Births Double Deaths for 1946, in Pickering

Statistics released this week by the township council office are interesting. There have been 38 deaths in the township during 1946. Only four children under the age of one year died, but 34 persons over 70 passed to their reward. Heart disease accounted for 25 of the total, while cancer claimed only five. There were six fatal accidents and five deaths by violence. Twenty-one marriages were solemnized. While there were 38 deaths in the township last year, there were 65 births so the population is more than holding its own.

So far as births are concerned local statistics no longer show a true picture. So many babies are born in hospital nowadays that the figure of 65 is not a correct showing of the local increase. Stouffville Hospital, also Oshawa Hospital could swell our birth rate if the figures were obtainable. Their close proximity to Pickering makes them very convenient for our people. It is fair estimate to say that the births given by Pickering mothers who were attended at home and in hospital would more than double the total deaths.

Francis Willson Speaking Champion

Chief objective in farming to day is to make money rather than farm to make a living, Norman High, associate professor of the Department of Agricultural Economics of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, told the Ontario Junior Farmers' Association meeting in Toronto.

In reviewing the problems of farm family business arrangement, Mr. High noted that farming has too much of a tendency of being a one-generation business. It begins and ends with one generation and the next generation has to start all over again, thereby lacking permanence found in other types of business. He recommended property agreements drawn up between parents and children which would enable the transfer of land on a nominal outlay of capital. Suggests Family Agreements

Mr. High recommended farm operating agreements between parents and children who wish to remain on the farm. He suggested that many young farm people need opportunities to build for themselves equity in farming business before being called upon to take the farm over entirely. Examining figures on the increase of a farm business arrangements, he cited that an increase of 67 per cent had taken place from 1921-41 in farms operated by part owners and part tenants.

"Record the farm business," H. K. Leckie, associate professor, department of agricultural economics of the Ontario Agricultural College, told Ontario Junior Farmers in an afternoon address. Mr. Leckie urged farmers to establish records as a tool of farm business management on which decisions and planning should be based.

President of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, Kenneth Betzner, asked delegates to support the International Federation of Agriculture and to avoid an attitude of individualism and isolation in an address. In a welcoming address, Warne Emmott, chairman urged Junior Farmers to work closely with County Federations of Agriculture and urged federations of agriculture to appoint juniors to their boards of directors.

Public Speaking Finals

Francis Willson, Ontario County, was awarded the trophy at the speaking contest. Mary Jeckham, Perth, was given honorable mention, and Mary Packham, Perth County, was given honorable mention. Mr. Willson's topic was "The Church and the Community," in which he urged farm youth to more steadfast attitudes toward church. Miss Packham weighed the advantages of farm life for girls versus the attractions of city life.

A cheque for $575 was presented by the organization to Sunnybrook Hospital. The amount would cover the furnishings of a complete single room with a bedside radio and an oil painting. The balance of the cheque will be set aside in a hospital trust fund. W. J. Stewart, Provincial House Speaker, accepted the presentation on the hospital's behalf.

Hundreds will testify to the good results obtained in Tribune classified ads.
