Local and Personal Happenings

Mrs. Edwin Forsyth, Albert street south, is leaving at the end of this week to spend the winter at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Cunningham near Sharon.

Stores in Stouffville, we understand, will be open next week on Wednesday to Friday evenings in addition to the usual Saturday night trade. Then on Monday, Dec. 24 they will again be open for last minute shoppers.

You will want to attend the great Christmas Pageant in the Stouffville United Church next Sunday evening. The theme is "The Crusade for Christ" with the Christmas scene at Bethlehem, being portrayed by the combined C.G.I.T. and Scout groups.

It is quite apparent that those who neglect to clean their sidewalks are in for trouble shortly. So many complaints came in to members of the council after the recent snow, slush and ice, about persons who allowed it to freeze when there was lots of time to remove the slush, that the constable has been given instructions to make an example of three or four offenders by issuing summonses.

Ever hear of "Sunshine", that congenial soul that passes through like the ships in the night, but not perhaps so silently. Well, "Sunshine", whose real name is A. T. Nielson, left town about the first of the month striking northward in his aimless travels heading for the west coast, and perhaps for Victoria, but in the neighborhood of Capreol on a night of hitch-hiking, cold weather got the best of him, and he was frozen about the feet. One foot, in fact, was nipped badly and necessitated Sunshine taking time off to visit the Sudbury Hospital where he is still a patient, and since it is one of his "pedals" that suffered, it may be quite a time ere he is able to take to the road again. He would appreciate hearing from his friends a note to the Tribune reveals.

TURN ON THE HEAT

A sum of money said to total $50 was received on the collection plate at a recent service in the Lemonville United Church with a note attached indicating that the money was for more heat.

Officials were inclined to arrive at the conclusion that someone was anxious that the stove or furnace fire be stepped up more, but no one has suggested that it was a demand for more of the "hell and fire" old-time religion that was very popular at one period of time. In any event the presence of such a liberal offering must have caused some consternation and surprise.

One of Aurora's best known residents, Edward Warren, owner of the Royal Theatre in that town, died suddenly last week following a heart attack. He had been associated with the theatre business for thirty years.

Another dip to zero weather overtook us on Tuesday morning or late Monday night, but the bright sunshine during the day following these cold periods somehow compensates for the extreme cold.

An interesting ceremony was conducted in the Stouffville United Church on Sunday morning, when Eric Reginald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Button of Stouffville, was baptized by Rev. Douglas Davis, minister.

A few people in town were introduced to the bird plant this week when Les. Ogden brought to The Tribune the flower from one of these odd plants. It is a dried shell-like substance having the shape of a bird's head, and Mr. Ogden says they are to be seen by the hundreds in his farm yard.

Mrs. Thomas Hargrave (nee Velma Lehman) has just returned from Arkansas and Oklahoma where she has been visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wooton. While there she attended the Thanksgiving reunion at Harding College.

Additions to Banking Staff

Mr. Norman Baker who recently received his navy discharge, has rejoined the Canadian Bank of Commerce staff here and commenced work the first of the month. A new recruit in banking, Miss Celeste Bright, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Wideman, east of town, has taken a position on the local staff.

The War Branch

Shipments made last week by the Stouffville War Branch included 537 articles of clothing of which 275 were entirely new. The Ballantrae group sent in 5 quilt tops, lining and batts; 9th Line ladies donated clothing, also Mrs. Lud Hoover, Mrs. Sinclair, clothing. The Excelsior group at Ringwood sent along a quilt. The Branch is very grateful for these gifts says Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Gunn and Mrs. Davey, executive officers.

Moral—Placed Orders Early

Sorry, are the publishers, that numerous large displays requested inserted in this issue could not be accommodated since all the available space was sold. When the number of pages is decided on, the paper cannot further enlarge, and when we estimated fourteen pages for this issue last Friday that took care of all the orders which were placed and allowed a fair margin for late comers. However, the estimate was not enough and some would-be advertisers were disappointed.

Rev. Harry Worling who served in India with the forces there, was in town on Monday morning and said it was his first glimpse of Stouffville in ten years. Mr. and Mrs. Worling with their little daughter are living in a cottage in Whitchurch for a short time during which period this former Christian Church pastor is getting much needed quiet and rest. Old friends were delighted to see him looking so well after his long and terrible war experiences.

Don't miss the great Christmas Pageant being portrayed in the Stouffville United Church next Sunday evening.

Who was the woman that sent in a telephone message saying that her phone had gone dead. The operator said "If your phone is dead how is it you are able to converse with me." She hung up.

Last week Mrs. Joe Hoover, one of our esteemed residents of the west end, left for Toronto where she will spend the winter at the home of her daughter, Mrs. P. E. Steckley.

Rev. Wm. Kendall, formerly of Roseville in Uxbridge Township, has been appointed supervising minister of the Gibson Reserve near Bala, where Mr. and Mrs. Kendall have been living for a year or more.

Congratulations were being handed to Mr. George Patton by those "in the know" last week, on the occasion of his 75th birthday. There will be a lot of folk who are not aware that this well preserved veteran of the first Great War had reached his 75th year.

Leaving Farm for Aurora

Resident of the district north of Gravel Hill all his life, Mr. Les. Ogden with his wife and family are leaving the farm there to live in Aurora where Mr. Ogden has secured a position with the Collins Leather Co. Up to the present the farm has not been sold or rented, but it is expected that a tenant will be secured before spring.

"We are enjoying lovely California weather," writes Mrs. Fred Flath, from her home in San Diego where Mr. and Mrs. Flath recently moved to from LaMesa. To many of our readers Mrs. Flath will be better known as Lizzie Pryne, resident for years just north of Mussedman's Lake. The Tribune is glad to hear from old friends, even if it is just a line or two.

Old Stouffville boy, Mr. C. Vanzant is in town from Winnipeg enjoying a short holiday among old friends and relatives. He will visit his sister, Miss Laura Vanzant in Toronto as well. For a good many years Mr. Vanzant was a boot and shoe merchant in Banff, but left the Rockies for the great gateway city a few years ago. Friends in his native village are glad to see him looking so hale.

Took on Added Power

Ontario County Council took on wide powers when it declared all public schools closed for one day on the arrival at Oshawa of the Ontario County regiment from Overseas. As auspicious as the event may have been, it was generally supposed that the authority for closing schools rested with the Department of Education. However, the children were not heard arguing as to the source of authority, which gave them an extra and an unusual day off.

According to the "50 Years Ago" column in the Uxbridge Times, a Scott farmer in the winter of 1895 shot and killed a colt rather than feed it through the winter. Feed was very scarce and many horses were sold at 50 cents and $1. It just couldn't get so bad today on account of feed shortage since a dead horse is worth $2 on the market for its glue pot and fox meat value.

There's no better gift than a subscription to The Tribune. Bring Santa to the home fifty-two weeks in the year.

Stores open all day Wednesday next week also on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, and on Monday, Dec. 24, Christmas eve.

Mr. Dan Gibner has purchased a lot at the south end of Market street, and will take out a permit for a house to be built next summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hughes and son, Bob, have moved from Watson, Sask., to Toronto where they will retire after about 30 years in the West. Incidentally, they will be nearer their native section of Stouffville.

Patrons of the Maple Leaf Dairy are reminded that there will be no milk delivery on Christmas or New Years days, so that the employees may have the days off. Place bottles out for extra supply of milk on the day preceding the holidays.

Cpl. Melville Thomas returned back from Overseas, reaching Stouffville on Saturday night to greet his wife, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Williams of Lincolnville. He served 4½ years abroad in Italy and later in France, and returned on the Queen Elizabeth. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas expect to locate in Toronto shortly.

Fifty entries from 36 stables have been received for the 1946 running of the King's Plate. John Stuart, Markham, owner has two horses entered, his filly, Bonnie Liz and Doc Brown. Norm Heise has his filly Williegiv entered. The Stuart horses will go to Hot Springs immediately after the new year to condition for the Canadian racing campaign.

Lieut. Col. Parkinson

Won Great Laurels
 Lieut. Col. Parkinson and wife were in town for a day at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. James Rennie. While overseas he was granted the M.B.E. a very coveted honor to bring to himself and to this district. Col. Parkinson whose wife was the former Mary Rennie, sister of Mr. Telf. Rennie here, was assistant manager at the Royal York when war broke out, and from which position he went to take over the job of providing the food for the Canadian troops then arriving in England by the thousands, each week. The task was big and imposing, but it must have been done with signal success as his advancement was rapid to that of a Lieut. Colonel, and to which was also added the high honor of being made a member of the British Empire, an honor bestowed by the King.

The familiar red firetruck in Stouffville may some day become the familiar white firetruck, if action taken by the State of New Jersey spreads to Canada.

New Jersey has decreed that all municipal fire trucks be painted white instead of the usual red, because it is claimed that the white trucks possess much greater visibility than red ones. For somewhat similar reasons, the trucks of the Ontario Provincial Police are finished in white enamel. Greater visibility or not, however, it is probable that many people would regret the passing of the old familiar red fire truck, if the day of its passing ever comes.
