

6 Ways to Save Feed

- Cull Non-Producers Now
Remove old hens from the flock as soon as they go out of production.
- Plan for an "All-Pullet" Flock
next fall, because pullets eat less feed, lay better and live better than old hens.
- Feed Carefully to Avoid Waste
Use the right kind of feed hoppers and don't fill the hoppers too full.
- Take Advantage of Grass Range and whole oats, two of the finest feeds for growing good pullets at low cost.
- Market Your Cockerels Early
Sell as soon as they reach marketable weight and save the feed for the pullets.
- When Using Ful-O-Pep Mash
be sure to follow the Ful-O-Pep Plan of Restricted Feeding.

Woman's Curiosity Paid Off This Time

She rumaged through baskets of junk at the public auction sale—the last held in Claremont, and then the auctioneers eye caught her. She nodded to his appealing wink, at least the auctioneer (Farmer) thought she did, for in a loud voice she cried triumphantly, "sold to Mrs. Blank." Reaching home with curiosity steadily mounting the basket was quickly examined and was found to contain among other things a cork screw, rolling pin, flour sifter, pie rack, etc., etc. Then there nestled right on the bottom an old purse, which to the lady's consternation contained two dimes and a cent, leaving a net of only 9c. as the cost of her curiosity.

Four Generations Gather

To mark the 56th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Eby residents on Tenth Street south, about 25 relatives and friends gathered at their home on Sunday. A feature of the occasion was the presence of four generations of the Vanzant families, Mrs. Eby, being the former Albertina Vanzant, daughter of the late James Vanzant. The Ebys were married not far from Stouffville, just over at Brooklin. Mr. Eby recalls that he first met his wife when he visited Stouffville with a travelling medicine company, and it apparently was love at first sight, for that young American youth from Uncle Sam's domain never lost track of Miss Vanzant and found occasion to visit Stouffville even without the medicine company. Oldest person present at Sunday's gathering was Mrs. Henry Vanzant who is a remarkable person for her great age. Of course she too is a resident of town, and her daughter Mrs. Ida Kidd resides with her. The beautiful flowers and remembrances received will never be forgotten by Mr. and Mrs. Eby who enjoyed every moment of the party. Among the guests were Mrs. H. L. Vanzant, Mrs. Ida Kidd, Mr. and Mrs. W. Vanzant (brother of Mrs. Eby), Mr. Chas. Vanzant (nephew), Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Vanzant (nephew), and son, Mr. and Mrs. Sam. BEER SALE TO POLICE BRINGS JAIL TERM

Convicted of keeping liquor for sale, Jack Britton, of Wilcox Lake, was sentenced at Newmarket to two months in jail by Magistrate John E. Fritchard.

County Constable William Myers testified that on Dec. 14 he entered accused's home in plain clothes and purchased six bottles of beer. Shortly after the purchase was made County Constables Byron Burbidge and Aubrey Fleury, of Aurora, entered the home and confiscated two cases of beer, he said.

Taking the stand in his own defense, Britton denied the charge, stating that he did not take money for beer from the constable, but that he had sold him a package of cigarettes. He said he received payment for the cigarettes only.

Explaining the presence of the beer he said he was about to leave for a party and was going to take it with him. His wife corroborated his evidence.

"I don't believe your story nor the one your wife has given," declared the Magistrate.

Unusual Visitor in Uxbridge

Dogs hunting in Scott Township last week chased a large deer into Uxbridge. The animal did up the main thoroughfare, visited the town park, and a few gardens then returned to the protection of the wooded lands of Scott Township.

One of the highlights coming to The Stanley during the March program to be issued this week, is the showing of "Smoky" on March 14-15. The Saturday afternoon matinee on March 15 will surely be worthwhile for the children since this type of picture is so appealing to the young as well as to many if not all older people as well.

At the public auction on Saturday, March 8 of household goods at the home of Miss Iola Burkholder, two doors west of the school building on Main street, the property will be offered subject to a reserve bid. One of the best building lots in town, with a good frame house and garage plus immediate possession, adds to the interest in the proposed sale.

The three beauty parlors serving in town placed an advertisement in this paper last week, announcing new increased prices, which will have a special interest for the women. However, it could affect the pocket books of men also, since wives will be coming back for more weekly allowance as first one expense and another add to the weekly budget. In any event, this increase didn't cause the slightest flurry and we haven't heard a single woman threatening to "do her own." It could happen, of course.

About sixty-five friends and neighbors met at the home of Miss Gertrude Todd on Thursday evening in honor of Miss Iola Burkholder's coming marriage. A short program was given and a number of lovely gifts presented to the bride-to-be, among them a beautiful floor lamp, wall mirror, magazine stand and pair crystal candle sticks. Refreshments were served and all joined in wishing Miss Burkholder every happiness in her new home.
