Phew! New Demand on Municipal Head

During the year it has been demanded of the reeve of Stouffville that he get water cut of the cellars of home owners, repair rough roads, settle line fence disputes, stop night noises, curb speeders, forbid the woman next door making faces at her neighbors, insist on this or that person cutting their weeds, stop school boys smoking, settle drain disputes, and sundry complaints, but today a new demand came in from an alarmed west end lady demanding that the reeve take immediate steps to get the skunks out of town. It took some time before he could ascertain who the skunks were, but the reeve was greatly relieved when he learned they had white strips down the back and looked something like the innocent house cat. Leaving the funny part out, this householder demanded action on the part of the council, but she could not suggest what action would be effective or appropriate.

9th Line, Markham

The Good Neighbors Sewing Circle met last week at the home of Mrs. Russell Johnson. The next meeting is to be at the home of Mrs. Batt. Mr. Bill Peacock motored to the peach district last week and brought home a consignment of the luscious fruit. Mr. Lloyd Hamm has returned home after a motor trip to Halifax and other eastern points. Lieut. Rodney White spent some days visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. White. He intends to enter Toronto University this fall as a student in science. Sgt. and Mrs. Campden of Toronto, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Hamm and son Paul were visitors at the Thomas home on Sunday.

Local Couple Wed at Markham

At the Rectory of Grace (Anglican) Church, Markham, Saturday evening, Sept. 22nd, a quiet wedding was solemnized, when Miss Mary Pilkey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pilkey, Claremont, became the bride of George Edward Foot, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Foot of Stouffville. The Rev. F. Herman officiated. The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. George W. Constable of Claremont, looked charming in a gown of white chiffon over taffeta with silver sequin trim. A wreath of white gardenias caught her shoulder length veil. She carried a bouquet of red briar-cliffe roses and fern. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Verna Pilkey of Claremont, wearing a frock of yellow silk jersey with black accessories, and by Miss Mary Morgan also of Claremont, wearing a frock of turquoise crepe, sequin trim, black accessories. Both carried bouquets of flame gladiolus.

Mr. Howard Hill of Stouffville was best man. The reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. G.W. Constable, who received in a brown ensemble with green accessories. For travelling the bride wore a frock of midnight blue chiffon velvet with silver sequin trim, turban to match, and carried a brown top coat. After a short honeymoon to Niagara and district, the bridal couple will reside in Stouffville.
