Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Davey were in Toronto this week attending the funeral of an old friend.

Coming to Gormley

Rev. and Mrs. Elbert Tindley, International Evangelists and singers will be present for the anniversary services which will be held in the Gormley Mennonite Church, Nov. 4th, 1945. Elbert Tindley is the son of the late Dr. Chas. A. Tindley, pastor of the Tindley Methodist Church in Philadelphia, Pa. for 32 years; which had at the time of his death in 1933 a membership of 12,000 which was the largest in Methodism. Besides being a pulpit orator of international repute, he composed more than 300 gospel songs frequently used in many protestant churches throughout the world, such as "Leave it There", "We'll Understand it Better By and By" and "Nothing Between". Rev. Tindley is a tenor and graduate of Temple University and studied voice under the French teacher, Eugene D'Avengnue in New York City. Hazel Pauline Tindley is a coloratura soprano and a graduate of the Pittsburgh Musical Institute of Pittsburgh. Rev. and Mrs. Tindley will also be the singers for the Revival services which will be held on Nov. 5th to the 18th, with Rev. R. H. Hamilton of the Free Methodist church being the evangelist. Watch for announcement next week.

Local and Personal Happenings

William Silversides of Zephyr celebrated his 91st birthday on October 15.

Hockey League Pretty, Definite

"Eddie" Crouch, who will manage a Junior O.H.A. hockey team for Stouffville this coming winter announced to a meeting of eighteen boys, on Monday evening, that a league comprising, Stouffville, Markham, Richmond Hill and Newmarket is practically settled with the O.H.A. officials. An effort will be made to have some Toronto ice made available to the local boys for practicing as soon as possible. The league schedule will begin in the forepart of January.

Butcher Shop to Reopen

The west-end butcher shop business owned by Mr. Wm. Pitman and which has been closed owing to illness of the proprietor, has been sold to Messrs Olette & Miskelly of Toronto, brother-in-laws who expect to reopen the place in the old stand, the Lawson block, this weekend. One of these men is an experienced butcher, and the other is a returning soldier, both of whom will move to town in due course, and fully enter into the life of the community.

THE BUS TERMINAL

Stouffville Motors has secured the appointment of a bus terminal for the Gray Coach Lines. This means that wash room privileges are available, also tickets may be purchased at this garage which is centrally located almost opposite the Baptist church. Time-table and other information should be sought there by passengers.

DREW LOTS FOR ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

Bids came in so fast and furious on an electric refrigerator being sold at a public auction sale for R. H. Sabine, Hagerman's Corners, that Auctioneer Clarke Prentice found it necessary to draw lots to determine the successful bidder. The ceiling price was $150. A washing machine sold at the same sale for $78, and the Fordson-Ferguson Tractor brought $1,000 even money.

There's a bit of a gamble in these auction sales, as evidenced when a professional appraiser offered A. Bursill, on the Doncaster subdivision a stated price for his household furniture which he was about to dispose of. Bursill shook his head the right way when he decided to put the furniture through a sale, for it made him an extra $200 over what looked like a substantial price from the appraiser.

NINTH VICTORY LOAN FOR "RESTORATION" NEWMARKET RALLY TOLD

"I would describe the Ninth Victory Loan as a Restoration Loan," said Aubrey Davis, chairman of the York County North loan committee, to a pre-loan gathering at Pickering College Wednesday night. "This loan is being floated to restore our soldiers to civilian life, to restore industry to peacetime production, to restore our trade and commerce, and to restore the countries of Europe which have been so hard hit by war."

Those present from town who were inspired by the messages were A. A. Thompson, Mgr. Canadian Bank of Commerce, Reeve A. V. Nolan, Councillors E. A. Button, Jack Schmitz, Harold Spofford, H. O. Klink, Norman Baker.

Joseph McCulley, headmaster of Pickering College and recently returned from England and the Continent, described the situation in Europe as "very grim."

This winter will be worse than any other for the English, Mr. McCulley stated. Belgium and Holland and France are destitute, he said. "It is bad to be cold and it is bad to be hungry and cold," said Mr. McCulley.

"Europe is that way now."

Rev. Henry Cotton drew a word picture of the scenes he had witnessed in military hospitals. "We don't know much about these men who lost their limbs, the men who are in casts, the men doomed to years in a hospital," he said. "We can't restore their limbs, nor their youth but we can make it easier for them. We owe a debt. Let us pay it to the full through the victory loan."

"I wonder if we realize the cost of liberty in blood," said Col. Edward Baker, head of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and himself a blinded veteran of the last war. "I wonder if we realize how much was paid in blood and treasure so that we might enjoy the freedom we have today."

In the last war there were 216,000 casualties and in this war there were 110,000 casualties, the speaker continued. "In this war, there were 85 blinded, 1,906 amputation cases, 200 who were paralysed from the waist down," he said. "And there were 38,000 who never returned."

"We must leave no stone unturned to see that these men get a fresh start in life. It is a real job. There is no use saying the government must do this or that unless we are willing to help pay the cost. We all want to do the best for the men that have returned. Now we can do it through victory bonds."

"There is a tendency to let down now that the fighting war is over. We've got to pull up our socks and bring the effort we brought to fighting the war to solving the problems of peace. There is a lot to be done yet."

"We have to help starving Europe. If we turn away as we did after the last war, without helping Europe, that continent will become a hotbed of trouble for the future."

The War Branch acknowledge donations for ditty bags from east end ladies $10, Lennoxville ladies $5. The organization work every Tuesday as usual, and solicit your help as in the past. M. Davey, secretary:

Used pianos are becoming hard to buy, said a dealer last week to this paper. He was commenting on the fact that a piano long in use had commanded $152.50 at the Dowswell auction sale on Main street east, last week. Miss Lillian Dowd, well disposed of the entire household effects in the home which has been sold to the Machine & Tool Works, and we understand, will be occupied by one of the company's employees.

Former Resident Passes

William Evans died at West Hill on October 13 at the advanced age of 86 years. He was the step-father of Mr. Bruce Valleau, local garage proprietor. Mrs. Evans survives her husband, and it will be recalled that the elderly couple lived here with the Valleau family for two years following the death of Mrs. Bruce Valleau. They made many friends while here who were sorry to have them leave town. The late Mr. Evans was buried at Warkworth cemetery.

Many Robberies a Warning

Innumerable break-ins are reported from Newmarket where homes have recently been robbed. County and provincial police are close by there but the thieves take their loot just the same. It would be well for house-holders and shop owners to be careful to leave no easy means for thieves to enter their premises. Other towns have been dealt with similarly to Newmarket, a fact we mention in order that our people may carefully appraise the local situation.

WED 50 YEARS AGO MARK ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ramer, 10th concession Markham, celebrated the golden anniversary of their marriage at the homestead where they have lived since their wedding day. Mr. Ramer is a well-known apiarist. The couple took their marriage vows in Toronto. Mrs. Ramer's bridesmaid, Mrs. M. R. Hoover, Locust Hill, was present for the anniversary festivities. The couple have three children, Blanche and Carl, at home, and Mrs. Arthur Sherk, Ridgeway. Mrs. Catherine Wilkinson, Toronto, a sister of Mrs. Ramer, was a guest. Members of Locust Hill United church gave the couple a bouquet of chrysanthemums which adorned the table with the anniversary cake.

Miss Lorraine Hissey, Ballantrae, has joined the staff of the Toronto Daily Star, being attached to the small adv. Dept.

Why not take advantage of the matinee at the Stanley Theatre to see "National Velvet," that star-studded picture which is playing a return engagement at the local show house this weekend?

Mr. and Mrs. M. Clark and daughter of Peterboro district were in town on Sunday visiting at the Frank Rowbotham home, and with their son, Bruce, manager of the local Co-Op. Mrs. T. W. Klink returned with them on a short holiday.

Could Have Won $195

Mrs. Lena Dima of the 9th concession of Markham was offered $195 for her photograph at the Stanley Theatre on Thursday evening, but unluckily this lady was not in the theatre on either Wednesday or Thursday and so could not claim the prize.

The War Time Information Board of Canada has announced that $1,784,259 was contributed to the Canadian Red Cross from the earnings of conscientious objectors between May of 1943 and April of 1945. Canada's 10,000 conscientious objectors are employed in agricultural, teaching and other essential non-military services, and a portion of their wages were withheld for the Red Cross.

Patrons of the Stanley Theatre who failed to see the hit picture, "National Velvet" when it played here several months ago, should avail themselves of the showing this Friday and Saturday. The picture is being brought back by popular demand, and everyone who has not seen it, should be prompt in attending the early showings to avoid disappointment and standing.

First Visit Here in Fifty Years

Thos. Meredith of Toronto was a visitor in Stouffville on Sunday afternoon for the first time in fifty years. He operated a barber shop in the building recently acquired by Geo. Baker from Dr. H. Freeland. Mr. Meredith was the first tenant in the west half of the building when it was erected, he told us. The late Len Vanzant learned his trade from Mr. Meredith who also had a shop in the present Central Feed store location. He was married after he left Stouffville, his wife having passed away some time ago. Mr. Meredith recalled quite vividly several of Stouffville's older residents, the establishments of days gone by which occupied sites along the Main St. Scarcely a business is operated today by the same people who were here a half century ago. This former tonsorial artist is now living retired and expects to visit here more frequently than in the past.

E. A. Grubin, R.O., Optometrist, will be at his office in Stouffville on Monday, Oct. 29th.

Beaverton and Thorah veterans of the war have each been presented with a fountain pen as a mark of service from their respective municipalities.

The apple shortage is the worst in 21 years declared an official of the Agricultural Department, the other day. There are no apples to speak of east of the Rockies, market reports indicate, not one orchard out of 20 bearing due to an unfavorable spring.

Friends will be interested to learn of the election of F. P. McDonald to the presidency of the Ontario Curling Association. The affair was held at the Granite Club, Toronto. Mr. McDonald who is now a resident of Kitchener was formerly here in the Standard Bank. Mrs. McDonald was the former Gertrude Mitchell who was on the postoffice staff here some years ago.

Work commenced last week on the site for the Elgin Wagg house next to the Curling Rink, and which Mr. Wagg acquired from Miss Gertrude Todd. A bulldozer was busy on the lot digging out the cellar. Mr. Hugh Bannerman, local businessman who purchased the lot immediately east of this, also from Miss Todd expects to erect a house there next summer, and possibly a second house later on, so that this particular street is in for a little building boom all its own, very shortly.

Harry Baker, formerly of the 10th concession south of Stouffville, and who has been five years with the Black Watch Regiment, having been a prisoner of war for some time, is back home, and expects to return to his former position with the Remington-Rand Co. at Montreal. Harry or "Dick" as he was popularly known, stood with the Black Watch when they were nearly annihilated in France and was operated on by German doctors after capture.

FORMER MT. ALBERT BUTCHER MOVES TO QUEENSVILLE

H. Leadbetter has moved to his new home at Queensville. Mr. Leadbetter recently sold his business in Mount Albert to James Sloss, Newmarket, on account of ill health. During the years Mr. Leadbetter lived in Mount Albert he was a good community man, being on the school board, police trustee of the village and a member of the park board. Both he and Mrs. Leadbetter were always ready to help with anything in the community and both of them will certainly be missed, says the Mount Albert correspondent.

Stewart Thompson purchased Mr. Leadbetter's house and has moved in.
