HAVE YOU

ANY RUPEES IN YOUR PURSE?

Mrs. Blair has been talking for months about buying a real Indian shawl. But wouldn't she be surprised if she found it priced in rupees! That it isn't, is due in large measure to the services rendered by your bank.

When you buy imported goods in Canadian stores, you pay in Canadian dollars—but the people who made them were paid in Indian rupees, British pounds, French francs . . .

It is the same in reverse with exports. You may be one of the three out of every eight Canadians who make their living through goods sold abroad. If so, you receive your wages in dollars, but your products are sold in all sorts of foreign currencies.

Arranging the complicated exchange and transfer of foreign funds in such transactions is but one of your bank's many services enabling Canadians to buy and sell abroad.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for November 24
Golden Text: For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ.—1 Cor. 3:11

The Lesson as a Whole
While waiting for Silas and Timothy to return to him and give him firsthand information as to how the new converts in Thessalonica were progressing, Paul spent some time in Athens, the cultural capital of the Greek world. No church seems to have been founded there, though a few men and women accepted the Gospel after Paul preached to a throng of philosophers and others assembled on Mars Hill, otherwise known as Areopagus. From Athens the apostle went on to Corinth, where he remained longer than in any other city except Ephesus (Acts 19:10) until his imprisonment at Rome (Acts 28:30). At first he ministered in the Jewish synagogue, expounding the Scriptures every Sabbath Day, until intense opposition led him to turn from the Jews to the Gentiles, who were eager to learn of the Good News which he had come to proclaim. In spite of the proverbial corruption and wickedness of these pagan people, God so wrought in their hearts that man of them believed in Jesus Christ and were baptized.

A large church was built up during the eighteen months that Paul remained in the city, a church which included many gifted and able men. But trouble developed after Paul's departure. Certain groups rallied about favorite speakers and brought strife and a schismatic spirit into the church. Other evils resulted from this contention. Paul wrote the Epistles to the Corinthians in order to correct the wrongs that had arisen and to lead them into a fuller knowledge of Christ.

Verse by Verse
Acts 17:22—"I perceive that in all things ye are too superstitious." This translation seems unfortunate. What Paul really said was that he saw they were much given to worship of the daemons (demons), that is, the gods. It might be paraphrased to read, "I see that in all things you are very religious."

Verse 23.—"TO THE UNKNOWN GOD." One of the ancient philosophers wrote, "In Athens it is easier to find a god than a man." They sought to honor and build shrines for the gods of all nations, and, lest should be overlooked, had dedicated one altar to an (rather than the) unknown God. This gave Paul an excellent text for sermon on the true and living God.

Verse 24.—"God . . . dwelleth not in temples made with hands." So Solomon himself declared when he dedicated the glorious Temple he had reared to Jehovah's name that he labored in Corinth.

Verse 25.—"He giveth to all life, after wisdom." They prided themselves on their philosophies and heathen think of gods as supernatural beings, whose favor is to be bought by offerings. The true God is not in need of any of our poor gifts, but is the source of all blessing and the giver of every good and perfect gift (Jas. 1:5, 7).

Verse 26.—"Hath made of one blood all nations of men." God is the Creator of all men and the "Father of spirits" (Heb. 12:9). It is He who has set the bounds of the nations, and to Him all men owe allegiance.

Verse 27.—"That they should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after him." Men are responsible to endeavor to know God, to reach out after Him. He has promised to reveal Himself to those who honestly desire to know Him. This is the only place in the New Testament where we get the word "feel," and it refers to the groping of men who are without God's written Word.

Verse 28a.—"In him we live, and move, and have our being." All life comes from God and is sustained by Him. Apart from Him there would be no living. We owe all that we have and are to His wisdom and power.

Acts 18:1.—"Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinth." From Athens, where he waited anxiously for the coming of Timothy, to give him news of the Thessalonians, he went on to Corinth (1 Thess. 3:1-6). It was here Timothy found him and gave him good report of the work in Macedonia. At Athens Paul found few who showed any interest in his message. He hoped for better things in Corinth.

Verse 2.—"A certain Jew named Aquila . . . with his wife Priscilla." This is the first mention of this worthy couple, who became two of Paul's most devoted friends and always thereafter numbered him among their household when he was laboring in any city where they were dwelling and working at the time.

Verse 3.—"He abode with them, and wrought: for . . . they were tentmakers." Evidently the young Saul of Tarsus had learned this trade years before, and he readily took it up again, working with his hands in order to support himself and his fellow laborers. Paul had no feeling that put him above participating in honorable labor.

Verse 4.—"He . . . persuaded the Jews and the Greeks." By appeal to Scripture and his own testimony, Paul brought out the truth as to Christ in such a way as to bring conviction to those of his hearers who were honest seekers and really desired to know whether the things taught were of God or not. The result was that a number of the Jews and many Gentiles were brought to a saving knowledge of Christ during the year and a half

PHEASANT RECORD NEEDED

There is no means of knowing whether the hunters who took licenses in the surrounding townships for the annual pheasant hunt found game plentiful or not. No one can tell whether it was worth the effort, since there is no means of finding out the number of birds taken.

The Dept. of Games and Fisheries through the railways and other sources learn how many deer are taken by the hunter each year, and it might be worth while to supply every hunter with a post card fill in and return after the pheasant shoot. He would be requested to state how many birds he shot, and whether he ever saw a pheasant or not. If the questionnaire explained that this was part of an effort to better conditions for shooting most of them would drop the card in the mail and it would find its way back to the municipal clerk of the municipality. By this return good idea of the general result could be learned.

General reports indicate that hunting in Markham, Pickering and Whitechurch was not too successful. If this is correct, the authorities should know, and if it is a wrong report, it should be corrected. We feel sure that the hunters would co-operate in sending back the questionnaire as a matter of co-operation.

DEVELOPS NEW SPEED CAMERA

What promises to be one of the fastest cameras in the world is under construction at the national research council in Ottawa. With its pictures may be taken at about the rate of 1,000,000 a second, it is anticipated. The record, up to now, is a U.S. camera, still secret, that takes pictures at the rate of 120,000 a second. The camera involves several new principles conceived by K. M. Baird, 23, recent graduate of the University of New Brunswick.
