Townline Under Construction, Like Rocky Road to Dublin

Persons who find it necessary to travel along the townline from Ringwood to the 6th concession, are finding the going very rough this past week or two. The two and a half miles are under construction. First the old surface has to be torn up, and logs removed from the road. The two and a half miles will then be gravelled, but a new tarvia top will not be laid this year.

One farmer called at the newspaper office Saturday night to say the road was "like the rocky road to Dublin," but admitted that the effort to put a new road was worth the inconvenience since this piece of highway has not been in good condition for some years and is taking a heavy share of traffic.

TREE PLANTER PLACES 8,000 SAPLINGS PER DAY

Unable to obtain sufficient labor for hand planting, about one hundred thousand saplings were planted out on lands bought by the County of York in Whitchurch and Georgina Townships this spring, with a mechanical planter.

This machine, drawn by a caterpillar tractor, digs a wider furrow than the plow, and is capable of handling eight thousand trees a day of eight hours. It requires only the help of three men, one to drive the tractor, one to lift the saplings from a pile of water to another workman that places them in the furrow, as the machine proceeds at a pace similar to that for tractor plowing.

The planter used in Whitchurch on county reforestation lands is owned by the Department, and is used mostly on much larger projects. However, help was not available and the outfit enabled many acres to be reforested that otherwise would have gone unplanted.

KEEP LAKE SHORE OPEN FOR PUBLIC

The small piece of shore line on the east side of Musselman's Lake belonging to the municipality, will not be rented to private parties, and must remain open for the use of the general public, just as any highway.

The area in question is the extreme east shore of the lake to the road allowance, and was once claimed by private interests until the municipality asserted their rights and assumed ownership.

An application to rent the ground was turned down recently by Whitchurch Township Council. Reeve Lorne Evans said the section would be used by the general public.

Drenching rains on Saturday and Sunday must have been disheartening to farmers, especially those who have little or no crop in. However, Monday was a fine day with good drying conditions, and despite the super rainfall, growing conditions are good.

Town authorities and the Jupp Construction Co. certainly seized upon the only few possible days available this season in which it was dry enough to lay the tarvia top on several streets in town. The company had their equipment in town ready for the first opportunity, and by going to work promptly they completed the job just before continuous rain days set in again.

Large crowds attended the church service in the Congregation-Christ church Sunday morning and evening, it being conference Sunday there. A report of the four days session is elsewhere in this issue. Visitors were not only impressed with the spirit of the gatherings, but with the very fine meals served by the ladies of town and country churches.

The council decided at a special meeting on Saturday afternoon to add ten ply tires instead of eight ply, which will make for greater safety. The added cost is $174. It is expected that the new machine will be in operation within another thirty days, one month later than previously promised. The fire department will service the east side of Whitchurch township under contract with that municipality, similar to the arrangement made with the town of Aurora to service the west side of the township.

HELLO, DEER!

A bewildered acting deer raced about on the farm of Mr. David Empringham, 4th concession of Markham, just south of Gormley one day last week, evidently worried about the lack of congenial company. The animal came very close to Mr. Empringham as it travelled up the lane. It stopped and pawed the ground, then raced away. Stopping, the deer perked its head on one side listening to the children down at the school, when the noise evidently frightened the animal, which returned to a point near Mr. Empringham again, and finally made off in another direction where there were no undue noises. "I have lived on this farm for 29 years, but never saw a deer set foot on here before," said Mr. Empringham.

MARKHAM VETERANS BUY HALL

BUTTER 13 CENTS POUND 50 YEARS AGO

"Merchandise will never be cheaper than it is now," is the way an advertisement reads in the June 11, 1897, issue of the Canadian Post printed in Lindsay. The truth of that statement can be borne out today, just 50 years later, when some of the following prices are compared with present day costs. Mr. M. J. Carter, a Kent Street Clothier, was holding a special sale and among the many items listed were 300 special men's suits. The advertisement said they were worth $9 to $14 each and were selling at $5, $6 and $7.50. Another special was men's pants at from 75c to $1.25 a pair.
