NEWMARKET VOTES FOR WAR MEMORIAL

Newmarket voters on Monday approved the construction of a community centre war memorial at a cost of $115,000 for the building alone.

A majority of 37 carried the by-law at the plebiscite, the vote being 302 for and 265 against. Newmarket council now has a green light to appropriate a lot on Park street, extending through to Botsford street, on which the memorial will be built.

Among the buildings which will be removed from the lot are two homes, a billiard parlor, several storage sheds and old TTC barns.
