be necessary if anyone chooses to take on the task. The Stouffville Tennis Club which has operated in past years, has found it almost impossible to carry on since the more adult members have absented themselves due to the war. It would appear that the courts will become anything but a beauty spot unless that Parks Commission decide to take a hand.

The auction sale on Saturday to dispose of the household effects of Miss Margaret Neal, drew a good crowd at the home on Mill street. While there were no large items of furniture, prices were brisk for the smallwares, and the whole totalled over $200. The home has been sold to Mr. Frank Baker, and will be occupied by his daughter, Mrs. Lena Raymer. Miss Neal and her brother Allen will make their home with a brother, Norman on the 9th con. of Pickering.

Mrs. Boadway writes Interesting Note

Mrs. Rebecca Boadway, better known to many of our readers as Mrs. Isaac Boadway is now in Seattle visiting at the home of her son. It was a long trip but Mrs. Boadway is a good traveller and proved equal to the journey. Let her tell in her own words how she took in the surroundings and what she looks forward to. She says in a letter to The Tribune: "I left Stouffville on April 19 bound for Seattle to the home of my son Earl. I came via Flint, Mich., and Chicago. At Flint I visited a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Blakemore, parents of Mrs. Earl Boadway. Then continuing the journey to Chicago I boarded the Empire Builder of the Great Northern R.R. for a two days and three nights trip to Seattle. My journey through Illinois, Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington took me over the Rocky Mountains, and the Cascade Mountains. Coming home I intend to travel via Vancouver and Victoria in late July, making the trip from Seattle to Vancouver by boat. The home at, which I am staying here is located on Capital Hill and the mountains from our doorway are wonderful. I am thoroughly enjoying the scenery and the climate. Each week the mail brings the Tribune which gives me that touch with home that I enjoy."
