W.P.T.B. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q.—Before war we owned our own home. When my husband went overseas we rented it by the month. How long must we wait to get it back? The tenants say they do not have to give it up.

A.—This is one time when the tenants are wrong..... rental regulations are different for returning servicemen than they are for civilians here at home. When your husband is discharged he can give the tenants three months' notice to vacate and get possession of your home at the end of this period.

Q.—May I use meat tokens in any butcher shop or must I take them back to the butcher who gave them to me?

A.—There seems to be some misunderstanding about the use of tokens.....they can be used in exactly the same way as ration coupons. They are valid for the purchase of meat in any butcher shop in Canada.

Q.—We are planning a St. Andrew's day dinner on Friday, Nov. 30. As this falls on a meatless day we are wondering if we could serve haggis or if this would be considered meat?

A.—It would seem from the number of enquiries coming in that many St. Andrew's day dinners are being planned.....We have taken this matter up with the Ration Administration and it has been decided to permit the serving of haggis on this day.

Q.—Why should we ration meat to feed the German people? When our meat goes to Europe how do we know they don't get some of it?

A.—This is just one more rumour which has been going the rounds since meat rationing went into effect.....we are glad to give you the correct information and hope you will pass it along to anyone who believes this rumour. No Canadian meat is going to either Germany or Italy. The meat which goes to Europe is distributed by the Combined Food Board which includes representatives from the United Kingdom, the United States and Canada so you see the Canadian representatives are well informed on the disposal of the meat shipped from Canada.

Q.—I am a member of a church group which is planning a welcome home party for members returning from overseas. Where do we apply for extra rations to be used at this party?

A.—Sorry..... there is no place where you can obtain extra

Letter from Ottawa

By J. E. Smith, M.P., North York

Monday as we write this letter, the debate on the motion and amendments on the adoption of the speech from the throne carries on, with prospects of a division early this week. For years we have heard that much valuable time in Parliament is wasted in superfluous oratory, and while a few brief weeks here is too short a time to form an opinion to pass judgment, right now our frank opinion is that there is at least some foundation for the charge. However we still think the right of free expression is a bulwark of democracy which must be preserved.

One thing about it which strikes me as a new member is that while there is much oratory in Parliament a comparatively few members listen to it. Party leaders in full dress debate command a good hearing, but it is not uncommon to see and hear a private member holding forth to a mere handful of members, and many of those are reading newspapers, writing letters or quite unconcernedly chatting with a neighbour. Many are in the lobbies talking over affairs of state and others are in their offices attending to constituency business.

We've found however, that no matter what may be said to the contrary, the average day of a member is a busy one. Our day starts with getting to the office at 9.30 a.m. and our first item of business is to read the morning mail. This always is a pleasure as so far it has been heavy and included many letters from North York. The next few hours are spent answering our mail, interviewing a Minister, a Deputy-Minister or one of the numberless officials on some board or other. We have heard many expressions of desire that in this country we get rid of controls as soon as possible, and we heartily agree if for no other reason than to get rid of "controllers." In the morning too there may be a committee meeting or a caucus. The House meets at 3 p.m. and from then until adjournment at 11 p.m. a member is at the session as much as possible, and in any event must remain within the Parliament Buildings.

In this Parliament the government majority is comparatively small which means every member must be on the job in case of a division. The membership of the House numbers 245. On the right of the Speaker, who is a Liberal, sit 128 Liberals, and on the left sit 67 Conservatives, 28 C.C.F. members, 13 Social Crediters, 2 Bloc Populaire and 6 other various independents. It will be noted the government majority over all opposition is small, but at the same time it must be remembered that a solid opposition vote against it is unlikely on a major issue. It is unlikely for the reason that many in the opposition greatly prefer the government party to some of their fellows in opposition.

Among the main problems before this "transition Parliament" are demobilization and rehabilitation of service personnel, reconversion of war industry to peacetime industry and international trade to provide markets for our goods, particularly our agricultural and primary industry products. A stickler is that behind all our problems of peace loom the problems of a world torn and disorganized by six years of war. Our success in meeting these problems depend on not only what we do here in Canada but on what happens in a world devastated by war and grappling with problems which include hunger and starvation. In this connection we might point out that many domestic policies which may seem hard to understand may have international implications which are difficult to explain at present.

We might point out too that meat rationing which is unpopular with a considerable section of public opinion, might in the long view and in the light of such international implications justify those who now claim it is necessary. This raises an important point in our reconstruction program in regard to our thinking as a people. It is becoming increasingly apparent that the problems of peace are going to require sacrifices no less demanding than those made on the home front in time of war. All were glad to support an all out war effort, so in like manner let us support an all out effort for peace, and may we meet the problems of the post war era with the same patriotic spirit as we met the problems of war.

We are sorry our duties in Ottawa deny us the constant pleasure of meeting friends in North York, and we are particularly disappointed that our duties here at this time deny us the great pleasure of welcoming home many of the boys from overseas. May we take this opportunity of extending to one and all the warmest of warm welcomes.

We were saddened this week by news of the passing of J.M. Walton of Aurora. J. M. Walton for many long years a highly esteemed figure in the public life of North York was a fine citizen and a true gentleman. We pay tribute to his fine christian character and long public service, and to his bereaved wife and daughter extend sincere sympathy.

rations.....to provide the food for such a party, members must buy rationed foods with coupons from their own ration books.....all returning service persons will, of course, receive ration books for their own use.

Q.—Must I give up coupons to buy a chicken?

A.—No.....under the present rationing system poultry, game and fish, canned or fresh, will not be rationed.

105-Yr.-Old Church Marks Birthday

The oldest church of this district, Quaker Hill Presbyterian, has observed its 105th anniversary. For the first time in its history the church interior was lighted by electricity. Older members recalled the early lighting systems were bracket coal oil lamps on the walls. Later central lamps were hung from the ceilings.

As a tribute to the memory of the founders of the church, James Galloway, John Clark and Andrew Turner, trustees, placed a basket of flowers at the altar.

TWO SUNDAY HUNTERS ARE FINED

Duck hunting on Sunday proved to be an expensive outing for a Lindsay and Fenelon Falls resident when they were picked up by Game Overseer A. M. Hodgson. The pair were fined $10 and costs each and had their guns and canoe confiscated.

The law provides that no one shall hunt ducks between a half-hour after sunset on Saturday night and a half-hour before sunrise on Monday.

A Toronto hunter was convicted on a charge of shooting ducks before the season opened and paid a fine of $10 plus costs while another sportsman from the same city was fined for taking pickerel which were less than 13 inches in length. Hunting without a license netted a Bobcaygeon man a fine of $10 and costs.

The Worst Inflation came after the last war
NOW is the Real Testing time ...

Victory has been won on the battle front —but we must not relax our efforts if we are to continue to avoid the evils of inflation and deflation.

We are rapidly moving towards the day when shortages will be overcome—but, reconversion takes time.

The danger of inflation, and its black shadow—deflation—will last as long as goods are not enough to meet demands.

The ending of the war brings the temptation to scramble for things we've been without, and to offer to pay any price to get them.

That's the way inflation gets started.

Inflation with its soaring cost of living is bad enough.

But inflation is always followed by deflation with its falling prices, bankrupt businesses, unemployment and distress.

Deflation would be a calamity that would involve every man, woman and child in Canada.

The only controls that are being maintained are those that aid the production of needed supplies and their speedy and fair distribution to the public, and which prevent an inflationary price rise:

As soon as conditions warrant, these will be dropped.

Until industry gets back to normal production, price ceilings, rationing and some controls are a necessary safeguard for everyone of us.

Keep them working.

IT'S YOUR JOB AND YOUR SAVINGS THAT ARE AT STAKE

This advertisement is one of a series being issued by the Government of Canada to emphasize the importance of preventing a further increase in the cost of living now and deflation and unemployment later.
