Addressed Lions, now a Judge
J.C. Anderson, well-known Oshawa barrister and prominent in the civic affairs of the city, has been appointed Judge for the County of Hastings, it was announced. Mr. Anderson addressed the Stouffville Lions as a friend of Mr. Lou Murphy, it will be recalled by Lions. He succeeds Judge Charles A. Cameron, who was named recently to the Exchequer Court of Canada. The appointment is to be effective early in the new year.

Mr. Anderson has been associated with W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., M.P., since his graduation from Osgoode Hall in 1926 and has had considerable experience in the legal field. He was special Crown Counsel at the Barrie Assizes in 1937 and the following year was named Kings Counselor.

Local Girl Plays in Mikado Role

Miss Marguerite Grubin of Stouffville now attending Victoria College, University of Toronto, received agreeable comment from the stage critics of Hart House theatre for her role as the bride in the well-known operetta, "The Mikado," presented last week in Toronto. The Toronto Evening Telegram says as follows: "Miss Marguerite Grubin as the bride, was attractive to look at and sang in a clear voice and with pretty feeling of the perplexities involved in choosing between the handsome young suitor, and the influential unhandsome elderly one."

New Slaughtering Premises

Materials are shaping up for O'Boyle's new slaughtering house which will be located just outside the town limits on the 9th concession of Whitechurch. The structure will be 40x50 in size, and will be modernly equipped for the job. Town water has been tapped to the property, and the owner or somebody said the place would be such a model of neatness and cleanliness that actually, "pigs would die happy." A raising was held to erect the framework, and lunch was served to the men who did the job last week.

Mr. Bert Hawtin was re-elected reeve of Beaverton in a spirited contest last week, with a majority of 30 votes.

It has been called to our attention that Mrs. John Beach whose picture appeared in our last issue received her issue of yarn from the War Branch and not the Red Cross as printed. Mrs. Beach, although blind has knitted over 500 pairs of socks, the report last week stated.

The scrape of the snowshovel was heard on the streets Monday morning, as householders and shop owners cleaned off the inch of white snow that fell Sunday night. The sanders on the highway were quick to take the job too, and promptly sprinkled the roadway which is in charge of the county force for sanding and plowing.

SHELBOURNE VOTES FOR HALL AND RINK

Shelbourne has just passed a by-law by approving at the polls the expenditure of $30,000 for a community centre, hall and rink. One wonders how two such structures could be built for such a sum, but Shelbourne may have other resources to add to the total.

Opening for Good Bush League Here

The Ontario-County bush-league hockey which will operate in Uxbridge this season is full, and Goodwood and Stouffville have been unable to enter teams in this circuit as they had expected to do. It is understood that representatives from both centres were told that the calibre of players they would have, would be much too good for the class of hockey in the Uxbridge league.

Claremont is also understood to have a team on the loose, and with Markham rink being booked up with both junior and intermediate hockey, the South Ontario league teams may have difficulty getting time in Markham. Whitechurch church league will not operate this season, we understand. Stouffville could well support a good bush league with such teams as those mentioned above along with others. It's not too late yet to organize.

Mr. George Judd of Toronto was here on Monday for the funeral of Mrs. Esther Tarr. Mr. Judd said that he worked for the Tarr brothers at Mongolia forty-seven years ago, and that they have always been intimate friends.

If you wish to offer Christmas greetings before the day arrives, the next issue of The Tribune will be out Christmas eve. But, copy or order must be placed this week, act now.

Aurora lost one of its oldest residents last week when Marshall Henry Willson, died there on Friday. He was in his 91st year, and is survived by his wife, one daughter Mrs. L. D. Campbell, and one son Earle L. Willson.

Richardson Masonic Lodge will observe Past Masters' Night next Friday evening. Morley Symes of Goodwood will be the ruling master, and all the offices will be filled by past masters of the lodge. A banquet will be served, and a large turnout is anticipated.

Enclosing a renewal subscription for The Tribune, Mrs. James Cook writes from Weston, to say that she can hardly wait for the arrival of the paper each week, and expresses the hope that the hall question turns out in favor of building. Thank you Mrs. Cook for your well wishes for Stouffville. It is people like Mrs. Cook within the town that really make the place worth living in. There is nothing Stouffville is suffering from just now, so much as the lack of hall accommodation, but while the vote was favorable, building conditions are not so the matter has to stand for a time at least.

Richmond Hill fire brigade answered 38 calls in 1946. Twelve fires were in Vaughan, eleven in Markham and 15 in the village.

Wants Town to Progress

Although he has been an invalid for eleven years, and a bed patient for two years, one of our former active townsmen Edward Pennock, was greatly interested in seeing the hall question decided favorably for a hall. "The town needs a hall," says this man who has no hope of ever being able to enjoy it, but he is thinking of the welfare of the community, and the young people. In his active days he followed his father the late Elijah Pennock in the livery stable business. When the horses were being replaced by cars, he followed the trend and drove his customers thousands of miles by car. A livery stable nowadays, of course, is a rarity. Aside from riding schools there is not a stable where horses are for hire in the whole county. Before the motor car came, it was an essential business in every town, and there were two liveryies here for years. A good livery, well looked after, was a good business proposition. They were very popular with the young men, who hired a horse and buggy to take their girl friend out. You had to speak in advance for a Sunday outfit. A nice rubber-tired buggy, with a lively horse, was just the thing. There were few young ladies who would turn down a chance to go for a drive on Sunday or of an evening. Many married couples today recall when they did their courting in this way. A recent article in the Owen Sound Sun-Times speaking on livery stables said in part:

"One of the chief sources of revenue for the owner of a livery station was from the business obtained from commercial travellers before the latter made use of the motor cars. A traveller would come into a place with his samples intent on visiting many of the smaller stores in the country districts where there was no railroad. In a short time he might be seen starting out with a horse and buggy from the local livery stable.

Nowadays there are not so many of these country stores. In the majority of cases the store owner now owns his own car and drives into the larger centres for his supplies. There is no demand now for the livery stable; the majority of the young people today have never ridden behind a horse and know little of the pleasures of those former days. This may be called progress, but those who used to enjoy an evening with a good livery outfit will hardly look at it that way."

It is gratifying to come across people like Mr. Pennock, while they can derive no personal benefit from a community undertaking, are public-spirited enough to want others to enjoy what they may have missed.

NORTH GORMLEY COMMUNITY PRESENT CLOCK TO CONNORS

On the eve of their departure to live at Snowball in King township Mr. and Mrs. Chancy Connor, 3rd concession, Whitechurch, north of Gormley, were presented with a mantle clock by the community where they have lived for years. The neighborhood turned out for the occasion at the Connor home, and an evening of social enjoyment was indulged in. Allan Connor, son, received a pen and pencil set. In their new home at Snowball Mr. Connor will operate a transport business.

Which is correct, "the glass is half full," or, "the glass is half empty?"

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ramsey of Detroit were in town this week owing to the death of his aunt Mrs. Esther Tarr.

Earl McCready, one of Canada's foremost wrestlers, and a Whitchurch farmer, is expected home for Christmas, after six months in New Zealand and Australia where he was a big drawing card.

Intermediate hockey grouping in this district will be Sutton, Newmarket, Markham, Todmorden, Unionville. "Swift" Todd, who would have been a valuable addition to the Stouffville Junior team last year had it not been for a little matter of being two weeks over-age, is trying out with Sutton this season. He hails from Goodwood.

A market for live cats has been opened in Uxbridge, which will be good news for the rats in the district, at least. The tabby will be shipped to the University, we understand, where they will be made use of in experimental work. Now, if you would like to have your pussy attend university, here is your chance.

Uxbridge on the Air

Friends who heard the Ontario Panorama broadcast from Uxbridge on Friday night, which had Stouffville as one of its initial towns, were particularly interested in the talk given by Rev. L. E. Atkinson, former Stouffville minister and native son of Whitechurch. He told about Norway House, and his work in the north as a young minister, and was listened to with great interest. Mr. Atkinson took the first horse and cow to that northern outpost, which was later headquarters for Rev. Roscoe Chapin now on the Melville circuit. The town of Uxbridge, as was indicated, was incorporated in 1804, and has one of the oldest libraries in Ontario. Incidentally, it has been one of the best, a gift by its founder Joseph E. Gould, whose descendant in the immediately locality is Jos. Gould on No. 7 highway, due south of Stouffville. Mrs. St. John librarian, ably reported on the history and service rendered by the library, which, incidentally, has well appointed living quarters for the caretaker right in the building.

The December mitebox meeting of the Garrett Evening Auxiliary of the United Church was held at the home of the president, Mrs. J. M. Storey. Miss Margaret Hossie was in charge of the devotional and under her leadership ten girls put on a candle lighting service. The scripture was read by June Wagg, and June Smith led the candle lighting. Representing Indian Women were Gloria Hood, Carol Lewis, Lois Skinner, Catherine Stover. The Canadian women were Barbara Skinner, Marilyn Hood, Marie Schell, Roberta Bone, prayer by Carol Hotchkiss. An instrumental number was rendered by Miss Mary Beck. Miss Ann Lehman speaking on stewardship left a Christmas thought that "It is more blessed to give than to receive." The guest speaker Mrs. W. Rae who with her husband had spent eight years in China, five months in India enroute home and two months in Africa, relating her experiences, gave a thrilling and inspiring message. The officers for the ensuing year were installed by Mr. D. Davis. Miss Eva Hoover, president, was in the chair; prayers offered by Mrs. Herbert Lee. A social period was enjoyed.
