We all rejoice at this time with the Harper family since their son Allen has at last reached Canadian soil. Allen arrived at Victoria on Sunday and cabled home on Monday. He flew from Manila to San Francisco, thence came by boat. Several cables and letters have been received from Allen since his liberation and these along with a report of a friend Mr. Barlow who was with Allen in Japan and has recently returned, would give the family every reason to believe that he is well, and being a willing worker has made the best of a bad job.

Evidence of the manner in which The Tribune gets about the world came to light here last week, when a parcel was received in one of our homes from a nursing sister now in France. The interior wrapping of the parcel consisted of a foreign language paper and sheets from The Tribune. Quite likely wrapping paper is not too plentiful in Europe, so the home town issue served a double purpose in a far-off land, in first carrying the news abroad, then filling in a paper shortage.
