

Grain and Twine

ONTARIO FALL WHEAT

We are in the market for unlimited quantities of GOOD MILLING WHEAT at ceiling price.

COARSE GRAIN SITUATION

Feed Oats decided tight, difficult to buy. We have a fair stock on hand. Especially heavy and well cleaned Poultry Oats.

Feed Barley practically unobtainable. We have a nice stock bought ahead and will fill orders as received, as long as our stock lasts.

BINDER TWINE

We have fresh stock of 500 ft. Canadian-made twine (not only length being made this year) and advise farmers to buy just what they need for this year's crop. We hope next year to have a full assortment of Twine to offer you.

ALSIKE

We will be buyers of Alsike Seed when it is threshed. Note regarding Government Participation Certificates for last year's seed crop.

The Government has guaranteed a minimum value on the 1944 certificates; but in addition, if profits obtained in the exporting of any of these seeds exceeds the minimum value, this will be added to the payment made on Participation Certificates.

Cheques will be mailed as soon as possible, but not likely be ready for mailing much before Sept. 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lickorish and daughter Beatrice have taken a cottage at Stroud on Lake Simcoe, and are spending a week there.

There has been a wrong impression spread across this country that the price of lumber was outside control of the War-time Prices and Trade Board. However, it has been stated in Ottawa in a specific manner that the price of lumber has been controlled here since the price ceiling policy in 1941 and it is under such control at the present time.

Purse Restored to Owner

A Toronto lady visiting down in Markham left her large purse in the wash room in the town building early Saturday evening. A lady from Mongolia turned it over to the newspaper office at 7 p.m. At 10.30 the owner claimed her property. She explained that she was at the theatre and had driven south again almost to Markham village when she suddenly shouted to the other occupants of the car "oh my purse." Back to the theatre they hurried through the terrific rain storm but the manager knew nothing of the lost article and advised appealing to the newspaper. Mrs. Irwin, the owner was loud in her praise for the honesty of Stouffvilleites and said she would send the finder a little remembrance. Besides articles too numerous to mention as the auction sale bills say, Mrs. Irwin's purse contained some cash and three ration books out of which only a few coupons had been removed.

Local and Personal Happenings

It will pay you to visit Golden's summer clearing sale this week. Clearing prices all through the store to make room for fall goods. See our display announcement in this paper. H. Golden.

Misses Eulah Brillinger and Isabelle Collard, the latter from Toronto, are holidaying in Muskoka.

Miss Corinne Smith of Toronto, is staying with her grandmother, Mrs. David McConnochie.

Change in Bus Drivers

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bridges and son, are shortly leaving Stouffville, since the popular bus driver for the Gray Coach is being detailed on a run between Toronto and Hamilton. The vacancy here has been assigned to George Green also a married man with one child, and who will require living accommodation in town. Mr. Green made the run here this week, and during his spare time investigated the possibility of obtaining a house or apartment. So far he has met with no success. If any resident can provide accommodation for this young couple, it would be a boost in the right direction.

Act Quickly for Raspberry Pie

This is raspberry time, and since reading the government crop report on Monday morning, we are glad that we had no less than six raspberry pies to bite into last week. There is a blight overtaking the bushes now, that threatens to shorten an otherwise promising bumper yield. The price is 26 cents a pint which is a grand return for the growers even if a little hard on the pocket book, but the answer to that is to "grow your own." A lot of people will smile at the idea, but it is amazing how many people in the county could produce their own raspberries if they utilized part of a small garden for the job.

Acute Shortage of Buildings

There is still a very acute shortage of residential places for the people who wish to live in Stouffville, and of business premises for those who would open in a new venture here. Several lines of business which offer good inducement here are unable to get a chance because of a shortage of business premises. Not only is there a demand for buildings, but of suitable building lots on which to build. When the pressure becomes strong enough and the inducement good enough residential premises now occupying business locations will be induced to go elsewhere, and this will give business a chance to expand.

The Collins Sale

The A. S. Collins auction sale of household effects held last Thursday afternoon attracted a large crowd to the fine old home on Main street, east. Auctioneer Alvin Farmer obtained good prices, and everything was snapped up in quick order. The veteran squire and proprietor was busy all day managing his sale and despite his 84 years watched over the details with alertness. Mrs. Collins who is with her daughter at Malvern was unable to attend. The residence has been sold to Mr. Delbert Booth of Monaghan.

Mr. Walter Mertens of Toronto, spent Saturday with his brother, Mr. Joe Mertens, also Miss Hannah Baxter, Toronto was a visitor at the Mertens home west of town.

Mr. Everton Smith has been taken on the staff at the Harry Golden store as a permanent employee. Mr. Smith was engaged in this store before the war and built up a good connection in the district, as well as proving himself a good store keeper.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Thompson are spending a few days in town as guests at the Bannerman home on Church street. Mr. Thompson conducts the "Door of Good Hope Mission" in Toronto.

Mr. William Ball, patient in the Brierbush Hospital, will dispose of his household effects by public auction on Tuesday evening, August 7, beginning at 7 o'clock. Mr. Ball has no hope of ever keeping house again, and everything will be sold without reserve. A. S. Farmer, auctioneer will handle the sale.

Mr. Bert Paisley who has been working at Ajax is going to Vancouver with a construction company. Mrs. Paisley and the two children will spend the remainder of the summer in northern Ontario with her sister there. Bert dropped in at The Tribune and paid for the paper three years in advance. "I want to make sure of the home news when I am at the coast," he said.

Old Timer Speaks of Drought

Mr. W. Yake of Capton, Alta., says in a letter this week to The Tribune: "I would not want to miss a copy of the Tribune, so I hope my subscription reaches you before expiry day. The West is hard hit this year, our area being in the drought section. It is much extended this year over a portion of Alberta and Saskatchewan. It is possible to irrigate the area affected, and I hope that some day not too distant we may have the proposed project of irrigation completed."

Great Dust Distributor

"It wasn't hay fever, it was dust," says a heading on an advertisement put out by the Calcium Chloride people, in recommending their product as a dust layer and road preserver. If the folks on the 9th of Whitchurch survive another summer without any hay fever cases, it will be a wonder. One of the last remaining heavy traffic roads to be let go the old fashioned way with no oil or dust layer, the nuisance is a menace to the health of the people, the animals, and the crops in the territory.

Died at the Brierbush

John Calvert of Markham, who died at the Brierbush in Stouffville last week so suddenly, was born in Pickering township 79 years ago, and is survived by his sister Mary who lived with him in the southern village. Mr. Calvert was an enthusiastic lawn bowler.

Demand Fair Play

Persons who take waste material to the town dumping grounds dumping their load just when they get in sight of the place, instead of going back into the property are due for a shock if they are detected. Everything possible has been done to induce people to act fair and decent in this matter, but too many have no sense of fairness, and with any kind of excuse deposit their rubbish along the sideroad. This property belongs to the Township of Uxbridge, who in co-operation with the village of Stouffville intend to prosecute the next offender. Steps have been taken to secure a nearby resident to check on every visitor to the dumping grounds. The old excuse that "I couldn't get near the grounds for rubbish deposited on the road" will not be good enough to fend off a summons in future. If you can't get to the dumping grounds, do not throw your waste along the road on township property, for if you do, well, you're in for trouble.

Mrs. Woodland accompanied by her mother Mrs. Tindall, also by her son Freddie has been visiting in the Goodwood district where Fred is spending a week on the farm of his uncle, Earl Tindall.

Dr. and Mrs. John Button and daughter have moved from St. Thomas to Ottawa where John who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E.A. Button of Stouffville is stationed with the R.C.A.F.

A heavy downpour of rain has marked the last three Saturday nights in town, but while it dampened the crowd it never lessened it a little bit, for the streets were crowded and the traffic was very heavy.

Wild raspberries are ripe, and it looks like a banner crop for the fruit, the Lindsay Post reports from its Haliburton correspondent. There has been plenty of moisture and the bushes are laden with fruit. If you can't afford to buy local berries then how about a trip to Haliburton, where you can pick your own.

New Theatre Manager

Mr. Robt. Bone who has been employed at Ajax for a year or two, has taken the position of manager at the Stanley Theatre, replacing Mrs. Ken Cockerill. Mr. Bone is employed by Mr. Peter Barnes of Fotomite Pictures Inc., who recently leased the theatre.

One Thing or Another

In Quebec city slacks are forbidden as wearing apparel on the streets, but picture theatres are open on Sunday nights. In Ontario, slacks are quite common on the streets, but the theatres are not permitted to operate on Sundays. Take your choice. Ontario wins in the winter season at any rate.

It may be safe to announce that the new manager at the Stanley Theatre should prove to be a "bone of contention" to the occasional obstreperous youth who is inclined to make himself a nuisance in the show house. Manager Bob Bone will no doubt be in agreement with this statement.

Keep Hands off Willie

In the back of an old school register left by a teacher 40 years ago was a report of an incident the teacher thought too good to let pass unrecorded. Little Willie's mother brought her son to school the first day, and gave the teacher instructions about how to handle the lad. He was very sensitive and mother didn't want him punished. "Just slap the boy next time. That will frighten Willie," she said.

A Dutchman's Answer

On Sunday night a passing motorist stopped to inquire: "Is it far to Uxbridge?" Said the local resident in reply: "Wal it's pretty far. But if you've never been over the road it seems farther than it is, but it ain't." Stouffville is looked upon as a sort of home village of Dutch descent and such an answer would certainly bear out the idea that the Dutch are still with us.

On Saturday night three hours of steady rain was the most terrific downpour Stouffville has experienced for some years. The creek through town was flooded and carried pieces of fencing, wagon wheels, timber and wood pieces to a point above the park where it piled up and was said to have caused the water to back up. Many cellars were flooded where drains were unable to carry away the water fast enough. Tow trucks had a busy time starting cars for Saturday night shoppers since the wiring and other parts of many cars became water soaked.

Next Monday is Civic Holiday, when business places will take the day off.

The trouble with some of the shorts worn by girls is that they are too well named.

If there is a navy soldier's wife whose maiden name was Miss Hodgson and who was a nurse, living either around or in Stouffville, please phone Stouffville 282.

Miss Edna Hoover and Miss Emma Winn are holidaying this week at Babaycon. Miss Violet Hoover and Miss Robb recently returned from a holiday at the same resort.

The Tribune mailing list was corrected last Thursday. Please refer to the date on the label of your paper, and see that it coincides with the expiry month of your subscription.

Enjoy the coolness and the pleasure of the town park this next four or five weeks, or before the fall season comes around. The park is being trimmed this season and is a delightful place to spend an hour.

Blood Clinic, August 16

A Red Cross blood donor clinic is scheduled to be held in Markham East United Church, at 8.30 a.m. until noon. These mobile clinics will continue until the war in the East is ended, authorities state.

We have a request at this office for the holder of the record books of the former Stouffville Board of Trade, by a party who wishes to compile a history of the local Memorial Park. If such books are in existence could they kindly be left at this office.

Reeve Frank Burkholder of Markham village reports that the honey crop will be short this year. He is in the honey business and should know, yet the information can not be regarded as sweet news by any means, especially just now when sugar is so scarce.

Nine Foot Delphinium

This has been a remarkable year for growth, which is well exemplified in the length of a stalk of delphinium measuring ten feet, and grown by Mr. Chas. Atkinson, O'Brien avenue, and now on display at The Tribune. The stalk displays a lovely blue flower a foot in length but so high from the ground that one cannot get their nose very close up-up-up.

Next Saturday's auction sale at the residence of Miss A. B. Clark, Albert street, the former Collard home, will undoubtedly be a big event. There is a great deal of valuable furniture and fittings, linens and dishes. Clarke Prentice, auctioneer, will have a regular field day.

Mr. E. R. Good is making extensive improvements to his recently acquired home at the corner of Main street and Baker avenue. The place has been treated to brickite siding, while the western kitchen door and veranda have been removed, making not only the house but the entrance to the avenue much smarter in appearance.

That Port Perry cow that couldn't tell the difference between the feeling of a snake's mouth and the tender working of a maiden's hand down on its handles where the milk flows out, must surely have been a stupid moo. Wonder if the old cow ever turned its head to see where the milk was flowing to, would it have shuddered, or perhaps it did look and the snake charmed it. Did you read about the Port Perry snake in our last issue?
