On this same right of way Elgin Wagg hopes to erect a house this summer that will be right next door to the rink. Ground is expected to be broken this month for Dr. Thomas' residence in the extreme north west section of the town, which is developing so fast, despite the fact it is a long way from schools and churches, and off sure winter roads. Dr. Thomas, however will be on the 9th of Whitchurch which is usually available all winter. If materials are obtainable at all, Stouffville will enjoy a building development this year the like of which it has not experienced in half a century. The proposed stores to be built will be put up by Mr. Les. Rowbotham whose large red brick house next the Bank of Commerce is valuable business property and will be converted into this type by the addition of two stores at the front of the place. We hear that Mr. Rowbotham is likely to proceed almost immediately.

day evening. The very presence of such a group of church folk and neighbors spoke volumes for those who will very soon move to Stouffville where they will occupy their new home recently purchased from Thos. Burkitt. Passing the quarter century mark by one year the Winterstein's have carried on an extensive farm business, including market gardening, trucking, milk production and transportation. As many as 58 cows were being milked on this farm last year. The program of the evening with Mr. Lute, United Church minister at Lemonville as chairman, consisted of musical numbers including duets by Misses Elda and Darlene Gray, and by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Morley, vocal selections by Mrs. Grant Morley and by Mrs. Don Moyer. A fitting solo selection was rendered by Mrs. Roy Morley entitled, "I shall not pass this way again". Mr. Dickey was piano accompanist. Mr. Lute gave Albert". At this juncture the chairman called on Mrs. Foote to conduct the balance of the program. An address of tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Winterstein and to Mrs. Carver was read by Mrs.S.H. Foote who was the composer, the contents of which expressed the sentiments The Young Peoples' Union held of all present. Mr. and Mrs. Winterstein were presented with a dinner wagon and coffee maker, and Mrs. Carver with a bouquet of red and white carnations and a box of candy. Some people are possessed of the happy knack of being able to convey their sentiments in poetical terms and Mrs. Foote surely belongs in that category. The following lines were presented to Mrs. Winterstein in a neighborly fashion some days ago, and by request were read by the recipients during
