This Wednesday evening he will show motion pictures and discuss the question, "Who will control the Atom Bomb?" A live issue, the speaker may show that the whole issue is closely allied to Christian progress, and it is expected that a filled church will hear the address. NEVER SAW SUCH WEATHER BEFORE, OH YES YOU HAVE Middle aged people who say they never saw such weather before when referring to the unexpected snow fall the second week in April, are just mistaken, according to Mrs. William Smith of Glasgow. She recalls that it was just 52 years ago when she lived with her parents at Mongolia on the present Couperthwaite farm, that two inches of snow fell at Easter which that year came right in the middle of April.

"My father had sowed peas and they were up about seven inches, when on Easter Sunday it started to snow and before it stopped two inches had fallen. It was my birthday so father hitched the team to the sleighs and we drove to the home of my uncle three miles away on the 8th concession of Markham. By noon the sleighs were touching the gravel and stones on the Adam Betz hill just west of Mongolia and by night the snow was practically all gone. One could almost see the peas growing after the snow had gone," concluded Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Smith says she will never forget her birthday of that year, because of the snow and the sleigh ride so unexpectedly after seeding.

THE CALL OF SPRING

Softly, through my open door,
 Come mellow breezes now;
 The fisherman has sought the shore,
 The farmer seeks his plow;
 The spider and the midge are out,
 The birds are on the wing;
 I feel the pulse, I hear the shout—
 The clarion call of spring.

Sweetly, on my ear doth fall
 The merry voice of youth;
 With horse-shoe, marble, or with ball,
 The boys are glad in sooth;
 And girls with skipping-ropes are out,
 How gracefully they swing!
 I feel the pulse, I hear the shout—
 The clarion call of spring.

Swiftly down the years of time,
 My memory grows clear;
 My childhood joy, my hopes sublime,
 My lost youth seem so near;
 Me thinks I'll get my crutches out
 And take a little fling;
 I feel the pulse, I hear the shout—
 The clarion call of spring.

We understand the place was recently under agreement of sale, but the deal did not prove out, and it can be bought with immediate possession. The lovely Gormley home, moderate size, is in excellent repair, modern, and well situated. In view of immediate possession, one would imagine Mr. Sider would have a path beaten to his door by anxious enquirers at least.

Constable Rusnell has been requested to enforce the town by-law prohibiting dogs running at large on and after May 1st. The bylaw forbids dogs at large all year through, but it is not rigidly enforced during the winter season excepting against some dog that complaint has been received against. However, from May 1st it is different. No dog may run at large in the village without leaving the owner liable for a conviction.

RURAL DWELLERS GET NO CONSIDERATION

In establishing dates for daylight savings time the rural dweller gets no consideration. Instead of running through the month of September, daylight time should end with the opening of school in the fall, farmers protest.

The spectacle of children going to school in the cold gray dawn is not very nice, but to overcome the difficulty the township municipalities could adopt standard time for the schools. In fact they could do this for the months of May and June as well. Few farm boys and girls go home for dinner, consequently if the household were on daylight time and the school on standard, it should create no hardship at meal time.

In this area the city of Toronto dominates the situation fairly well. When the city takes on daylight time, it carries with it practically the whole county, whether the smaller or more rural places like it or not. Milk trucks must observe it, and that forces the farmer in. He has to get up very early in the morning in any case, and daylight time makes it that much earlier.

The only way to ever cure the situation would be to pass a law forbidding any time but standard in these parts to be recognized. Then those who live in industrial centres could arrange to go to work an hour earlier and stop that much sooner without disturbing Old Father Time.

Hundreds will testify to the good results obtained in Tribune class

Spofford & Co. will mark their third anniversary since taking over the big Shaw Store, with a genuine old-time reduction in price sale on Thursday, Friday and Saturday this week. Their big page adv. in this issue indicates some attractive reductions from regular prices which will to some extent be a knock to the steadily increasing cost of living. An unusually large stock has been assembled especially for this anniversary event. Notwithstanding buyers would do well to get in early during the three day period as the demand may grow to be an avalanche of buyers seeking advantage of the lower prices.

This was particularly so "yellow sugar 3 1/2c.; finest granulated 4 1/2c.; then going on to add "this is a good opportunity to get sugar as sugars have started to advance, freight paid."
